Debbie and David Felsen: Debbie is the quintessential Jewish hostess, opening her home to friends and visitors. She also provides support for various program throughout the shul. David served on the Board of Directors and served three terms as President. During David's tenure, Beth Sholom made significant changes, including the hire of Rabbanit Fruchter and Executive Director Jessica Pelt and the initiation of CSS. The Felsens are involved in learning, fundraising, and hospitality throughout the shul and the greater Jewish community.

CSS Volunteers: Community Security Services in a non-profit organization that works to augment the security of Jewish organizations, institutions, and events. More than 40 people actively participate in CSS at Beth Sholom, and many others were instrumental in getting it started. They train in security procedures, and regularly spend hours training, scheduling, developing, and planning evacuation and lockdown drills, and taking shifts on Shabbat and Holidays. Our volunteers help with other shul programs and events and are outside, rain or shine. In heat or freezing cold, often arriving before 8:00 AM every Shabbat and on Chagim. Haim Alvial, Yitz Arad, Allan Barall, Jason Billington, Izaak Bogof, Jamey Charapp, Sam Charnoff, Harriet Edleson, Elias Epstein, David Felsen, Andrew Field, Benjamin Freedman, David Fuller, Debbie Gagneten, Paul Glashofer, David Glassman, David Gould, Jonah Green, Gene Gurevich, Jonathan Helfgott, Glenn Katz, Sam Kleiner, Steve Kreisler, Giorgio Kulp, Bill Landau, Dan Landsberger, Philip Martin, Talia Martin, Avraham Mizgahi, Ido Orlow, Debra Panitch, Matthew Plummer, Joseph Rashi, Jared Rubenstein, Jason Salamon, Moshe Schwartz, Joel Schwartz, Eddie Seiler, Marci Serfaty, Jonathan Siegel, Eric Silberg, Jeremy Waldstreicher, Ari Yares.

Pearl Bassan: Pearl has been an essential part of Beth Sholom for more than 50 years. She has worked with six Rabbis, four executive directors, two cantors, and two buildings. A key component of the transition from 13th and Eastern to Potomac, she takes pride in how she actually became friends with many of our members and still keeps in touch with them. Pearl started her Jewish communal career with her husband Jake when they directed the Hillel at Queens University in Kingston, Ontario. She brought that same dedication to the entire Washington Jewish community. We are going to miss her and wish her much happiness as she moves to the next stage of her journey, with more time to spend with family.
