Dvar Torah:

This week we begin a new book of the Torah, Sefer Devarim. In addition to Devarim, we also refer to this Shabbat with a special name, Shabbat Hazon, because we read about Yeshaya's vision in the Haftorah, the first word of which is "Hazon." The Rebbe of Barditchiv explained a deeper connection for the naming Parshat Hazon. Hazon literally means prophecy or vision, and the Rebbe of Berdichev said that on this Shabbat, while we sleep on Friday night, every single Jewish person in the world will experience a Hazon or vision of the rebuilding of the third Beit Hamikdash. We may or may not remember it when we wake up, but every single person will have that experience. As we approach Tisha B'Av this Sunday, and we remember the destruction of the Beit Hamikdash, may we all focus a little more intently on the rebuilding of the Beit Hamikdash in Jerusalem and the coming of Moshiach, speedily in our days.

Questions:

1. Which new sefer begins this Shabbat?
2. Why is this week called Shabbat Chazon?
3. How did the Rebbe of Berdichev explain Shabbat Chazon?

Answers:

1. Devarim
2. Because we read about Yeshaya's prophecy in this week's Haftorah
3. The Rebbe of Berdichev explained that on this Shabbat, while we sleep, every single Jewish person in the world experiences a Chazon or vision of the rebuilding of the Beit Hamikdash.

UPCOMING EVENT

Monday, July 26, 2:00pm: Moadon Ha'Sefer (Israel Book Club):

The next book by an Israeli author that we will read and discuss (in English) is "The Coincidence Makers" by Yoav Blum. What if there's no such thing as a chance encounter? What if there are people we don't know determining our destiny? In this genre-bending novel, there is no such thing as chance and every action is carefully executed by highly trained agents. You'll never look at coincidences the same way again. The author, Yoav Blum is an international bestselling author and software developer. His first three books became instant Israeli bestsellers. Special treat! Yoav, the author of the book, will join us from Israel, and participate in a discussion led by Harel Fenigstein. To receive the link to join the discussion and for more information, email Harelf@jafi.org. You can purchase the book on Amazon using the link in the online version of the Echod.
