Counting Our Blessing at Shavuot

Why is it that “two’s company” and “three’s a crowd?” After all, in math, three points are needed to create a stable plane. But in life, three can sometimes be a tricky number to manage. Two of the three can appear more significant, leaving the third to be the proverbial “odd person out.” We read that in the Biblical time there were three major holy days – Passover, Shavuot and Sukkot. Known as the three pilgrimage festivals, these were the holy times of the year when Israelites made the trip from their homes to the holy Temple in Jerusalem. These three were the major agricultural festivals – marking the harvest of first grains after Winter (Passover), first fruits in the Spring (Shavuot), and the final major harvest of the field (Sukkot). Started at a time when we were primarily an agrarian society, it is understandable that these three holidays were more significant than any other – even over Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur.

While grouped as three, two stood out for their length of observance. Passover and Sukkot are both 7 day festivals, while Shavuot is only one day. Marking the start of the annual harvest and its final conclusion, Passover and Sukkot were the bookends for the agricultural season. When our ancestors shifted away from agriculture – Passover and Sukkot remained major holidays with lengthy observances. Passover focused on the story of the Exodus, and Sukkot became a Jewish version of Thanksgiving.

Despite being only one day, the Rabbis wanted Shavuot to remain as important. They shifted the story of the holiday from first harvested fruits, to revelation at Sinai. The Sages explained that the seven weeks counted off from Passover to Shavuot symbolized the amount of time that passed from the moment we became redeemed from Egypt until the giving of the Ten Commandments at Sinai. Shavuot thus became a festival of study and learning. Some communities embraced the mystical notion that on the night of revelation at Mount Sinai, one has more access to the Divine through study. They began the ritual of tikkun leil Shavuot, studying texts throughout the night.

The weeks leading up to Shavuot are counted off one day at a time with the ritual of counting omer. Once a way to mark time between agricultural events, the counting now became a time to prepare oneself for revelation. Each day making an accounting of our own actions and readying ourselves to be partners with the Holy One. This year we are engaging in our own counting, doing mitzvot to prepare ourselves for the festival of Shavuot and revelation. The Tikkun Olam Volunteers have organized a series of activities titled, “Counting our Blessings – A Journey to Shavuot.” Volunteer opportunities to count our blessings will include working with Empty Bowls, Meals of Hope, Café of Life, Meals on Wheels, the Baker Senior Center, Bikes for Tykes, Habitat for Humanity, and Harry Chapin Food Bank. With each activity, we will repair our world and be more prepared to for that moment at Sinai. Spaces will be limited – so watch your email for the chance to sign up.

May our preparations for Shavuot this year lead us to not only count our blessings, but to add to the blessings of those around us.

Passover has always been a time for gathering and reflecting on Judaism's commitment to freedom and social justice. For many families, Passover is a time steeped in tradition. The Haggadah that is used to tell the story of the Jews' Exodus from Egypt, like the recipes that complement the Passover meal, has often been passed down from generation to generation.

In recent years, Jews have created new Seder rituals and themes, updated the Haggadah, and incorporated new traditions, in order to make their celebration of the holiday more meaningful. Innovations in the Haggadah and what is included on the Seder plate are certainly valuable for keeping things fresh at the Seder while still sticking to the centuries-old script.

For those of you who want to make your Passover Seder a little more interesting, meaningful, or just plain different, here are some ideas for you to keep the young and old interested. Mix one or more together!

- Prepare children and grandchildren far in advance for the Seder so that they will look forward to it with eager anticipation.
- Invite someone who has nowhere else to go. It is an important mitzvah to do so, and an act of great kindness.
- Invite children or grandchildren to act out the plagues.
- Have all the adults look for the afikomen. They aren't motivated? Show them a prize such as a fine bottle of wine or chocolates!
- Have a dessert tasting. Have everyone bring a dessert for Passover and compare.
- Give blank paper and crayons to children and have them draw their own stories.
- Play Jeopardy Seder. Give answers to the Passover story, and have guests ask questions about the story.
- Try a different culture. Serve only Ashkenazi or Sephardic food and include cultural habits. For variety, try Turkish or Chinese food and learn about the Jews in those or other countries.
- Have a wine tasting during the meal. Each one of the four cups is a different variety.
- Charoset around the world tour. Serve different charoset from different Jewish cultures around the world.

Here is my mom's Persian Charoset recipe:

1 unpeeled pear, cored and finely chopped
1 unpeeled apple, cored and finely chopped
1 cup finely chopped walnuts
1 cup finely chopped almonds
1 cup finely chopped hazelnuts
1 cup finely chopped pistachio nuts

1 cup chopped pitted dates
1 cup chopped raisins
2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
2 teaspoons grated ginger root
1 tablespoon apple cider vinegar
Sweet red wine

Combine pear, apple, walnuts, almonds, hazelnuts, pistachio nuts, dates and raisins in a large bowl, and blend well, being careful not to chop the mixture into a paste. Add cinnamon, ginger root, cider vinegar and enough wine to bind.

Temple Shalom Preschool and YESh students are getting very excited to celebrate Passover this month!

For weeks now the students have been preparing for the holiday with songs, food, crafts and dramatic play. On Sunday, April 2, students in YESh will enjoy a special Chocolate Seder led by myself and Miss Jane Galler. This annual tradition has become beloved and one that our students wait for all year! Instead of the traditional seder foods, students will enjoy a whole seder experience with chocolate seder alternatives. Instead of 4 cups of grape juice, students will enjoy 4 small cups of chocolate milk. Instead of matzah, students will have chocolate covered matzah, and so on! By adding the element of chocolate into the seder, students experience the excitement of the holiday and have a positive association with the seder ritual.

From our rabbinic literature, we learn that Rabbi Akiba would give treats and snacks to his children during the seder so that they would not fall asleep, and would take an interest in the seder. A chocolate filled seder is surely a good way to keep children's attention!

If you want to also enjoy a chocolate seder at home (or even do a chocolate seder instead of a traditional one!), you may access the Chocolate Haggadah here: <https://tinyurl.com/chocolatesederhaggadah>. Listed in the Haggadah are all of the chocolate substitutions for the traditional seder foods. We wish you and your family a wonderful Passover holiday and look forward to hearing how you enjoyed the chocolate seder experience!

LEADERSHIP MESSAGE

Executive Director
Deborah Fidel

Lately, it seems like I am giving a tour of Temple Shalom to prospective members almost every day. When I show visitors our beautiful Sanctuary and Social Hall, I tell them about our inspiring and beautiful erev Shabbat services, before walking them into the Social Hall, where I brag about our onegs. I explain that many of our congregants simply make Friday nights at Temple Shalom a part of their routine that they look forward to all week, staying at Temple after services, loading up plates of homemade desserts and visiting with their Jewish friends. When an oneg is sponsored in honor of a special occasion, there are extra touches to make it even more festive.

How does this happen each week? There are no oneg fairies. We all owe a deep debt of gratitude to the women of the Sisterhood who have been baking, cutting, arranging, setting up and cleaning up after the oneg for decades. The “oneg ladies” bake and shop each week, come to Temple to cut fruit and arrange platters each Friday morning. After services, they stay until 10:00pm, carefully wrapping and storing leftovers. During the summer months, they prep the savory “pre-neg” before the early Friday night service. Generations of women have made it look effortless, but trust me, it is A LOT OF WORK. Imagine making a party each week for anywhere from 100-300 of your best friends!!

As our congregation has grown, so has the oneg and the effort behind it. Sisterhood cannot shoulder the burden alone anymore.

How can you help?

Do you like to bake? You can bake at home and bring in your goodies any time you are at Temple. OR....if you prefer not to dirty your own kitchen, you can sign up for one of our “Baking Days” at Temple Shalom. Better yet, organize a group of friends to come and bake something together at Temple!

More of a shopper than a baker? That’s cool. We love stuff from local bakeries and even store-bought treats too.

Do you have time on Friday mornings to help set up? (Someone has to sample the cookies, right?)

If none of that sounds appealing, but you recognize and appreciate the importance of onegs to building community and relationships, please consider sponsoring an oneg or donating to the oneg fund.

Have no fear, our onegs will continue to be awesome! But if we want to keep the “haimish” homemade feel, we need your help.

Visit the oneg page on the Temple Shalom website and complete the form to let us know how you would like to be an oneg volunteer. www.naplestemple.org/form/Oneg-volunteers

Mitzvah Day Project: Baking Dog Biscuits

by Marcy Aizenshtat

People take care of people in most disaster events. Our furry friends often get left behind.

I chose the Cape Coral No Kill Animal Shelter for our target Doggie charity this year. Why? Because in the aftermath of Hurricane Ian countless dogs and cats were left abandoned, unwanted, and in harm's way. The shelter takes in and then gives medical attention, food and care to all strays.

I recently visited the shelter and I was amazed at the volunteers' dedication. I got a VIP tour of the shelter and helped with the storage area. I also lost my heart to a 9-week-old Chihuahua mix that had been left in a dumpster.

We on the Doggie Den Committee want to thank all of you who participated in baking dog biscuits on Mitzvah Day. We will be looking forward to next year's Animal Charity project.

Beit Guvrin Caves

Hidden beneath the Judean Lowlands, this gob-smacking subterranean site is one of the most extensive artificial cave networks on earth, yet relatively few tourists visit the site.

Dug out from beneath an area that was once known as the cities of Maresha and Beit Guvrin, the network of caves, named after the latter city, seem to have been created for a number of different reasons down the ages but stand today to amaze contemporary travelers.

Maresha was the first city to stand on the site, dating back before the common era, however it was eventually sacked and replaced by Beit Guvrin. This new city thrived in the area until it too was conquered by the Romans, leaving behind little but ruins and the caves.

The original chambers were built for defense and storage below the ancient city of Maresha, which flourished during the age of the First Temple. The settlement was eventually leveled, and a new town called Beit Guvrin rose in its place. The Romans later conquered and destroyed Beit Guvrin, leaving little but ruins in its wake. Nonetheless, its extensive underground chambers remain relatively unscathed.

The network consists of some 3,000 rooms dating from various eras: Sidonian, Israelite, and Roman, to name a few. Judean's soft chalky earth meant each tunnel and chamber could be chiseled and carved by hand—no mechanized drilling technology was available back then.

Wishing you and your family a...

One family, many connections

Interested in Joining a Havurah?

A havurah is a group that comes together informally to socialize, to learn and enjoy Jewish living with others.

Whether you're a new member looking to meet other congregants or an existing member seeking new friendships, a havurah is a great way to create an extended family within the Temple Shalom community.

If you are interested in joining a havurah, or you would like more information, visit the Havurot page on the Temple Shalom website under the Connect tab or contact Megan Black at mblack@naplestemple.org.

Anna and Yale have been in Naples for twenty-two years. Yale originally was a partner at Price Waterhouse. He is now an executive with Soave Enterprises, a development company. Yale has served on many boards in Detroit. He is a past president of Congregation Shaarey Zedek in Detroit. Anna & Yale are both involved in their communities and are very committed to Jewish institutions.

Paul Roberts & Jane Armstrong

Jane and Paul recently retired and moved from NJ to Bonita Springs. They have two adult children who live in NYC and California. Paul worked as a neurologist for thirty-plus years, including fifteen years as Medical Director of a hospital stroke center. Jane, who has a PhD in Immunology, has worked as a college professor, college dean and as the Executive Director of the Workforce Development Board of Morris-Sussex-Warren. They are looking forward to four-season kayaking here in Florida.

Stephen Light & Anne Schuchman

Anne is an Indiana native with deep ties to family and friends in Indianapolis. She has three children, Jeff, Craig and Gabi, who live in Indianapolis, Salida, Colorado, and Safety Harbor, Florida, respectively. Her children have given her eight terrific grandchildren. Sadly, her husband passed away some years ago after a fifty-one year marriage. Anne was an active member of the Indianapolis Jewish Federation and is a founding contributor to the new Naples Jewish Cultural Center building. She contributed the beautiful outdoor menorah sculpture in memory of her late husband, Larry Schuchman. Anne's passions include her children and grandchildren, philanthropy, serving on multiple charitable boards in Indianapolis, volunteer work with the Naples Holocaust Museum and Education Center, and the Guadalupe Center, as well as baking challah and other delicacies. She is an avid traveler and is looking forward to her first visit to Israel in early 2024. Prior to having multiple knee surgeries, Anne was an accomplished and decorated golfer.

Stephen was born and raised in the Bronx, New York in a conservative Jewish household. His university studies include Colorado State University, and graduate work at the University of Louisville. As an employee of several large multinational corporations, Stephen relocated frequently throughout the United States. Following a second retirement from public company leadership in 2012, Stephen settled in Naples within driving distance of his daughter, Aronson Valentine Kagiliery, son-in-law James Kagiliery, and twin granddaughters, Anna Natalie and Julia Marie, who live in Jacksonville. Stephen has been a trustee of the Children's Hospital of Wisconsin, and Cardinal Stritch University, as well as serving as a director of several industry associations and public companies. Stephen has spent the past fifteen years as the sole caregiver to his wife Carolyn, who suffers from Alzheimer's Disease and resides in a Naples memory care facility. His interests include reawakening his Judaism, traveling, reading, his two West Highland White Terriers, driving his sports car as fast as possible on racetracks across the country, and being a private chef for Anne.

Affordable Workforce Housing

I've been thinking a lot about housing lately. My own condo was flooded during the hurricane 6 months ago, and Judy and I are living in a rental while our home is rebuilt. Building housing these days is complicated and quite costly. The wonderful community in SW Florida makes it worthwhile for us to rebuild, but what if we could not afford it? Would I be willing to drive 90 minutes to work, play and pray in Naples? Not likely. If I couldn't find affordable housing locally, would I commute 1-2 hours each way for a job in retail or teaching or hospitality or landscaping or hospital work, especially when there is a shortage of workers in almost every community in the U.S. and it wouldn't be too hard to find a job where I live? Would I stick around if I had to pay 70% of my income to share a moldy trailer, as some of the agricultural workers in Immokalee do? That's the situation for some of our Collier County neighbors, as we learned at our two recent TOV educational forums about Affordable Workforce Housing.

Other facts we learned:

- Over 48,000 workers in Collier County can no longer afford to live here. You can see them in their cars driving up to 3 hours daily, to and from neighboring counties. As jobs near to home present themselves, we will lose them.
- The City of Naples police department is now facing a 25% gap in unfilled positions, with 17 openings.
- Lack of teachers has caused classroom sizes to increase.
- Virtually all of the clients at St. Matthews and similar charitable organizations are working families who rely on these organizations for food to meet their budgets. Their clients include teachers and health care workers.
- While the housing budgets are normally 30% of the average income in the US, their clients are seeing housing as 70% of their income.
- Our situation is not sustainable when the people we depend upon for services cannot afford to live here.
- Some families have had to send their children to other parts of the country while they continue to work locally.
- One example we learned about was the teacher who started the autistic services in the school system. She finally left, leaving the position vacant. She had over 30 years' experience and finally gave up when she could not afford a 400 square foot apartment.

As Jews and neighbors, we have an obligation to help solve this problem. But what can we do as individuals and as a congregation? Where should we apply our many talents as a congregation? For what exactly should we be advocating?

Join us in sorting out the many ideas floating around to help solve the shortage of affordable workforce housing. We have a subcommittee of TOV devoted to this issue. Turn your faith into action and come be a part of this effort! # MEN'S CLUB

Men's Club President
Ron Yasbin

"Happy Passover!

One important aspect of the Men's Club charge is to help with the welfare of the community. Accordingly, we are deeply concerned about the rise in antisemitism and the effect this is having on our youth. It is important that we educate on the positive impact Jews have had on America and society.

An example: Dr. Arthur Kornberg, born in 1918 in Brooklyn, attended prestigious City College of NY, and was one of the top students in his class. Like the majority of his classmates (90% Jewish) he was unable to be admitted to the top medical schools because of antisemitism. He was finally admitted to U of Rochester Medical School (to fill one of the two Jewish slots allowed). He graduated top of his class but was denied prestigious residencies by the Dean. He turned to research and his seminal work on DNA earned him a Nobel Prize. He was eventually invited to become Dean of the Medical School at Rochester but declined. He faced antisemitism and stared it down. He provided the same fortitude to his children one of whom also won a Nobel Prize.

Has it been a while since you've seen your old friends at Temple? Are you new to One Family and looking to meet new people?

Temple Shalom has the answer for everyone with Shalom@Home!!

Shalom@Home offers the opportunity for casual get-togethers in the homes of Temple Shalom members, loosely structured to help you get to know a small group of other members who live in your neighborhood or close by. As an added bonus, Rabbi Miller, Rabbi Boxman, Cantor Azu, or Executive Director Deborah Fidel will be in attendance whenever possible to catch you up on new developments at Temple Shalom, coming events, etc.

Let's get the ball rolling!! Please contact Iris Shur at irisjimshur@aol.com to volunteer to host a Shalom@Home event. You pick the date and time of day and put out some light refreshments. We suggest 2:00pm to 4:00pm for an afternoon meeting and 7:00pm to 9:00pm for an evening meeting. We'll do the rest and send out invitations to Temple Shalom members in your neighborhood. Then we'll send you the guest list. Thanks so much for considering offering your home for these important community-building events.

BEREAVEMENT GROUP FOR MEMBERS OF THE TEMPLE SHALOM COMMUNITY

In the spirit of our tradition, which calls us to perform the mitzvah of Nihum Avelim (comforting mourners), Temple Shalom offers a Bereavement Support Group for widows who are grieving for a loved one. The group meets at Temple Shalom. Please contact Arline Kaplan, PhD (arkaplanphd@gmail.com) or Leslie Wasserman, MA (leshbr@aol.com) for more information.

For many generations, Jews have made it a custom to remember their loved ones and sanctify their joyous events with a charitable donation. At Temple Shalom, there are several ways for us to remember or honor a loved one and give thanks for milestone events in our lives. Please consider a yahrzeit plaque, Tribute Garden paver, leaf on the Tree of Life, or dedicating a Torah portion in the Illustrated Torah as a permanent remembrance. Your generosity will contribute to the future of Temple Shalom.

Scan the QR codes below with the camera on your cellphone to go directly to an order form, or call the Temple Shalom office for assistance.

Remember your loved one with a yahrzeit memorial plaque in the Sanctuary. A light next to the plaque is lit during the week of their yahrzeit and during Yizkor.

Order and customize a brick, a tree or a bench in the Temple Shalom Tribute Garden in memory of, or in honor of a loved one or special event.

A leaf or Star of David on the Tree of Life in the Sanctuary is a beautiful way to commemorate a loved one or a meaningful occasion.

Dedicating a Torah portion in the Illustrated Torah is a meaningful way to memorialize an individual or a special celebration. You may also choose to dedicate a word or a special verse.

Showing We Care

Contributions to Temple Shalom funds are wonderful ways to show your appreciation of family and friends, to celebrate happy occasions and to honor the memories of loved ones. We suggest a minimum donation of chai ($18.00). With a minimum donation of chai, a notice of your gift will be sent to the honoree and mention will be published in The Voice. To make a donation, visit the donation page on the website at www.naplestemple.org, or call the Temple office at 239-455-3030.
