Sarah woke up early Chanukah morning.

She looked at her mother and asked, “Is it Chanukah yet?”

“No, Sarah,” said her mother. “We have to clean the house.”

So Sarah helped her mom dust . . .

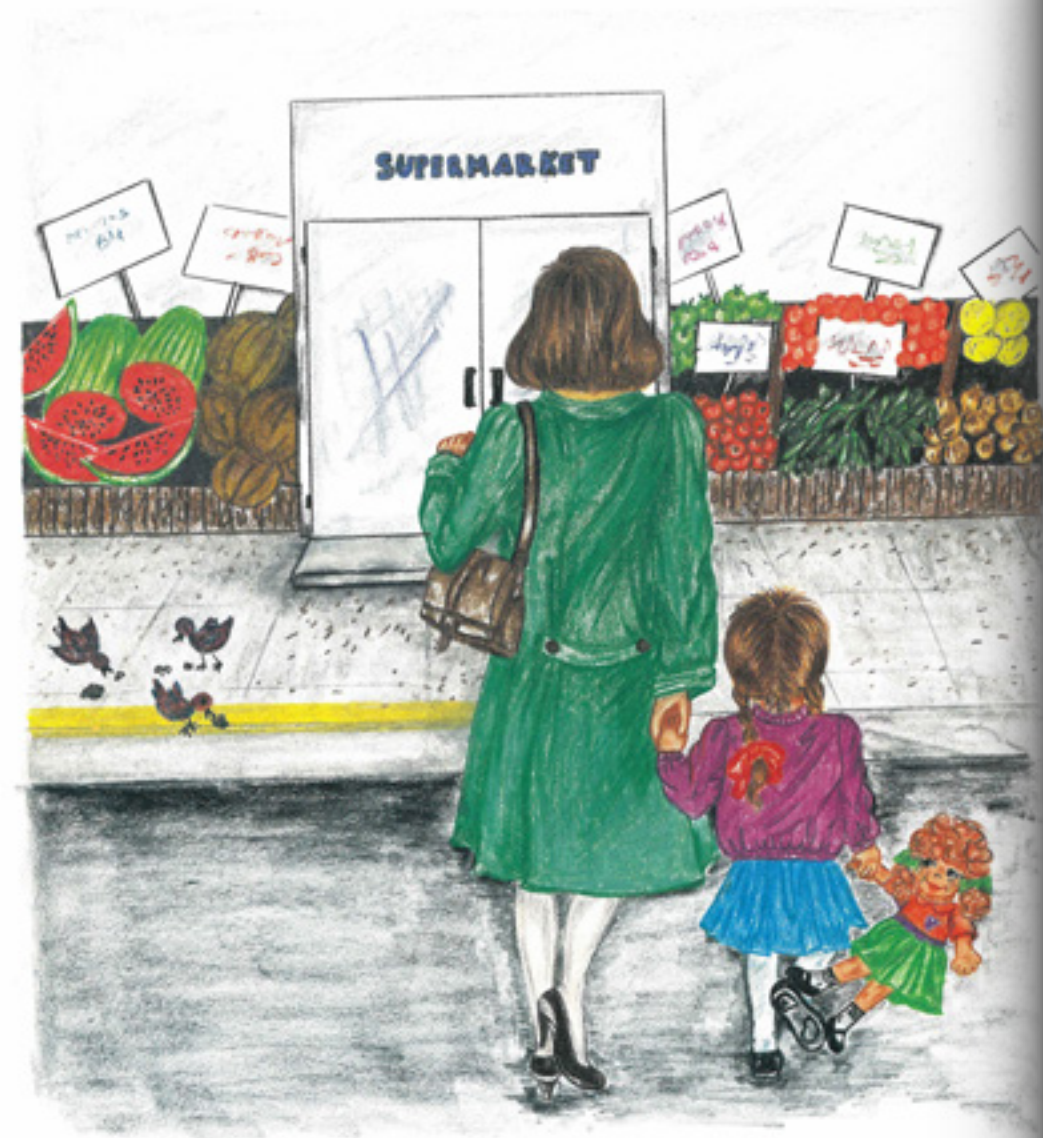

. . . and vacuum . . .

“Is it Chanukah yet,” asked Sarah?

“No, Sarah, we have to go shopping and buy Chanukah decorations and foods for Chanukah.”

So Sarah helped her mom shop.

They bought cool decorations, terrific gifts, shiny coins, blue dreidels, yummy donuts, and ingredients for delicious potato latkes.

“Is it Chanukah yet,” asked Sarah?

“No, Sarah,” said her mother. “We have to put up the Chanukah decorations, and wrap the presents.” So Sarah helped her mom get ready.

Sarah looked at her mother and asked, "Is it Chanukah yet?"

"No, Sarah," said her mother. "We have to make the potato latkes and get the dinner ready." So Sarah helped peel the potatoes and fry the latkes in oil.

“Is it Chanukah yet,” asked Sarah?

“No, Sarah,” said her mother. “We have to set up the menorah.”

So Sarah helped her mom get ready to light the menorah.

They said the bracha and lit the first candle.

“Now it is Chanukah!”

“I love Chanukah,” said Sarah.

“I do, too,” said Mom.

Happy Chanukah!!
