YOUTH AND MAGEN AVRAHAM TEEN DEPARTMENT

Shabbat Youth Groups: 10:00am (Location: second floor classrooms)
Supervised by Alexander Wildes (masks required for 2+)

Dvar Torah:

In this week's Parshat Vaetchanan, Moshe's final speech to Bnei Yisrael continues. We are again reminded of the time after the Exodus from Egypt when the Jews were wandering the desert. Moshe had asked Hashem if he too could enter the land of Israel, and Hashem declined. Instead Hashem gave Moshe permission to stand on top of a mountain and look into the land of Israel from afar. Moshe highlights two particular events the Jewish people should never forget; being saved from Pharaoh in Egypt, and being gifted the Torah on Har Sinai. Vaetchanan also includes reminders of the Ten Commandments, and the Mitzvah to recite the Shema prayer which teaches us the mitzvot of tefillin, mezuzah, and that there is only one G-d, Hashem.

Questions:

1. Does Moshe enter the Land of Israel?
2. Which two events does Moshe tell Bnei Yisrael to never forget?
3. What are the two Mitzvot we learn from the words of the Shema?

- Answers:
1. No, but Hashem lets him see Israel from on top of a mountain.
 2. Hashem saving them Pharaoh in Egypt and being gifted the Torah on Har Sinai
 3. Tefillin and Mezuzah

BEN & JERRY'S

As protests and violence engulfed Israel in May, scores of users flooded the social media pages of the ice cream brand with criticism and calls to boycott the country. Ben & Jerry's critics, have been lobbying it to stop selling in Israel for nearly a decade. Ben & Jerry's is trying to appease a global campaign of hate called BDS, by cutting ties with its factory in Israel. Extremists are already celebrating this decision and demanding that the company use its socially conscious brand to harm Israelis even further. Ben & Jerry's are responding to pressure from the antisemitic Boycott, Divestment, and Sanctions (BDS) movement.

BDS is a campaign of hate that opposes Israel's existence in any part of the region. The purpose of BDS is to isolate and pressure Israel until it collapses. BDS co-founder Omar Barghouti has said "we oppose a Jewish state". BDS also actively harms peace efforts by opposing Israeli-Palestinian cooperation, fueling more conflict and suffering for both peoples. Even more disturbingly, the movement is led by the Boycott National Committee (BNC) and according to the New York Times, "terrorist organizations, including Hamas" are members of the BNC. The real-life impact of BDS is to spread dehumanizing propaganda about Israelis and promote injustice.

In fact, the campaign against Ben & Jerry's labels the location of their Israeli factory as a "settlement," when it is in fact an internationally recognized part of Israel. It's clear this isn't really about Israeli settlements, but about opposing Israel's existence.

Furthermore, the most recent push targeting Ben & Jerry's began when the racist terrorist group Hamas launched a massive 4,000+ rocket assault against Israel, with horrific consequences for Israeli and Palestinian civilians alike. As such, the company's decision signals to Hamas that starting wars and committing crimes against Israeli and Palestinian civilians pays off, because companies around the world will respond by blaming and harming only Israel. Among the countless brands owned by Unilever, Ben & Jerry's is uniquely vulnerable to such pressure because of a special provision that grants it independence from the larger company. The sale to Unilever in 2000 tasked a special board of directors with preserving the ice cream brand's "social mission" and gave it the power to override certain corporate decisions to do so. Let's urge Ben & Jerry's to oppose hate, strengthen its ties with Israel, and support peace.

What you can do:

- Email the CEO Ben & Jerry's, Matthew McCarthy, by Clicking Here
- In New York, support supermarkets that are boycotting Ben & Jerry's by doing the same.
- At the same time, keep in mind that the Israeli distributor has called on Israeli consumers and visitors to continue purchasing Ben & Jerry's ice cream in Israel, saying that the hundreds of local workers who manufacture it need their support.
