

Torah Teaser (Answer)

When the Kohen performs the commandment of terumas hadeshen, removing of a portion of the previous day's ashes from the altar, he first removes his finer clothing and puts on other clothing (Leviticus 6:4). During the Temple service on Yom Kippur (detailed in parashat Acharai Mot), the High Priest removes his regular eight garments and instead wears plain white linen clothing. This was done whenever he entered the Holy of Holies. When the service is finished, he would remove the white linen garments and puts on his eight garments (Leviticus 16:23).
