

From Our Rabbi

Welcome to today's TouchPoints! We hope you enjoyed a good weekend. By now you should all be aware of our Shabbat Morning Services taking place this coming Shabbat, July 4th. We are hard at work getting 100% ready - and we want you to be 100% ready too!

Here are a few reminders about our protocols for everyone attending services:

- Please be honest about your health and readiness to attend.
- Please be ready to answer a few health related questions before entering services.
- Please be ready to have your temperature taken before entering either service.

(This is absolutely halachikally permissible under the circumstances.)

- Don't forget your mask. It should cover mouth and nose and must be worn the entire time you are on our premises. No exceptions!
- For those who wear them, please bring your own tallit and yarmulka.

Please register for the service of your choice by using the links below:

For the Shaarei Simcha service click HERE, or call the office to sign up at 303-388-4203.

For the Sanctuary service click HERE, or call the office to sign up at 303-388-4203.

We have a limited number of congregants allowed for services. If you didn't sign up and we hit the maximum number we are allowed, you will not be able to attend or enter the building for services. We appreciate your cooperation with these protocols.

Stay safe and stay well,

Rabbi Chaitovsky
