Rabbi's Message: About My Ritual Garb

People are asking why I do not wear a yarmulke. It is a good question! I addressed this issue in detail when I first came to the temple. Yet that was a long ago, and the majority of our membership has joined since that time. I therefore offer here a reprint of an article that I wrote about my ritual garb. Looking back at it now, I realize that I feel very similar today as I did then. From the Temple Times, 2006:

A number of people have asked me recently why I do not wear a yarmulke at services.

I admit that I am surprised by how many times this has come up, since it was not an issue when I arrived at my last congregation; none of the rabbis there had worn a yarmulke in the past century. Since it seems to be a widespread curiosity, I thought that I would address it here to all and hope that it might lead to further discussion.

During services, I choose to wear a tallis and not a yarmulke. One of the aspects I find most rewarding about Reform Judaism is that it empowers us to think independently – we do not have one way or one tradition. When it comes to ritual matters, we look to our traditional practices and adopt those aspects that we find meaningful. I am delighted to see in the congregation each Shabbat that there are a number of people with their heads covered and a number with heads bare. We are not Orthodox in asking everyone to cover the head, nor Classical Reform in asking everyone to take off their covering (as was the case in Reform congregations in the early 20th century). We are free and diverse.

I find wearing a tallis to be deeply meaningful. It is a commandment of the Torah to wear a garment with fringes and the tallis has become a symbol of the Torah's obligations as a whole. The number of fringes and knots on a tallis totals 613, the same number of precepts in the Torah. When I wrap myself in a tallis, I feel the weight of thousands of years of tradition. In wearing it, I affirm the centrality of the mitzvot and my willingness to live by them.

I do not, personally, find the kippah to be as meaningful. It is not a mitzvah of the Torah; but, rather a centuries-old custom. In the Torah, there is no commandment to cover the head. The only mention we have of headwear is that a hat was part of the list of priestly vestments. Later in the Bible, covering the head was a ritual of mourning, a practice observed by both King David and Haman, among others. In the Talmud, the great sages would cover their heads; but, it was considered presumptuous if others did so. Archeology has confirmed this, as mosaics from the time of the Talmud represent Jews without head covering. It was not until medieval times that covering the head came

President's Message: Annual Congrega- tional Meeting and Board Update

On April 24th at 9:30 am, Temple Emanu-El will hold its Annual Congregational Meeting in person with a continental breakfast for all in attendance. The meeting will highlight my state of the temple address, Rabbi Glickman's address, and a few committee reports along with voting on a new slate of officers for the upcoming 2022/2023 year and approval of some temple bylaw changes. Show your support for the temple by attending and don't forget to vote for the slate of officers and trustees.

As this year winds down and we transition soon to the 2022/2023 year, the board will take on a new look with a few change in officers and trustees. Two current board members, Ethel Gross and Neal Vorchheimer will be leaving the board effective June 30th. Ethel has served as secretary for the board for the last four years. She has served in so many capacities aside from her primary duty as secretary. Her attention to detail in producing the boards minutes has made her an invaluable member of the board and she will be missed in that capacity. Knowing Ethel, we can count on her to continue with many other duties that benefit the temple at large.

A second current board member leaving us effective June 30th will be Neal Vorchheimer. Neal has served for the past two years as treasurer and including a previous treasurer appointment.

He has given his excellent financial advice to the board and temple for a total of six years. Neal's commentary on the monthly financials are always complete, insightful and very informative. His previous work experience as CFO (Chief Financial Officer) for a large consumer goods company has allowed him to offer his valuable advice and opinions on a variety of topics. Neal, it is my hope that you will continue to offer your services and wisdom to benefit other committees at the temple.

In the June addition of the Temple Times, I will gladly be announcing the new board that will be taking the temple into a period of post Covid. I have had the privilege and honor over the past two years to work with a very talented group of men and women who have always had the best interests of the temple in mind. More on the new board at the next edition. Until then, be well and stay safe.

to be seen as a sign of respect for God among Jews in the general population. This was regarded as halacha in many places, but only custom in France and Spain. It was not until the 17th century that the wearing of the yarmulke became a truly universal practice among Ashkenazic Jews. It became important as a symbol of Jewish particularity and a rejection of gentile practices. Today, the yarmulke remains the symbol of Jewish particularity. Many people find it meaningful to wear a kippah as an outward expression of Jewish identity. I appreciate that this may be meaningful for other people; but, I hope that you can see why it is not especially meaningful for me personally. For me, there is little value in expressing outwardly my own Jewishness when everyone already knows that I am a rabbi.

I do not have any objection to wearing a yarmulke per se. I own many, and wear them in Conservative or Orthodox congregations in respect to their customs and as a proper guest. There was a time when I used to wear a yarmulke regularly, even out on the street. I stopped when it no longer felt meaningful to me.

For the past ten years, ironically enough, I actually find it quite meaningful to not wear a yarmulke. For one reason, a bare head is an expression of solidarity with our Reform heritage, of which I am very proud. More importantly, though, the bare head is to me a symbol that Judaism is about ethical commandments more than ritual piety. If I, as a rabbi, do not wear a yarmulke, it suggests that there is more to being pious than what one wears. Of course, one can wear a yarmulke and be ethical. However, wearing a yarmulke or not wearing a yarmulke is a lot about making a statement. For me, the bare head is a statement that there is more to being a Jew than ritual garb.

I understand that for some members of the congregation, it just does not feel right for a rabbi not to wear a yarmulke. Ideally, I want everyone to feel comfortable in our synagogue and feel comfortable with me as your rabbi. I hope that those who would prefer I wear a yarmulke know this: I do not take this matter lightly. I hope that my reasoning above gives some illumination as to my thinking on this matter, and I hope that it can lead to further dialogue. This is not the end of the issue, but the beginning.

COVID UPDATE

We continue to offer services and events in a hybrid manner. Some activities are both in person and via Zoom or Livestream.

Others are virtual only.

Executive Director's Message: Welcoming New Staff

Shalom! Overall, the temple has a low employee turnover rate. We are blessed with great staff who love what they do and are devoted to the temple. Over the last few months, some of our staff have left to pursue other opportunities. It's hard to say goodbye, but we also support a person's new endeavor.

I am excited to share that a few new staff are in the process of joining us so I will highlight them in the next Temple Times. In the meantime, if you hear a new voice answer the phone or see new faces when you are on campus, please introduce yourself and give them a warm TEE welcome. Stay tuned!

PS- There are limited spaces available for the fall at the Susan Schwaib Early Learning Center. Please contact Elaine Sharrock at 941-377-8074 or preschool @sarasotateemple.org to take a tour or learn more.

This May, Brotherhood holds our annual Brotherhood Shabbat and dinner. On May 27, 2022, Brotherhood will meet before services to conduct the annual meeting of the membership and enjoy a fine dinner. The dinner is free to Brotherhood members and guests in good standing. We hope to see you there as the new Brotherhood Board receives its blessing. For more details, contact Steven Leavitt at Leavitt2Leavitt@gmail.com or 941-587-8944.

On April 5, Jonathan Kaufman joined via Zoom for a Sisterhood and Brotherhood event hosted by Rabbi Elaine Glickman to discuss his book, The Last Kings of Shanghai. He talked about the extraordinary forgotten history of two Jewish Families who helped transform China into a global powerhouse.

In May, the Brotherhood Book Club features the book Three Minutes in Poland, by Glenn Kurtz. The author finds a 3-minute family color video of a small Jewish village in Poland taken just prior to the Second World War. This rare film moves Mr. Kurtz to examine the footage reconstructing the village and its inhabitants before their mass murder. His search has been described as a “poignant yet unsentimental exploration of memory, loss, and improbable survival—a monument to a lost world.” The book has been made into a documentary film to be released in April 2022. Of course, throughout the month our interest groups carried on. The Investment Group, Bicycle Group, and Book Club all held activities. Please be sure to check the temple calendar and email so you can join us.

It was a busy April for Sisterhood. Sisterhood & Brotherhood launched a joint Book & Author series with our first effort featuring a conversation with Pulitzer-prize winning author Jonathan Kaufman. Rabbi Elaine's excellent interview about The Last Kings of Shanghai included thoughtful questions from the congregation.

Our Sisterhood paid-up membership Zoom celebration was great fun. The Ringling Museum presented "Lets Run Away to the Circus"- a behind the scenes look at the modern circus. We learned how Sarasota became a circus town as we munched on circus snacks that included Animal Crackers and Cracker Jacks. And of course, our favorite Ringmaster of all time was Rabbi Glickman!

We look forward to our annual fundraiser, which will take place on Wednesday, May 18 at 6:00 pm. We plan an evening of good food (hot and cold hors d'oeuvres, wine and sweets) and great entertainment (Jewish humor by Rabbi Brenner Glickman and music by special guest Dan Cartlidge). For more information, please contact Harriette Krasnoff at hrkras @comcast.net or 941.807.8337. Keep in mind that the proceeds from our fundraisers benefit the Temple Emanu-El Religious School.

Please join us on Friday, May 20 at 7:15 pm for Sisterhood Shabbat services. This service reaffirms our commitment to our temple community and service to our members, the congregation and the community at large. Reminder: Our spring Sisterhood Book Club selections are The Nesting Dolls by Alina Adams on May 3. We are thrilled that the author Alina Adams will lead our discussion of her book. Our June 7 book meeting will discuss My Mother's Son by David Hirshberg.

Securing the Future While Helping Today

What is the purpose and goal of Temple Emanu-El's Endowment Fund? The answer is to ensure the future continuity of the programs and services TEE and its members have come to expect and enjoy. Studies show that endowment funds will play an ever-growing role in meeting the needs of congregations and their members in the years to come. For example, because each generation has a responsibility to pass on a strong Jewish identity, here, at TEE, the Endowment Fund is laying the foundation to provide increased future support for youth programs and services such as Pre-School, Sunday School, Hebrew School, Bar and Bat-Mitzvah, Confirmation, and other opportunities for our youth such as Israel trips and Jewish sleepover camps.

While the Endowment Fund is focused on preparing for tomorrow, it is also helping with today. The Endowment Fund has supported the Religious School and its programs and currently has earmarked a contribution to the Spindler Building Fund to assist in the construction of the planned storage shed. None of this is possible without the generosity of the Endowment Fund's Life & Legacy Donors, major donors, and other supporters. The goals and how each of us working together can play a part in securing our long-term future for generations to come.

School Safety Resources from Parkland Father

The Friends of Religious Action Center (FRAC) Temple Emanu-El committee heard a moving and inspiring presentation by Max Schachter. His son Alex was one of the 17 victims murdered in the Parkland school shooting on Valentine's Day 2018. Max is the founder and executive director of the 501(c)(3) Safe Schools for Alex. During his presentation, Max shared steps to take and the resources now available to help parents, teachers and administrators increase safety in our schools. It was truly inspiring to hear Max share some information about his son and to realize that he has moved from the anguish of losing Alex to having a real impact to prevent future tragedies.

Steps To Take To Increase School Safety

- Educate self-regarding situation in schools and best practices
- Speak with school boards, superintendents, and school administrators
- Talk to law enforcement officials regarding plans to deal with violence in schools
- Get students involved by starting a Safe Schools for Alex chapter in their school
- Reduce bullying as it has direct correlation to those who become school shooters
- Make sure the School Safety Dashboard and Threat Assessments are being used effectively

SAFE SCHOOLS FOR ALEX has created a school safety dashboard that makes reported Florida school safety incident data easily accessible at SafeSchoolsforAlex.org. It lists information like number of drug sales, weapons, fighting, bullying, altercations, in school suspensions, and out of school suspensions for each Florida school. Understanding which incidents are already occurring is critical for prevention. We also learned that Florida has an app to enable easy reporting of suspicious activity available at fldoe.org/safe-schools. Middle and High School students should be made aware of this tool as school shooters do give advance indications of their plans to their peers. Other critical resources on safe-schoolsforalex.org are tools for school threat assessments and low-cost practices for immediate implementation.

FRAC is the Temple Emanu-El committee providing the opportunity for interested participants to join together in the pursuit of social justice in all forms consistent with Jewish values. We take our guidance and inspiration from The Religious Action Center of Reform Judaism (RAC.org). If you are interested in joining us, would like to view a recording of this presentation or have suggestions for future programs, please contact us at TEEfrac@gmail.com or text/call Ellyn Ingalls at 203-417-8484.

“Lunch with the Rabbis” Ukraine Briefing

Our monthly “Lunch with the Rabbis” provides a wonderful opportunity to discuss current events, hot topics in the Jewish community, and recent news with our rabbis while building connections and enjoying time with old and new friends. Whether by Zoom or in-person, “Lunch with the Rabbis” has become one of Temple Emanu-El’s signature programs, anticipated by so many in our community. “Lunch with the Rabbis” is held on the first Wednesday of every month at noon. This month’s installment of “Lunch with the Rabbis” will take place on May 4.

With Russia’s invasion of Ukraine, and the brutal news of war, the March 2nd “Lunch with the Rabbis” included a special, up-to-the-minute report. Joining Senior Rabbi Brenner Glickman and Associate Rabbi Michael Shefrin was distinguished guest Diana Fiedotin, Senior Director of the Joint Distribution Committee, who explained the history of Ukraine and Ukrainian Jewry as well as shared updates on Jewish-led relief efforts and ways to support Ukrainian refugees.

“So many of us saw the horrific images from Ukraine and heard about the plight of her people and refugees,” Rabbi Elaine commented. “As Jews who have known too well what it is to flee our homes and communities in times of war, we feel a special obligation and calling to help.

“It’s easy to feel far away and helpless,” she added. “But Diana helped us understand what was happening on the ground, the organizations that are making a difference for Ukrainians, and how we can provide support even from halfway across the globe.”

In addition to this important event, Temple Emanu-El continues to seek ways to raise awareness of and support for Ukrainian Jewry – and Ukrainian refugees of all faiths and backgrounds. For more information about the Joint Distribution Committee’s work in Ukraine, please visit <https://www.jdc.org/disasters/ukraine-response>.

Senior Rabbi Brenner Glickman and Associate Rabbi Michael Shefrin welcomed Diana Fiedotin, Senior Director of the Joint Distribution Committee, to speak about the war in Ukraine and ways to support Ukrainian refugees, during “Lunch with the Rabbis” on March 2

Susan Schwaid Early Learning Center

Did you know that there are standards in Florida for education in preschool? When children come through our program, they are given opportunities to learn and grow every single day. Our teachers work diligently to ensure the standards are met through purposeful play and planned activities. There are multiple categories of standards, including physical development, approaches to learning, social and emotional development, language and literacy, mathematical thinking, scientific inquiry, social studies, and creative expression through the arts.

Each category has standards for ages birth-kindergarten. Here are some examples of specific standards and what we do to meet them:

For our VPK students, they are expected to “demonstrate use of large muscles for movement, position, strength and coordination”. We are so fortunate to have the bikes that were donated to us for students to practice these large muscle movements. We also have a gorgeous playground that the students get to run, climb, and jump on daily. Another standard for this age is to “demonstrates ability to self-regulate.” This deals with handling emotions but also making choices. Students are given choices as to what center they want to go to. As they get older, they begin to be more open to non-preferred activities. Allowing them a choice provides them with the opportunity to develop this skill.

For our younger children, ages 2-3, the choices we provide during open centers allows them to “explore the environment with purpose and flexibility.” What resides at each center is there for a purpose. The students choose which center to attend. Our teachers are working their way around to each center, engaging in conversation and play with the children. This allows us to develop their listening and speaking skills. One of the standards is, “Demonstrates understanding when listening,” followed by the specific benchmark of, “engages in multiple back-and-forth communicative interactions with adults and peers during creative play and in purposeful and novel situations.” This back-and-forth communication is heard from peers playing together as well as between staff and children in every classroom!

We are currently enrolling for the 2022-2023 school year beginning in August. If you would like more information about our program, please call (941) 377-8074 or e-mail preschool @sarasotateemple.org.

The History of Women Rabbis in America
Presented by Sabrina Silverberg, MARE

2022 marks the 50th anniversary of the ordination of Sally J. Priesand, the first woman publicly ordained as a rabbi. She opened the door for subsequent generations of women who were inspired by her to pursue careers in the rabbinate. Just like these women, Sally Priesand was preceded by the impactful lives of other, lesser-known female scholars and community leaders. In this course, we will spotlight a few of the significant women from the 1500's to the early modern period who held non-ordained rabbinic status in their communities. We will also explore the challenges faced by the first generation of women in the rabbinate, and reflect on how women's leadership has changed the rabbinate and the Jewish community as a whole.

MITZVAH DAY TEMPLE EMANU-EL

Sunday, May 1, 2022
Beginning at Noon

The Mitzvah Knitting Group – and the Knitzvahs – Are Back!

Not only has Temple Emanu-El's wonderful Mitzvah Knitting Group returned – but so have their “knitzvahs!” After two years away due to the coronavirus pandemic, the Mitzvah Knitting Group is once again gathering to work on knitting (or crocheting) projects.

Their beautiful handiwork is gifted to new babies born into our Temple family as well as donated to organizations in Sarasota and in Israel that serve children and families in need. New members are always welcome to join this special group; gatherings will be held Thursdays, May 5 and 19, at 10 a.m., and continue on the first and third Thursday of every month.

Although they have only been meeting since May, these Knitzvah Knitters have already distributed their first batch of mitzvah knitting. This time their knitted gifts went to the Jewish Family and Children's Services (JFCS) of the Suncoast. More wonderful items are being created and there are many more wonderful knitzvahs to come!

Longtime knitting group participant Lori Klein and Mitzvah Day Knitting Circle Chair, Judy Grossman, lead the group, founded, and led for many years by Susan Bernstein. For more information about joining the Mitzvah Knitting Group, please email Lori at lklein98@gmail.com.

Woof Woof! “Pet Shabbat: Blessing of the Animals” is May 21st

Our beloved pets are such blessings to us – and it’s that special time of the year when we offer them a blessing in return! All animals, and their humans, are warmly invited to Temple Emanu-El’s signature annual “Pet Shabbat: Blessing of the Animals” event on Saturday, May 21, beginning at 9:30 am. All are welcome to sign up to bring your pet and celebrate the divine gift of animal companionship. We’ll enjoy an inspirational message from Senior Rabbi Brenner Glickman and Associate Rabbi Michael Shefrin about the importance of kindness to animals in Judaism and the special love we share with our pets. There will also be an opportunity to have pets individually blessed and a family pet portrait taken. There will even be snacks for animals and humans, a pet dress-up area, and free veterinary consultations with our own Hal Alterman, DVM.

Although this wonderful event is of course free of charge, advance registration is required through our Temple website. Co-chairs Alice Cotman, Kim Sheintal, and Rabbi Elaine Rose Glickman encourage you to sign up, and can’t wait to welcome you and your pets to “Pet Shabbat: Blessing of the Animals”.

Young Families Are Invited to “Spring Clean” Tot Shabbat

It’s the season for spring cleaning – and Tot Shabbat is no exception! In fact, “spring clean” is our fun theme for this month’s Tot Shabbat, which will be held Saturday, May 14, at 10 a.m. Young Jewish and interfaith families are warmly invited to enjoy playground time, socializing with old and new friends, snacks and crafts, and an age-appropriate Shabbat experience of songs, blessings, movements, and a story with Associate Rabbi Michael Shefrin. In addition to these regular wonderful features, attendees will have the special opportunity to help Rabbi Shefrin spring-clean our Tot Shabbat supplies – by exploring the toys, stickers, giveaways, and other goodies that went unused during the year, and taking home their favorites. Families are also encouraged to bring the results of their own spring cleaning – that is, gently-used clothing, books, toys, kitchenware, and similar items in good condition – to be donated to local charitable organizations serving children and families.

We look forward to seeing you and your little ones at “Spring Clean” Tot Shabbat!

“Blessing of the Animals” leaders Rabbi Shefrin, Alice Cotman, Rabbi Elaine, Kim Sheintal, Rabbi Glickman, Dr. Hal Alterman, and Bentley Cotman are looking forward to “Pet Shabbat: Blessing of the Animals”!

Opher Library News:

Books on the Holocaust

By the time you read this, Yom Ha Shoah will be over for the year. For those of you who have not visited our library, we have a large section of books on the Holocaust, a section I avoid because it gives me nightmares.

One of our newest books on the topic is: The Light of Days, The Untold Story: Women Resistance Fighters in Hitler's Ghettos by Judy Batalion. This is the history of the women resistance fighters in Poland. We generally hear about the male fighters, not the women. Most of these are books written by men, but not this one. These were young idealistic ladies who ran towards the fight, not away from it. It made me proud to read about them. Women were used as couriers because they were easier to pass off as gentiles. For one thing they could not be checked for circumcision! The book focuses on a great many heroines. I didn't want to put the book down before seeing if they got out of their latest tight spot. Some did not. They listed the people who appeared in the book. I wish they had included their date of death.

On a happier note, we had a book sale. The library is now $12.00 richer. As you can guess, there are still plenty of books for sale. Thank you, Cindy Aminoff, for your help.

The library will be open from 12:00 to 3:00 p.m. on Mondays, and after services on Fridays.

Art Committee News:

December Art Exhibit to Showcase Works by Temple Members

The hidden artistic talents of our own Temple members will be on display at an “Artist Showcase” scheduled for December 3 and 4, 2022. The first-time exhibit is being organized under the auspices of a new Art Committee whose mission is to enhance the lives of Temple members and the broader community through the beauty and interest in the visual arts. In addition to mounting the Artist Showcase, the group is creating learning opportunities for Temple members through its Art Excursions subcommittee and is exploring possibilities for enhancing the lives of all generations through art experiences and experiential art workshops.

“I am so excited by the enthusiasm for this new venture. We have so many artists and art lovers at our Temple” says Rabbi Brenner Glickman, who initiated this new undertaking. “The best part about this art show is how it has brought so many people together, all with a shared passion and joy. I am so eager to see the art that our members produce. I wish the show were tomorrow!”

The Artist Showcase will take place in Benderson Hall with two main events: a Saturday evening (6-9 pm) Opening Reception and Havdalah Service led by Rabbi Glickman, open to Temple members only by reservation and the Sunday show open to both Temple members and the general public from 11 am to 3 pm. The Sunday show will also feature two experiential workshops led by Temple member Lita Katzer (Zentangle) and local artist/arts entrepreneur Judy Levine (memory wire bracelets).

Participation in the non-juried Artist Showcase is open to Temple members 18 years and older, both professional and non-professional artists. The mediums to be showcased include paintings and drawings, pottery, collage, textiles, glass, sculpture, photography and original printmaking. The number of pieces that can be submitted will depend on size and space limitations. Registration forms will be available on the Temple website and office in early May. Deadline for registration is October 21, 2022.

“There are no fees for Temple exhibitors or guests for any of the weekend activities,” says Art Committee co-chair Helene Davis, a former art teacher and visual artist. “The Temple has graciously provided the committee with a financial stipend to start things off, but in the future, we will be asking for contributions to help cover remaining costs.” Davis noted that no art will be for sale at the show.

An enthusiastic Art Committee has already developed warm bonds of fellowship during the planning process. Committee members include Linda Joffe (co-chair), Anne Bishop, Renee Crames, Judy Fleischer, Anita Harris, Paula Hayden, Adrienne Hutt, Julie Kupersmith, Marni Mount, Lynn Sacks, Alan Shuman, Lynne Spencer, Nancy Turner and Elizabeth Zeisler.

Questions can be directed to Helene Davis or Linda Joffe – helenesdavis@aol.com or ljoffe@aol.com.

Next Art Excursion Planned for June

On April 8, the new Art Excursions group enjoyed a fascinating tour and print making demonstration at the Venice Art Center, followed by lunch. The group's next outing is scheduled for Tuesday, June 7 at 10 am, and will feature a docent-led tour of the Arts Advocates (formerly known as the Fine Art Society of Sarasota) gallery space in the Crossings at Siesta Key mall, 3501 S. Tamiami Trail. This is a renowned collection of Sarasota Colony artists who were essential to Sarasota becoming the arts capital of Florida's Gulf Coast.

The exhibit includes more than 25 pieces representing a wide range of media and styles dating from the 1930s to the present. Among the artists on display are Richard Anuszkiewicz, Jerry Farnsworth, Syd Solomon and Ben Stahl. Following the tour, those who wish can gather for lunch at a nearby restaurant. There is a $10 per person charge for the tour.

The purpose of Art Excursions is to provide Temple art lovers with group experiences that are a bit off the beaten path. Upcoming outings may include Art Center Sarasota, walking tours of Sarasota's 24/7 Museum (sculptures and murals), renowned nature photographer Clyde Butcher's Venice gallery and studio, and the Sarasota Art Museum. Ideas are welcome!

The excursions are available to Temple members on a first come/first served basis. For questions, to make your reservation, or to join our planning group, please email Lynn Sacks, lynndsacks@yahoo.com.

Four Morning Sessions at 10 am
May 11, 18, 23 and 25

Discover some the greatest treasures of Jewish culture as we read and discuss classic stories from the Golden Age of Yiddish short fiction.

Featured authors will include Sholom Aleichem, I.L. Perez, and Isaac Bashevis Singer, with one session devoted to female writers. The stories are at times haunting, and at times absurd. But they are consistently and marvelously clever. Their brilliance will delight you.

Afghan Resettlement Task Force

The Afghan Resettlement Task Force continues to work with Afghan families in the Sarasota/Manatee Area. Please see the flier in the Temple Times for more information.

Have an old laptop computer laying around? We use your discards to help foster kids who have been taken from their homes with just the clothing on their backs and maybe a small bag of personal items. The laptops provide connectivity for these kids. Our process assures that your personal information will be fully scrubbed using Department of Defense software. Microsoft has provided free license of their OFFICE software to us for many years. Each year we reclaim over 900 units and if nothing else, save the landfill from an item that can be reused. This project has been a part of the Temple's Social Action efforts since 2016. You may drop your unit at the Temple offices or call 941-374-1107 for a representative to come to your front porch for pickup.

Purim G'vurot – Purim Heroes

Purim celebrates Jewish heroes, individuals who put their lives on the line for others. Mordechai and Esther are honored for saving the Jewish people from certain demise while risking their own lives.

This year, Temple Emanu-El Religious School (TEERS) dedicated the Purim carnival to modern community heroes: Our first responders and essential workers, who took care of us through the pandemic and beyond. On Sunday, March 6, over 200 people gathered on our campus for Purim G'vurot – a Purim carnival and celebration honoring law enforcement, firefighters, EMTs, and front-line workers.

The program begun in the sanctuary with Purim songs and a mini Megillah reading led by Senior Rabbi Brenner Glickman, Associate Rabbi Michael Shefrin and TEERS parents. The audience was then treated to an original and hilarious Purimspiel written by Director of Education Morah Sabrina Silverberg, MARE, and performed by TEERS' sixth and seventh graders. Children were encouraged to dress up as first responders and essential workers, and the many that did participated in a costume parade and were rewarded with prizes for their efforts. The festive event continued with carnival games, lunch prepared by our fantastic food sponsor Brotherhood, prizes, and fun, and of course tons of delicious hamantashen baked by 12 wonderful TEERS moms, organized by Shera Friedman. We are also grateful to the Sisterhood M'Dor L'Dor volunteers and the 14 family/individual sponsors who made the day possible. We were also fortunate to host the Sarasota County Sheriff's Department, EMTs, and Fire Rescue, who were in attendance to meet the community and share their experiences. It was extra special for the kids to have fire trucks, police cars, and ambulances there! Purim G'vurot was an event that will not be forgotten.

“Shabbat Snack and Stroll”

Temple Emanu-El families celebrated Shabbat and the wonders of nature with a “Shabbat Snack and Stroll” at Nathan Benderson Park on Saturday evening, March 19. After spending time on the playground, completing a Shabbat nature craft, and enjoying free treats from the ice cream truck, grandparents, parents, and children strolled through the park trails while playing “Ani Roeh” – a Hebrew version of I-Spy created by Director of Education Sabrina Silverberg, MARE. The festive evening concluded with a musical havdalah ceremony, and a dance party led by youth group advisor Savannah Ross.

“My favorite part of the ‘Shabbat Snack and Stroll’ was that it was so intergenerational,” Associate Rabbi Michael Shefrin commented. “The craft – where families used oranges and cloves to make a havdalah spice kit – was a hit with everyone, and so was the ice cream!”

“But the best part,” he smiled, “was learning the Hebrew word for squirrel.”
