Parshah Summaries

First Day Torah Reading: Exodus 12:21-51

Moses instructs the Elders of Israel in the laws of Pesach. In turn, the Elders are to teach these laws to the people. All the future generations of Israel are to observe the Pesach traditions so that children, in every generation, shall see them observed. As they watch the ceremonies of Passover, children will be encouraged to ask for explanation. In response, they are to be told of great events relating to G-d's deliverance of Israel from their Egyptians slavery.

Now, the last of the ten plagues, makat bechorot, the death of the Egyptian first-born sons, takes place. Pharaoh is alarmed and he summons Moses and Aaron to his palace in the middle of the night. The Egyptian tyrant wants Israel gone as soon as possible. Moses and Aaron gladly comply and they immediately proceed to inform their Israelite brethren of the new found freedom. In short order Israel is on their Exodus march.

Second Day Torah Reading: Leviticus 22:26-23:44

Moses instructs Israel in the observance of the Sabbath and the Holy Days. These shall be days of rest for all of the people with an opportunity to contemplate the sacredness of life and man's relationship with G-d, the Creator and the Liberator.

In addition to the Sabbath, which shall be observed every seventh day, Israel shall observe Pesach, Shavuot, Rosh Hashanah, Yom Kippur and Sukkot. Each of these Holy Days, aside from being holy convocations, shall bring to Israel the meaning and purpose of their existence.

Haftarah Summary

First Day Haftarah: Joshua 3:5-7; 5:2-6:1; 6:27

Under Joshua, the successor to Moses, Israel crosses the Jordan to the Promised Land. At Gilgal they celebrate Pesach for the first time in their own country. In preparation for the festival's observance, all of the Israelite males are circumcised. They then eat the first matzot to be made of wheat grown in their own land.

Second Day Haftarah: II Kings 23:1-9; 21:25

During the reign of King Josiah, a great change took place in the Kingdom of Judea. Manasseh, who preceded Josiah as the Judean ruler, had misled his people for fifty-five years. Manasseh introduced a pagan religion and all of the Torah's teaching was forgotten among the people. When Josiah succeeded Manasseh as king, he carried out repairs to the Jerusalem Temple. As the work was being done, a Torah scroll was discovered. It was brought to King Josiah. He studied its teachings and was moved to change his people's whole way of life. Josiah eliminated all of the paganism and restored Judaism in the land.

The Haftarah tells of Josiah's cleansing of the Temple and its restoration to the worship of G-d. That important task completed, Josiah and his people celebrate Pesach with great rejoicing.
