THIS SHABBAT

Shabbat Afternoon

6:25pm: Mincha/Seudah Shlishit. Rav Naftali Kandler will be speaking on "There are 4 Tribes in Israel and the Religious Zionist Tribe Itself is Divided into 4. Where Did We Go Wrong?"

Rav Naftali Kandler is the Director of Institutional Advancement at Yeshivot and Ulpanot of Bnei Akiva in Israel. Naftali is an educational entrepreneur at heart, he is the founder of several educational institutions, such as the first Pre-Military Mechina for youth in the Israel periphery, Orot Chessed – the national Chessed organization of the Garinim Toraniyim (Intentional-Torah communities around the country), "Ma'agalim" – empowering youth in the periphery to make productive choices during their last two years of high school as they consider army and higher education and more. Until recently, Naftali served as the Executive Director of Yeshivat Ohr Etzion (the Hesder Yeshiva under the leadership of Rav Chaim Druckman's Yeshiva) and the Mechinah of Or M'Ophir – a leadership program for Ethiopians. Naftali also founded the largest national conversion program in Israel named AML, with more than 2,000 students annually, and in his spare time can be found volunteering and teaching there. He served for ten years as the rav of a Moroccan shul in Kiryat Malachi. He spent two years as a teenager living in London. Naftali holds a MBA and a B.A in Education. He lives with his wife and seven children in Yad Binyamin.

HOSPITALITY: WE NEED YOUR HELP!

A message from Judith Weil, for the Hospitality Committee E: hospitality@lss.org

At the annual dinner last June, some of you volunteered to assist the LSS Hospitality Committee. If you volunteered to host, you may not realize that we need volunteers to link up prospective hosts and guests. The matches are all done via email, by volunteers who take a weekly shift monitoring the committee's gmail account for requests and then sending those emails you likely have been receiving. We urgently need volunteers to take a week and even more urgently need one to three volunteers to coordinate the weekly volunteer rotations and backstop those volunteers if problems arise. For the past year, this was handled seamlessly by Enid Moskowitz and Sandy Kilstein. They will be hard to replace, but, it should not be impossible. By next week, the coordinating position will be empty, no volunteers will be scheduled and visitors to our site will not receive a response to their requests for RH and Shabbat meals. The tasks are not difficult: access to the internet and minimal familiarity with Gmail and Google docs are all that are required for the coordinators. Weekly volunteers will need internet access, but can be instructed as to how our site works. A volunteer who could take on that liaison role would also be a help, but we've managed so far. Just as we can't manage without hosts, we can't manage without the coordinators who enable our hosts to welcome their guests. Please step up-- with enough volunteers to put in ten to fifteen minutes for one week, the rotation would come up only once in a few months.

Without new volunteers, and most critically, new coordinators, LSS will no longer be responding to requests through our website.

Sukkot Meals (Reservation Deadline: Thursday, October 3)

This year we welcome PETAK'S CATERING

To take part in mitzvah of Layshave Ba'sukkah (dwelling in the Sukkah), we would like to invite all of our members and friends to utilize the Stone Family Sukkah on the Spira Terrace.

In order to reserve a spot for eating any of the Yom Tov meals during the first days of Sukkot and Shabbat Chol Hamoed, a reservation must be made in advance using the online form.

However, during the rest of Chol Hamoed and the last days of the Yom Tov, a reservation is not necessary to eat a meal in the Sukkah. Please feel free to use our Sukkah for eating, learning, relaxing, and general dwelling. We do not allow sleeping overnight in the our sukkah. We appreciate all donations made to defray the considerable cost of building and maintaining the Sukkah.

To register for Sukkot meals, please visit
www.lss.org/form/sukkotmeals

CHESED: PIKUACH NEFESH

Looking for Bone Marrow or Stem Cell Donor

10 year old Elan Shademan, Elan Chaim ben Yael is battling a severe, rare blood disorder that threatens his life. We urgently need your help to find his lifesaving marrow or stem cell donor. His family is Iranian Jewish and Elan is half Ashkenazi and half Sephardic. His best chance of a match is with someone of similar ancestry. Although ethnic background and ancestry play a role in finding a matching donor, anyone who is 18 to 35 years old can help, particularly those with Elan's background. Testing is so easy, it just takes a cheek swab, and you can save his life or that of another person in need. A swab drive will be held this Sunday, September 22 at Moise Safra Center, 130 E. 82nd St., between Park and Lexington from 10am to 11:30am. Please get swabbed if you're not already in the registry. For more information about Elan and how you can help, please visit www.giftoflife.org/dc/elan.

Looking for Kidney Donor: O Type Blood

Tamar Fix, our Executive Director, has a friend whose mother is in desperate need of a life saving kidney. Esther bat Rachel falls into the more difficult "match" to find. They are in need of an altruistic donor with O TYPE BLOOD (+ or -) as we believe her life saving match is out there, we just have not found him/her yet. Please share this information. Anyone with O type blood (+ or-) can be tested no matter where they live. Please contact Renewal at 718-431-9831 ext. 209 for patient #R23908 or r23908@renewal.org.

DVAR TORAH

Parshat Ki Tavo Written by: Jeffrey Neuman	September 20-21
“What’s It Really All About?”
This week’s parsha is dominated by the Tochacha , painful verses describing horrific curses that will befall the People of Israel if they do not stay loyal to Hashem after they enter the Land of Israel. But somewhat overshadowed by the Tochacha are the fourteen preceding verses that describe magnificent and bountiful blessings that will be bestowed if they do stay loyal to Hashem . An abridged sample:
And it will be if you obey the Lord, your God, to observe to fulfill all His commandments which I command you this day, the Lord, your God, will place you supreme above all the nations of the earth...
You shall be blessed in the city, and you shall be blessed in the field.
Blessed will be the fruit of your womb, the fruit of your soil, the fruit of your livestock, the offspring of your cattle, and the flocks of your sheep...
You shall be blessed when you come, and you shall be blessed when you depart.
The Lord will cause your enemies who rise up against you, to be beaten before you; they will come out against you in one direction, but they will flee from you in seven directions....
And the Lord will set you at the head, and not at the tail, and you will be only at the top, and you will not be at the bottom, if you obey the commandments of the Lord, your God, which I am commanding you this day, to observe to fulfill [them].
And you shall not turn right or left from all of the words I am commanding you this day...
(Translation courtesy of Chabad.org)
These verses of blessing are among the most stirring and uplifting in the entire Chumash , setting a lofty aspiration for what the Jewish People can be.
But one thing doesn’t seem right: the last verse doesn’t seem to belong. Thirteen verses of magnificence are followed by and concluded with “And you shall not turn right or left from all of the words I am commanding you,” which sounds like a command, not a blessing! And indeed, that is how this last verse is read by the Halachot Gedolot , an early Geonic compilation of Jewish law, which lists this last verse as one of the 613 commandments.
Nachmanides (1194-1270) is, not satisfied by this reading, and proposes instead that we read the last two verses as one, and that the last verse is merely a second part of the “if” clause of the previous verse. I.e.,

“... you will be only at the top, and you will not be at the bottom, if you obey the commandments of the Lord, your God, which I am commanding you this day, to observe to fulfill [them] and you shall not turn right or left from all of the words I am commanding you this day, to follow other deities to worship them”

The last verse is thus not a command, but part of the condition upon which the blessings depend.

If I may, I believe there may be another possible reading of this verse that is supported by the Midrash.

The Tanna, Rabbi Yaakov is quoted twice in the Talmud (Kiddushin 39b, Hullin 142a) as saying, “schar mitzva b’hai alma lekka” — “there is no reward for performance of a mitzvah in this world.” This surprising statement seems contradictory to assurances expressed often in the Torah, including the fundamental verses of the Shema, which promise plentiful rain and abundance as consequence for listening to Hashem’s words. How is the statement of Rabbi Yaakov to be understood?

Children are motivated by candy and prizes. Athletes toil toward trophies. As adults, we push ourselves to work hard and strive to achieve material success. But the Torah’s ultimate purpose, perhaps Rabbi Yaakov is saying, is to lay before us pathways of behavior that are good in and of themselves and to train us to walk those pathways for that very reason. What Rabbi Yaakov is perhaps saying is that while the Torah promises much physical good to those who follows its laws, we should not view those good things as the purpose for doing the mitzvot. The Torah’s promised bestowals are achievements and, perhaps motivations, but receiving something good in exchange for doing something is not to be construed as true reward. The mitzvot are purposeful in and of themselves; doing them and living by their values is itself the reward in this world.

Perhaps this is why the ultimate of fourteen verses describing the greatest blessings reads, “And you shall not turn right or left from all of the words I am commanding you this day.” As magnificent as the blessings of the preceding verses are, even they should not be read as true reward. In the final analysis, after we’re done with all the prizes we pray for and hopefully earn along the way, having a heart and mind that is resonant with the Torah’s values is the greatest blessing of all. As the Midrash Rabba on these verses has G-d observe, “ashrav shel adam b’shaah sheshemuotav li,” — “a man’s greatest happiness is when his listening is [directed] toward Me.” As we enter the period of the Yamim Noraim, may we all learn to understand and appreciate the true value of the mitzvot in our lives.

Shabbat Shalom and Ktivah V’Chatimah Tovah to all.

After Shul Ask Your Children:

1. What are the three important things to remember to do during the month of Elul?
2. What is the mitzvah of Bikkurim?
3. What are the seven fruits of Israel?

3.	Wheat, barley, figs, dates, pomegranates, olives, and grapes
2.	Giving the first fruits grown in Israel to the Kohanim
1.	Teshuvah, Tefilah, Tzedakah

Answers:

Dvar Torah:

Parshat Ki Tavo teaches us about the mitzvah of bikkurim, whereby farmers would bring the very first fruits harvested to the Beit Hamikdash as an offering for the Kohanim. The mitzvah of bikkurim was only done in Israel to fruits and produce which were indigenous to the land, namely wheat, barley, figs, dates, pomegranates, olives, and grapes. When the farmer presented the fruits to the Kohanim and Leviim, he would say “Hashkifa Mimon Kodshecha Min Hashamayim,” which means “look down from your holy abode and bless the nation of Israel.” The word Hashkifa is used here, but is usually used in a negative context. Why is this the term selected to mean “look” when there are plenty of other more seemingly positive synonyms? The reason is because bikkurim was ultimately a huge mitzvah of tzedakah, a donation. This term was used intentionally to showcase the enormous power of tzedakah, a mitzvah so grand it has the power to turn negativity into something hugely positive. We should all be blessed with a year of only positivity and happy occasions, and the knowledge that just in case we have any negative doubts, we can always give tzedakah to LSS Youth and exemplify the bikkurim in each of us.

KOL NIDRE APPEAL

Dear LSS:

As we inch nearer downfield to the goal of beneficial change, it brings to mind the importance of doing so as a community and for the community. I recently read an article about Maurice Glasman, the British political theorist and member of the House of Lords, who visited his hometown, the Ukrainian shtetl of Vinkivtsy. He was quoted saying: "I was brought up to love Yiddishkayt.... in just my Mum's family we still have Communists, Zionists, Hasidim and Misnagdim; we have assimilationists, Bundists, capitalists and socialists, monarchists and anarchists. I love them all and I can't deny that my head is a cacophony of ancestral argument and I can be any one of those things in the course of a single day.....the thing I love most is being a yid."

We are a diverse community with different opinions, convictions, and priorities. Yet the communal scene in our shul lobby, social hall, or terrace is an image of Jewish achdut, Jewish caring, and the best of humanity. And we export those values to those who cannot make it to shul, and to the greater community at large. Let's not take that for granted. Let's sustain the beauty of this shul. Give generously to the this years' high holiday campaign and keep LSS alive.
