

2022 High Holidays Education Appeal

Through the shul's Limmud Torah programming, we strive to meet the educational needs of every single KMS member. Looking back over the past year, we enjoyed daily teaching from Rabbi Weinberg, five ongoing weekday classes, a full Shavuot learning program, a tour of the Museum of the Bible, numerous Scholars in Residence, and a plethora of guest speakers.

On a regular basis we are blessed to be able to learn from Rabbi Weinberg, Yoetzet Halacha Bracha Rutner, and the teachers and speakers within our own community. Going forward, we hope to build on these successes and make our programming even more accessible and engaging for our members.

As a community, we can gain new perspective and be inspired in new ways when we learn from a range of educators and scholars from outside of our community. This past year, we had many exceptional scholars-in-residence visit our community, and we had the opportunity to learn from people around the world via virtual classes. This past year alone, we learned from (among others):

- Chief Rabbi Ephraim Mirvis (Chief Rabbi of the UK)
- Dr. Rivka Press Schwartz (SAR High School)
- Rabbi Baruch Simon (Yeshiva University)
- Dr. Malka Simkovich (Chair of Jewish Studies at CTU)
- Jordan Gorfinkel (Author of the Graphic Novel Haggadah)
- Rabbi Jeff Saks (Editor of "Tradition," the Rabbinical Council of America's Journal)
- Professor Adam Ferziger (Bar Ilan University)
- Rabbanit Sally Mayer (Midreshet Lindenbaum)
- Rav Moshe Taragin (Yeshivat Har Etzion)
- Dr. Tammy Jacobovitz (SAR High School)
- Dr. Ronnie Perelis (Yeshiva University)
- Rav Menachem Leibtag (Yeshivat Har Etzion, Midreshet Lindenbaum)
- Rav Jesse Horn (Yeshivat HaKotel)

This coming year, we are looking forward to hosting (among others):

- Dr. Julie Goldstein (Midreshet Amudim)
- Rav Yoni Rosensweig (Midreshet Lindenbaum)
- Dr. Nechama Price and students from the Graduate Program in the Advanced Talmudic Studies for Women (GPATS)
- Rabbi Dovid Bashevkin (18Forty Podcast and NCSY)

Please support the shul's education budget, which enables us to maintain and expand our robust lineup of scholars-in-residence, guest lectures, and other programming.

May we all merit to have a new year filled with health, happiness, and inspirational Torah learning.
