Notes from the Rabbi: Ethan Seidel Words of Comfort for the New Year

It's tempting to approach the Days of Awe with self-loathing, as in "I'm such an awful person, I'm so desperately in need of repentance!" But is that really the best approach? Maybe self-loathing is actually getting in our way. Maybe we are not the enemy. Maybe our lack of love for ourselves is an enemy that makes repentance doubly hard.

Now you might think: "Someone who loves himself - well that would be the last person to be interested in doing teshuva"! But I have found the opposite to be true.

President's Column: Stan Dorn

I hope this month's Menorah finds you well, and that we're all on track towards a meaningful, transformative Elul and Days of Awe.

Once again, many thanks to David Cohen for doing such a fine job as editor for so long, and further thanks to Jessica Weissman for taking the baton-pass from David.

Shabbat Announcements

I'm writing this month about Shabbat announcements and dues. You may have noticed that I start Shabbat announcements each week by encouraging people to look around, to find someone they don't know or don't know well, and to say hello, even if means moving over an aisle or two. We pride ourselves on being a warm community. We don't want anybody to walk in our doors, pray, and leave without a friendly word from the people near them. Going through this routine at the start of announcements each week provides a structure helps us welcome all who come our way, thus fulfilling an important community aspiration. Some people find this exercise annoying or tiresome, but I hope you consider it a worthwhile use of time that prevents people it mean to love ourselves? Is there a way to understand self-love as something other than self-aggrandizement? Well, we might ask ourselves what it means to love another. That's not such a hard question to answer. It might include: doing favors for the other, being patient with the other, trying to understand the other, accepting their foibles, forgiving them, sticking with them in difficult times. Loving ourselves might involve treating ourselves with this same loving attitude.

And how might such self-love aid repentance? Well, one of the barriers to repentance is surely impatience. Have you ever said to yourself: "I've been on this Earth for how long, and each time the Days of Awe roll around I wrestle Menorah submissions: menorah@tifereth-israel.org with the exact same issues! I'm not making any progress!" Perhaps, were we a little more patient with ourselves we might be able to admit: we have made some changes - small changes, perhaps, but we are not in fact the same person we have always been. And if we were more patient with ourselves, we might, instead of trying to make huge changes all at once, try taking smaller steps, setting more obtainable goals this year.

Another way self-love could help us repent: we might learn to accept what we cannot change about ourselves. Again, you may object: "No!!! Accepting our foibles is the exact opposite of teshuva!!!" But none of us is infinitely malleable. There are things about ourselves that we may, in fact, be unable to change. Does it serve the cause of repentance to flail against the immutable? Maybe a better strategy is to pick a different target for teshuva this year. Or at least a smaller goal. Acceptance of who we are does not necessarily mean becoming a slacker - in fact, it could lead us to picking more winnable battles, and ultimately bringing about more change.

We've all got our foibles, attributes we might wish we could change, bad habits that cause us to feel bad about ourselves. Perhaps if we were kinder to ourselves, the next step on our journey would be more apparent. We could realize not only what about ourselves needs changing, but which among our attributes is most amenable to change.

This year, try encouraging yourself, rather than browbeating yourself. And don't be overly dismayed with what you cannot change. Learn to live with yourself lovingly, as you would with a beloved.

I wish you a productive season of repentance.

A New Perspective on Dues

Now, to the topic of dues. It's easy, in our culture, to think of TI membership dues almost as a commercial transaction: in exchange for our payments, we receive goods and services.

I'd like to suggest a different perspective. Most of us are committed to doing what we can to assure a strong future for the Jewish people. For better and for worse, synagogues are by far the most important institution of American Judaism. More than any other place, it's where American Jews turn for spiritual inspiration, for education, for friendship. It's where we turn for comfort in hard times and for celebration in good times. Ismar Schorsch, former chancellor of the Jewish Theological Seminary, rightly described synagogues as "the bedrock institution" of the "total Jewish community."

To be sure, other institutions of American Judaism are also important. They range from Federation to independent minyanim to groups like Bend the Arc and Jews United for Justice, which feature Tl'ers Jason Kimelman-Block and Elizabeth Richman in key roles. We are particularly fortunate in the Washington area to have places like Sixth & I and Jewish Community Centers to enrich our Jewish lives. But synagogues are foundational, the scaffolding on which other institutions rest.

Dues are Essential to TI

And that's where dues come in. Dues are essential to TI's continued existence. Dues enable our synagogue to survive and thrive. Along with other people paying dues to support other synagogues, it's an important way American Jews contribute to a strong, vibrant Jewish future. Dues payments are an essential part of a much bigger picture.

Of course, your membership, your participation, is more important than your money. No one should be turned away or should step away from being a part of the TI community because of limited resources. If TI's standard dues and other fees are more than you can afford, given other necessities of life, please contact Jevera Temsky, our terrific Executive Director. But if you can possibly afford to pay your dues, please do.

You gotta pay your dues if you want to sing the blues.

Best wishes,

Stan

Nicole Berns and Alex Schaffer

Nicole and Alex have been in Washington for three years, since both graduated from the University of Massachusetts, Amherst. Nicole grew up first in Miami and then in Connecticut, having one Cuban-Jewish parent and one Connecticut parent. Alex grew up first in Paris and then in Connecticut, having one French parent and one Connecticut parent.

They met while in college, where both studied the same combination of comparative literature and political science. Staying on the same track together, they both now work in politics for consultants on the Democratic side. Nicole works in mail and Alex in digital. They plan to be married, with a date to be determined, probably sometime in 2018. Nicole and Alex can often be found exploring their Capitol Hill neighborhood or hiking outside farther afield, often with their beagle, Milo. They'd be happy to meet other TI politicos.

Jamie Sorge and Malki Karkowsky

Jamie and Malki have lived in the DC area for about three years, and just recently bought a house in Silver Spring. Malki, a Silver Spring native, has come full circle. Jamie grew up in Connecticut. The two met in Boston through the romantic auspices of BBYO. Jamie was serving as a BBYO advisor while applying to graduate school, and Malki was a BBYO regional director. They met at a conference and things went from there. Jamie now teaches 8th grade English at the Landon School, and Malki works in development for Hillel International. Jamie and Malki have a son, Shai, who will soon turn five, and a daughter, Areli, who will become two in September. The family was persuaded to try TI by members Mikah Goldman and Alex Berg, making the Goldman/Bergs the TI Magnet Member Family of the Month. Jamie and Malki have found TI a comfortable fit for their family, and they have been enjoying the lively tot Shabbat scene as well as Shabbat Kiddush lunch. Jamie brews his own beer, and the whole family loves cooking and food.

Social Action

Larry Baizer

"If I am not for myself, then who will be for me? And if I am only for myself, what am I? And if not now, when?" - Rabbi Hillel

For half a century, TI members have been actively involved in societal and community issues. At TI, Tikkun Olam means engaging with our communities in 'hands on' activities by families or individuals. Join us, whether one time or frequently, one activity or a variety, for credit or personal commitment or desire for change. There are many choices!

The Social Action Committee has actively promoted social justice for over 40 years. The number and types of projects have evolved over the years, and we have identified these projects through the efforts of individual congregants. Accordingly, the committee continually hopes to attract new individuals with new ideas.

Consider lending your expertise and commitment to the committee so we can continue Tl's proud tradition of Tikkun Olam! URL for signing up for projects online: https://docs.google.com/forms/d/12ZpIDSY5hLqCTCsBvJWVkayFjAq-OkTp6Tk6jtRt-6l/viewform

Rosh Hashanah or Passover Food Delivery

Help brighten a family's holiday by helping to deliver dozens of bags of groceries to Jewish seniors, immigrants and others in need.

Contacts: Larry Baizer (Ibaizer@yahoo.com) or Gene Herman (Gene511@aol.com)

Martha's Table: Monthly Van Run

Serve dinner to homeless men and women on the streets of downtown Washington, in partnership with Martha's Table (MT). On the 2nd Sunday of each month, we drive the MT van and stop at two locations. Another opportunity is working with MT as they provide children, youth and families with educational programs, food and clothing.

Contact: Gene Herman (gene511@aol.com)

December Holiday Dinners for the Homeless

Volunteers from Tifereth Israel and Adat Shalom help provide a joyous Christmas meal in four DC men's and women's shelters. Volunteers are needed for food preparation, distribution and serving.

Luther Place Dinners

Cook and serve dinner to 20-30 women in a shelter. This is a great family activity one Sunday a month at Luther Place Church's "N Street Village". Dinner becomes more satisfying for all.

Contact: Marjorie Siegel (Marjorie.siegel@verizon.net)

SOME Shelter Casseroles

Once a month, we provide lunch for the shelter operated by So Others Might Eat (SOME). We give you the recipe to bake a casserole. If you think you can fire up your oven, even if only once a year, then you can volunteer!

Food and Clothing Collections

We collect food, clothing and other items throughout the year. We need your help with planning, publicizing, collecting sorting and delivering. There's something for every interest in this project.

Contact: Jeri Roth Lande (rothland@erols.com)

Shepherd School Tutoring

Since 2000, adults and teenagers from TI and the Shepherd Park neighborhood have tutored students from our local public elementary school. Each tutor is paired with a young student (grade 2-6) for the school year. The pair meets one hour each week on Sunday afternoons at the synagogue to read, practice math skills, or review homework. The weekly hour can make a tremendous difference in the academic performance of participating students by boosting their self-confidence and strengthening skills learned in school — a very high rate of return on volunteer service.

Contact: shepherdtutoringprogram@gmail.com

Food Banks

Increasing numbers of people are not able to afford basic food necessities and require assistance in putting food on their tables. This assistance is provided by local food banks where donated food is distributed to the needy. Local food banks collect a variety of food from different sources and need help in sorting and organizing the food for distribution. Volunteers typically pack and sort non-perishable food items but may perform other duties. Volunteers may also participate in a food collection drive at TI and help deliver the collected items directly to a food bank.

Himmelfarb & Chai School Happenings

Rina Rebibo

Goodbye summer, Hello Himmelfarb!

It seems like it was just yesterday that we were celebrating the last day of Hebrew school, yet here we are gearing up for a new year. Our first day of Himmelfarb & Chai School is Sunday September 10th.

Before Sunday the 10th, we look forward to seeing everyone at the 'Back To School' Shabbat Dinner on Friday, September 8th. TI's teens will lead Kabbalat Shabbat at 6:30 PM, followed by dinner at 7:30 PM and a fun trivia night for adults and game night for youth at 8:30 PM! Reserve your spot by September 5th at: https://tiferethdc.shulcloud.com/event/sept2017

At 9:15 AM on Sunday September 10th, Rabbi Seidel will start our first day of school in the Wolman Sanctuary with Shaharit for Himmelfarb students. Parents are invited to attend and then stay for Parent Orientation in the Library from 9:45-11:00. Whether you are new to the school or been here for years — you are encouraged to attend this meeting. We will go over all you need to know for this year, learn about the PTA, and of course have coffee & bagels!

This year we are adding two classes: a 10th grade confirmation class as well as an 11th/12th grade seminar. Both will meet one Sunday evening a month after Shepherd Park Tutoring. The 10th grade class will be held at TI and pizza dinner will be served. Rina Rebibo is looking forward to learning with the teens about Contemporary Anti-Semitism.

To enroll your 10th grader go to:

https://tiferethdc.shulcloud.com/school2017. The 11/12th graders will meet at Kaldis for a relaxed 'Konversations at Kaldi'. For more information, email Rina at rina@tifereth-israel.org

New on Wednesdays

This year 3rd - 6th grade will begin their afternoon at Himmelfarb with an opening tefilla led by Morah Silvia, after they will participate in a special Chug and continue learning with their Hebrew/Tefilla teacher. During the year, each grade will be taking Art with Fylis Peckham and Storytelling/Drama with Lisa Blumenthal.

Please welcome to our team

Rachel Meytin, (Kitah Daled). Rachel, her wife Sarah and children Ruthie and Coby are members of TI. Rachel is also a master educator, non-profit manager, service-learning advocate, and general Jewish community professional. Rachel holds a MAEd and an MBA from American Jewish University in Los Angeles and a BA from Boston University as well as graduate-level advanced certification in service-learning through NYLC and the University of Wisconsin.

Fylis Peckham, (Art Chug). Fylis is an active member of Tl and coordinated the Mosaic Wall that graces the Himmelfarb Staircase. During the year, Fylis works for PG County schools d as an art teacher and has been teaching in Hebrew schools locally since 2005. Fylis has a BA in Hebrew and Middle Easter Studies and a Masters in Early Childhood & Elementary Education from NYU.

Tara Hanau, (Chai School). Tara recently moved to DC after graduating from University of Binghamton with a BA in Human Development. Originally from Boston, Tara is excited to be joining our team and is looking forward to sharing her passion for Judaism with our teens.

Speaking of our faculty, we are pleased to announce our 2016-17 faculty:

Gan: Silvia Edenburg Alef: Rachel Lemberg Bet: Eti Bardack

Gimel: Hindy ShulmanDaled: Rachel Meytin

Hey & Vav Judaics: Stephen Berer Jr. Chai (7th): Rabbi Seidel Chai (8th & 9th): Tara Hanou

Confirmation (10th grade): Rina Rebibo

Important Upcoming Dates

Friday, September 8th: Back to School Shabbat Dinner - Open to all members of TI!

Sunday, September 10th: First day of school for Gan (Kindergarten) –Jr. Chai (7th Grade) & Chai School (8th & 9th Grade) students.

Sunday September 10th: After Tefilla, from approximately 9:45 – 11:00, parents are invited to join Rina for bagels and coffee in the Library. This is an opportunity to meet new parents, see old friends, hear what we have in store for the year, and learn how you can get involved and some other special surprises!

Sunday September 17th: Jeremy Goldberg Clean Up Day. For part of the morning, students will be participating in helping the synagogue get ready for the High Holidays.

Sunday September 24th: Annual Sukkah Build — Each class goes to a private home to perform the mitzvah of building a sukkah.

TI to Join Friendship Place Committee

David Cohen

At its July meeting, the Social Action Committee agreed to send a TI representative to the Congregations Committee of Friendship Place (FP), perhaps the premier homeless program provider in the DC metro area. TI would join four other synagogues -- Adas Israel, Washington Hebrew, Temple Micah and Temple Sinai – who are among the 22 congregations participating in the Congregations Committee. Representatives from that committee comprise a quarter of the members of FP's board of directors.

Friendship Place is a growing community-based nonprofit organization that operates an annual budget of $11 million – 80% from government grants (DC, Housing & Urban Development, Veterans Affairs) and 20% from foundations and individual contributions. Its staff of nearly 100 serves over 3,000 homeless or potentially homeless men, women and children.

Friendship Place provides a wide range of programs meeting the needs of both individuals and families, including: outreach and hospitality for people living on the street or in shelters; rapid rehousing; permanent supportive housing; employment readiness and job placement and development; and special initiatives for the youth and LBGT communities. In its early years FP operated only in Ward 3, but it now provides services and housing throughout the entire District. Its programs for veterans and their families also operate in the Maryland and Virginia suburbs.

As a retiree, I have been active at Friendship Place for over 20 years. I am in my last of some 16 years as a member of its board of directors, served on its Executive Committee for many years, and am still an active member of its Program Committee, which I chaired for 10 years. I am therefore enthusiastic about the prospect of TI's joining FP's extended congregational and community family.

The Social Action Committee is seeking a volunteer (and possibly an alternate) to serve as TI's representative on FP's Congregations Committee. The committee meets in the evening (usually over supper!) about four times a year. It sponsors clothing drives during the summer and winter and an annual clergy breakfast. Besides attending committee meetings, congregational representatives are expected to keep their clergy and congregational members apprised of Friendship Place programs and initiatives, and encourage congregational support and participation.

If you would like to volunteer to be TI's representative to the committee, please contact Gene Herman at gene511@aol.com or Claudine Schweber at pariscs@gmail.com. If you would like more information about Friendship Place and its Congregations Committee, please contact me at davidmcohen37@verizon.net, or at 301-652-2872.

Gevarim Full Moon Hike

On July 9 (15th of Tammuz), 15 Tl'ers and a total of four children and grandchildren participated in a Gevarim Full Moon Hike. It was a lovely summer night. Chocolate treats at the half way point of the approximately 3 mile hike along Rock Creek were appreciated by all.

Along the way we saw the summer flowers and foliage in Rock Creek Park and several deer. As it happened, the moon rose above the tree line after we finished the hike. So, the hikers vowed to look up and enjoy the full, silvery moon back at their homes.

Look for the announcement of the next Full Moon Hike. All we know now is that it will fall in the middle of a lunar month.

Thanks to those who gave me suggestions for books to purchase. Here are some of them:

- The JPS B'nai Mitzvah Torah Commentary by Rabbi Jeffrey K. Salkin
- My Guardian Angel by Sylvie Weil, about Elvina, the granddaughter of Rashi, in medieval France during the First Crusade. Elvina's Mirror is a sequel, in which Elvina defies her community to help a friend in need.
- The first love story: Adam, Eve, and Us by Bruce Feiler
- Last Things: A Graphic Memoir of Love and Loss by Marissa Moss
- You are the Book: A Spiritual Memoir by R. Tamara Miller. I admit that I'm prejudiced, since I know Tamara. And, I think most people will agree that this in an inspiring story of a woman who has faced many challenges with grace, courage, and resilience and writes about them with honesty and humor.

Yom Kippur is coming soon, so I admit to a mea culpa: in the last Menorah I said that the following new books were on the shelves marked New Acquisitions in the lobby outside the Emsellem Room. They weren't then; they are now!

Renana and Bob Rovinsky's kids are on the move. Neshama has transferred and will enter her junior year at the University of Maryland and Neilah is entering the University of Vermont's school of Education and Social Services, where she will be part of Vermont's Honors College. Bob is busy balancing four part time jobs and his storytelling, while also visiting his mom in Philadelphia - she is now in her 100th year. Renana is busy taking courses in preparation for changing the focus of her practice as a psychologist, so watch for her transformation.

Fylis Peckham reports that Rachel Peckham will be completing her final semester at Emerson Los Angeles campus this fall. She will be working on a documentary film as an intern with a woman owned company in LA. She will graduate in December cum laude after completing her BA in three and a half years.

Arthur and Diane Friedman report that Zoë Friedman, in May, ran the 3200 m race in several track and field meets for Montgomery Blair High School. Zoë finished third in the Montgomery County Track & Field Championships, Matthew Neimark, son of Dana and Sheridan, completed two medical fellowships in neuroradiology and interventional radiology from Montefiore Medical Center, and has begun a clinical practice with Capital Health Regional Medical Center in south/central New Jersey. Matthew received an MD/PhD from Columbia University and completed a residency in radiology from SUNY Downstate. The family, wife Dikla and children Binyamin, Noa, and Frieda, is relocating to Highland Park, NJ.

Eli Spector, grandson of Sheridan and Dana Neimark and son of Rebecca Neimark, graduated in May from Connecticut Wesleyan University with a BS in Biochemistry and Molecular Biology. He is working as a patient navigator/advocate at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia.

Two decades ago, Eli became well known to members of TI, when, for a year, he accompanied his grandparents to weekly Shabbat services. Occasionally, as he crawled down the aisle, Eli found a welcoming congregant's lap in which to take a nap. Madeline Nesse, zt"l was a favorite.

Alan Landay reports that he has taken a couple of trips recently. The last week in June he went to the music and arts camp "Common Ground on the Hill," at McDaniel College. This is a whole lot of fun; nothing to do but play & listen to music and experience various visual arts. Classes included mountain dulcimer and Appalachian flatfooting (aka "clogging.")

In July, Alan went to San Francisco. He did a sight-seeing tour by running around the city Another day, he rode a rented bike across the Golden Gate Bridge to Sausalito, and returned by way of a ferry ride. That was a great day (gorgeous weather & scenery); especially because the usual high winds on the Golden Gate bridge did not blow him into San Francisco Bay.

Alan's brother Jay visited in August. They went to a comedy show/ play by Happenstance Theatre, a troupe whose shows he really enjoys.

Dina Kraft, daughter of Michael and Lisa, is returning to Israel for a "sabbatical year" and will write for Haaretz and for the Christian Science Monitor. Dina was an Associated Press correspondent in Israel and later, after two years for AP in southern Africa, returned to Israel and wrote for the Jewish Telegraph Agency and later for the New York Times and Times of London. She and her husband, Gilad Rosenzweig, lived in Cambridge for several years since she received a Nieman Fellowship at Harvard. Gilad, a Canadian born architect, meanwhile earned a master's degree in urban planning at MIT. While based in Israel, Gilad will continue working for MIT on urban projects in the region and Europe and Dina will retain her links with Northeastern University where she helped develop a new program in digital journalism. Their two children, Mia, 10, and Lev, 7, both Sabras, have been brushing up their Hebrew.

Mike and Lisa meanwhile have been traveling a fair bit:- in August to son Daniel's home in Menlo Park, CA, to celebrate Mike's 80th birthday with the whole family, plus a few glorious, sunny, temperate days at Lake Tahoe which included the traditional Kraft family annual horseback ride.

In May they toured Sicily, Lyon and Paris. In France they focused on museums and sites related to the World War II deportation of Jews and of the French Resistance. In between, they drove to Pittsburgh for the Bar Mitzvah of the grandson of former TI members, Aron and Karen Primack and to Burlington, VT, for the Bat Mitzvah of the granddaughter of former TI members, Doug and Joy Bloomfield. Before the trips, Mike completed and turned over to the publisher the draft for his third book, an overview of the US government's counterterrorism challenges and responses from the Nixon administration to the early days of the Trump administration.

In August, Barbara and Howard White attended the National Havurah Institute and, as usual, had a great time. Barbara had two welcome surprises: reconnecting with her roommate from sophomore year at college and with another Brandeis classmate. A few weeks later, they accompanied their son, Avi, and his family to Nashville for Eclipse Monday. The eclipse was spectacular, and the trip was well worth it.

Dergraychungn (Accomplishments)

Just in time for her 70th birthday Carolivia Herron has accepted a teaching position at Howard University, in whose hospital she was born 7 decades ago. Carolivia will be Adjunct Professor of Classics and will teach courses in European, Asian and African epic poetry.

TI President Stan Dorn has a new job. He is a Senior Fellow at Families USA, one of the nation's leading health care consumer organizations.

Simcha Kuritzky placed the maximum allowed four exhibits at the American Numismatic Association's World's Fair of Money show in Denver. For the first time in ANA history, all four placed first in their class. Exhibit topics were Israel's gold coins, pidyon haben ingots, Israel fantasy gold coins, and engraved coins of the three Abrahamic faiths.

Paula Flicker has completed knitting a project known as "The Endless Black Sweater". As the name implies, she has been working on this project for several years, start date unknown. However, do not expect to see her in an all-black cardigan. This is a black cardigan with grey trim: she ran out of the discontinued yarn and only was able to obtain additional yarn in grey.

For the last 5 years, Jeff Peterman has worked for a San Diego biotech company, and his job has taken him to 18 cities in the US and 7 countries, and he has spent roughly 600 nights in hotels. On August 21st, he started a new job with a Maryland biotech company, where he will work in the their Germantown office. Cynthia is looking forward to having him at home every night again.

And Hopeful Ones

Seth Grimes is running for an atlarge seat on the Montgomery County Council. Seth and his wife Franca Brilliant have been TI members for over 20 years. Their children went to TI Hebrew School and became b'nei mitzvot here. Seth is also a frequent TI Torah reader and current TI board member.

A long time community activist, he's board vice chair at Shepherd's Table, a member of the Montgomery County Board of Social Services, and a cofounder of the Takoma Park Mobilization. Seth served on the Takoma Park City Council where he was a strong advocate for the environment – his work led to a county-wide ban on cosmetic lawn care pesticides.

For more information contact Seth at seth.grimes@gmail.com or 301-873-8225. His website will be http://sethgrimes.org, Primary date is June 26, 2018.

Yachad Sukkot in Spring

Yachad brings communities together by preserving affordable homes and revitalizing neighborhoods throughout DC and the greater metropolitan area. Volunteers can participate in "Sukkot in Spring", a program in in which synagogues and other Jewish community groups make repairs in a home alongside the homeowners.

Advocacy

There are several ongoing and evolving issues which affect our community and country. We are concerned about preserving the environment, preventing gun violence, sheltering refugees, and promoting gender equality, voting rights and healthcare. We have identified several organizations that work to promote these causes. We invite congregants to take a role in one or more of these organizations as well as informing and/or mobilizing congregational attention and support for these efforts

Save the date! New Program Coming Soon!

On Tuesday, November 4, Rabbi Devorah Lynn and Michele Sumka will be offering a Jewish Silent Meditation Retreat at Sanctuary, the Am Kolel Retreat Center in Beallsville, MD. It will include instruction and practice on several different styles of meditation, in a beautiful, peaceful setting.

Stay tuned for more information!

Gevarim

Andrew Reamer

As part of the annual S'lichot program, the documentary "Fire Lines" will be shown on Saturday, September 16, at 9:30 PM in the Cherner Auditorium. The 42-minute film tells the story of the Palestinian and Israeli firefighters who set politics and history aside in order to join forces to battle Israel's worst natural disaster - the Carmel fire of December 2010. Attendance is free.

Video Course: The World of Biblical Judaism

Gevarim and the Adult Education Committee present "The World of Biblical Judaism," a set of video lectures by Professor Cynthia Chapman (Oberlin College) provided through Great Courses. The inaugural session will be on Sunday, September 24, in the Mollie Berch Library. Two lectures -- "Biblical Israel—The Story of a People" and "By the Rivers of Babylon—Exile" -- will be shown from 10:30-11:30 AM and will be followed by discussion until 12:15 PM. The course is facilitated by Allan Tulchin, Adult Ed Committee chair and Shippensburg University history professor. Lectures will be presented once or twice a month through June 2018. See the Shulcloud calendar for future dates.

After taking August off so busy members could devote their reading hours to beach books without guilt (what, no guilt during the season of repentance?), the KN Book Club meets on September 12th to share books and pick readings for the year.

Books should have some Jewish interest, support discussion, and be the right length to finish in a month. We alternate fiction and non-fiction.

It's great if the book is easily available at local libraries, but that's not a requirement.

So bring your favorites and be prepared to convince the group that they are worth reading. If past readings have not been to your taste, this is your chance to change that.

All are welcome. Bring your book ideas to the home of Varda Fink and Stan Grabia. We start at 7:30 and go until 9pm

Please RSVP to knbook@tifereth-israel.org so Varda and Stan can scale the snacks.

Here are a few of the books I'm planning to present:

The Bus Driver Who Wanted to be God, by Etgar Keret. Bizarre and wonderful short stories by an acclaimed Israeli author.

After the Fire, by Lauren Belfer. What if the libretto of a newly discovered Bach cantata revealed something disturbing? Fiction.

American Jews, a History, by Jonathan Sarna. Lively overview.

Sons and Soldiers: The Untold Story of the Jews Who Escaped the Nazis and Returned with the U.S. Army to Fight Hitler, by Bruce Henderson.

Marriage of Opposites, by Alice Hoffman. Historical novel about a Jewish woman who became the mother of artist Camille Pissarro.

The Undoing Project, a Friendship that Changed Our Minds, by Michael. Nonfiction about the deep collabora-

TI Collection

Thanks so much for everyone's generous contributions of books. We are certainly a well-read congregation.

The new collection is fall and winter clothing for Shepherd's Table.

- All clothing should be in good condition.
- Suitable for fall or winter only
- Clothes for men, women or children
- NO underwear

Note — The collection bin has moved to the elevator lobby (on the left as you go from the Juniper Street entrance to the sanctuary).

This collection ends on Sunday, October 15.

A Woman in Jerusalem, novel by A.B. Yehoshua.

B'nei Mitzvah

My name is Ari Kefer, and my bar mitzvah is on September 2nd. My parashah is Ki Tetzei. My favorite part of my parashah is when the words in the Torah explain the law about getting the mother bird away from the nest before you take her eggs.

I am a rising eighth grader, who goes to North Bethesda Middle School. I play a variety of sports, which include baseball, soccer, and basketball (with TI's basketball team). My favorite sport is baseball, because I really like bonding with my teammates.

I have one younger brother, who plays the drums. My dad is a psychologist, and my mom is an environmental lawyer. I love traveling with my family, which we do often!

My bar mitzvah project is volunteering at the Charles E. Smith community center. Every Tuesday, I go there to play Rummy Qub with an "adopted grandmother." I look forward to seeing her every week, and I think she enjoys seeing me too.

I am really looking forward to becoming a bar mitzvah!!!

Hello! My name is Andi Gunther and my Bat Mitzvah is going to be on September 9th.

I have 2 cats, one named Daisy, and one named Coco. I love Harry Potter, books and movies. I live right outside of DC, in Silver Spring. My parents are Lisa Goldberg and Stefan Gunther.

Throughout 7th grade, I worked to raise awareness about LGBTQIAP+ (Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Queer, Intersex, Asexual, Pansexual and others) issues in my school as my Bat Mitzvah project. I hope to see you as I become b'nei mitzvah'ed!

TI Marches in the Takoma Park July 4th Parade

An enthusiastic group of marchers represented TI in the one-of-a-kind Takoma Park Independence Day parade. No other group of marchers had a rabbi on a unicycle, and no other group had such adorable T-shirts. Thanks to the photographers, and to Susan Catler who organized the group and collected the photos.
