SAYING "THANK YOU" FOR THE GOOD

by Ephraim Z. Buchwald

More than a year has passed since my mother, of blessed memory, passed away. Of course, it was not an easy year, but it flew by rapidly.

Many of the laws and customs of aveylut (mourning) had a deep impact on me. But, the requirement to say Kaddish with a minyan every morning and evening had a particularly profound impact, throwing my already tumultuous life into even greater turmoil. There were times when I was delayed on trains and planes, and was certain that I had missed Kaddish. But somehow, I never missed reciting Kaddish even once during the entire year -- which is quite a tribute to the New York subway system! Often it required something little short of a miracle, but I made it, and now I can finally take a deep breath, and plod frequently than I did during my year of mourning. Yes, I recognize the irony. Now, thank G-d, that everyone is OK, my 88 year-old father is doing well, my wife and children are healthy, my work is fulfilling -- now that everything is hunky-dory -- I somehow can't manage to get to synagogue as regularly as I did during my mourning. When mother was ill, and after she passed away, I never missed. And now, when I have so much for which to be grateful, I am back to being casual about it! And then when, G-d forbid, tragedy strikes, as it will inevitably, we call out, "O G-d, O G-d, why have you forsaken me!"

"Where were you, Buchwald, when everything was OK?", He may justifiably ask. "You couldn't find the time to say 'Thank you'?"

I must admit that saying Kaddish for me was not a terrible inconvenience, since, even before I became a mourner, I regularly attended Shacharit and Mincha services daily, and tried as often as I could to attend Maariv services. I can't fathom how difficult this new routine must be for those who do not attend minyan regularly. The tensions I experienced, as someone who was used to going to services, were enormous. How overwhelming it must be for someone who is suddenly thrust into this awesome regimen.

What really amazed me was how casual my attitude toward synagogue attendance became immediately after the first Yahrtzeit. It took less than three weeks for me to miss my first minyan, and while I am sincerely trying not to miss too often, it is very likely that I am going to miss far more Lincoln Square Synagogue is certainly one of the most successful and acclaimed synagogues in the land. And justifiably so. We have two nice-sized minyanim in the morning and a well-attended evening service. But all told, probably no more than a hundred people out of a membership of 1300, attend weekday services. Very likely, many of our members attend other synagogues during the week. But daily synagogue attendance at LSS could easily increase threefold, fourfold or more.

So join me, Rabbi Weinberg and Rabbi Cohen in expressing thanks daily for the good G-d continues to do. Don't wait for a tragedy.

And if you really don't like the schmaltz herring in the morning, we'll be happy to order an egg roll for you!
