Message from Rabbi Jeremy Donath

In Parshat Acharei Mot (17:3-5), the Torah introduces us to the concept of sh'chutei chutz, the notion that one is not permitted to offer any korbanot outside of the prescribed place of worship, the Mishkan. The Torah tells us that there is a legitimate concern that people will want to offer various korbanot in their backyards and not come to the mikdash. To that mistaken idea, the Torah explains the purpose of the prohibition is lema'an asher ya'viu bnei yisrael et zivcheihem ve'havium el Hashem el pe'tach ohel moed el ha'Kohein, to ensure that people bring their korbanot to the designated, centralized location of worship.

The Torah goes on to describe the punishment for someone who offers a korban outside of the mikdash as: ve'nichrat ha'ish ha'hu m'kerev amo, the person who violates this commandment is cut off from the nation. The very notion of kareit is stressed once again in verse 9: v'nichrat ha'ish ha'hu mei'amav, he is cut off from his nation.

Rav Soloveitchik points out the concept of kareit is not usually a stand alone concept, but is often associated with a function of being cut off from the people. See Shemos (12:19). Rav Soloveitchik points out that there is great significance in the Torah's choice of punishment for someone who offers korbanot outside of the mikdash. Someone who offers a korban outside of the mikdash is cut off from the nation, not so much as a punishment, but rather as an indication of their mindset of being separate from the collective whole. Being cut off from the people through the punishment of kareit is the natural consequence of someone who sees themselves apart from the collective unity. The ultimate goal of a Jew is actually just the opposite, to view themselves and all of their actions as an expression of the community.

When it comes to this year's Darchei Noam dinner honorees, each of the honored couples embody the notion of community and represent what it means to have one's actions express their shared partnership in the functioning of the community.

Abe and Ronna Adler have been a part of the Darchei Noam community since the shul's inception. Abe, a Vice President of the shul, has been the Gabbai since the inception of the shul in 2006, organizing the smooth functioning of tefillah and for years also arranged for people to speak at seudat shlishit. It would be nearly impossible to run the shul on a day to day basis without Abe. Ronna is one of the original board members, played a major role in the original design of the building, and has always been one of the first to offer to arrange youth events and programming throughout the years.

Josh and Rena Steinberg were the first couple of the younger generation to join the shul. They became part of the Darchei community well before any of the growth that has blossomed in recent years. They were drawn to the warmth of the shul, and became part and parcel of the fabric of the shul. Their daughters Hannah and Na'ama practically were the youth of the shul for a number of years, and they literally grew up with the shul. We look forward to Hillel Natan joining the groups. It goes without saying that Kiddush and every social gathering of the shul would not be the same without the tremendous contribution of the Steinberg's and Zeide's Bakeshop.

In this mitzvah of Sh'chutei chutz, the Torah emphasizes the significance of centralized spaces for worship where Jews of all types can come together. Such centralized spaces like the mikdash are integral for creating a nation, and places like our own shul, Darchei Noam play a central role in uniting us all and creating a sense of community. The concept of kareit teaches us that we aren't supposed to be apart from the community, but we can follow the example of this year's honorees and strive to embody what it means to live as an expression of "Community."

Message from President Mark Moerdler

Today is our third Darchei Noam Dinner, which marks another milestone for the Darchei Noam community. We recognize two families, Ronna and Abe Adler and Rena and Josh Steinberg just as we are about to put shovels in the ground on a massive expansion of our facilities. The juxtaposition of these two events, the dinner and the groundbreaking, is not simply happenstance. Our honorees have been core to the growth of our shul and our community, and it is due to their work that the expansion is happening.

Ronna and Abe Adler were among the founding families and members of the board of Congregation Darchei Noam. They have been involved in so many ways and are such an integral part of what our congregation is. Ronna was a member of the design committee when we initially moved into our permanent location at 10-04 Alexander and is yet again involved in the design of the new expanded and enhanced facilities. She has participated and helped organize many events at Darchei Noam and has always been willing to step in and help whenever and wherever needed. Abe has been the gabbai of the shul for over five years and a member of the ritual committee from its inception. It has been due to Abe's hard work that everything runs so smoothly during davening throughout the week.

Rena and Josh Steinberg, recipients of our Bonei Yerushalayim Award, have been trendsetters, joining Darchei Noam at the forefront of the younger generation of members. They have always led from in-front, stepping up to help the shul flourish and grow. It was Rena and Josh who were there to welcome those trying out Darchei Noam and Fair Lawn. Rena has been a member of numerous committees including the welcoming and chesed committees. Josh is always there to lend a hand and without the contributions of the Steinberg's and Zadie's Bakeshop, our Kiddushim and social events would not be as enjoyable. The Steinbergs' participation extends to the next generation of the family with Hannah and Naama's involvement in our Youth programming and adding joy and energy to the community. It has been wonderful to watch them grow up. Now we all look forward to Hillel joining the community and expect that he, too, will add to the warmth of the Darchei Noam community.

There is no way that the community could properly express its gratitude for what these two couples and their families have done and all they have given of themselves. Without them, there would not be the Darchei Noam community we have today, for they have both given of themselves in so many ways that are an example for the rest of us. As we embark on the next stage in our Shul's evolution, having the support of these two couples gives me the confidence that we can succeed and the community will prosper.

Thank you very much for all of your contributions and Mazel Tov for what you have accomplished.

The 2016 Dinner Honorees

Ronna and Abe Adler

Ronna and Abe Adler are founding members of our Shul. They moved from Forest Hills to Fair Lawn in July of 1985, four months before their daughter Yaffi was born. They took a chance on Fair Lawn and have never looked back. Ronna and Abe are special for so many reasons.

Although they both hold down demanding jobs, they continue to give their all to family and community. Abe is a Managing Director of Global Market Systems at BNY Mellon in Manhattan, a member of Darchei Noam's board, one of the current Vice Presidents, and a gabbai at our Shul since its inception. Ronna is the office manager at Congregation Adas Israel in Passaic, and has been involved with Darchei Noam's building construction and current expansion, advising on many administrative and organizational matters. She has also served on previous Dinner Committees and other fundraising projects.

Ronna and Abe are also doting and loving parents to Yaffi and Moti Loterstein, and proud grandparents to Uri. They continuously demonstrate the delicate balance of Kibud Av V'em for their parents - respecting the needs and wishes of family while at the same time fulfilling the needs of the community. They are always the first to step up to organize things or fill in for someone when needed.

Please join us in recognizing Ronna and Abe Adler, who are so deserving of being honored at our Shul dinner this year.

The Adler Family

Bonei Yerushalayim Award

Rena and Josh Steinberg

Rena and Josh are this year's recipients of the Bonei Yerushalayim award. They have lived in Fair Lawn for nearly ten years and have been coming to Darchei Noam since the shul's first week in our current location.

Rena and Josh truly personify the warmth and generosity of Darchei Noam. Their efforts have helped grow our community. They are always there to step up for anything that is needed. Both Josh and Rena work in Fair Lawn and contribute greatly to the community at large, Josh at the much beloved Zadie's Bakery and Rena as a morah at Anshei Lubavitch Preschool.

In addition to many generous donations of baked goods over the years, Rena and Josh have hosted visitors, served on committees, and helped create our youth program. Together with their children Hannah, Naama, and Hillel, the Steinbergs always have a warm welcome for everyone who comes to Darchei Noam.

Join us in thanking Rena and Josh Steinberg just as warmly at this year's dinner.

Darchei Noam's relationship
With our beloved

Rabbi Jeremy and Shira Donath

It is no coincidence that we are blessed
With their leadership and friendship.
May we all continue to grow together.

Thank you for always being there for our family and for the Kehilla
Ronna and Abe

To Mark, Harvey,
The Building and Design Committee and those fundraising for the project

On behalf of the entire shul, we thank you for the countless hours and effort that you are spending to enlarge and enhance Darchei Noam. We look forward to sharing in the fruits of your labor soon.
Just build it and they will come!!
