Rabbi's Message

One of my favorite Hasidic stories is about a Rabbi who was asked by his students, “Teacher, how does one determine the hour when night ends and day begins?”

The Rabbi turned to the class and asked for their opinion. One student quoted the Mishnah about being able to differentiate colors. One student suggested, “Is it when one can distinguish a sheep from a dog in the distance?” To both of these students the Rabbi said “No, it is not.”

Another student ventured a reply, “Is it when one can distinguish a date tree from a fig tree in the distance?” “No,” said the Rabbi.

At this point the class had no clue. “Please tell us the answer,” the students begged.

“It is when you can look into the face of a stranger and see your sister or brother,” said the Rabbi. “Until then night is still with us.”

I thought of this story recently as colleagues and friends reached out to me over the spotlight that has been focused on El Paso because of the realities and challenges associated with immigration on our nation’s Southern Border. What I have told people is that regardless of where we fall on the American political spectrum, our immigration system is broken and incapable of handling the needs of modern migration. This brokenness is leading to unnecessary trauma and suffering. Irrespective of what brings a person to our border, that person, that stranger, is still a human being and deserves to be treated with respect and dignity. Even if darkness is still preventing us from seeing them as our brothers and sisters, we have an obligation to care for strangers because, as the Torah reminds us, we once were strangers ourselves.

Since arriving in El Paso, I have learned that our community is blessed with a number of organizations whose mission is to assist the strangers who cross our border seeking refuge. As I think about how we can help those strangers, how we can help our brothers and sisters, I call upon each of us to offer whatever support we can to those agencies and organizations that are offering direct and needed support to immigrants being dropped off in our city. A list of four such organizations follows this message.

When I think about the current situation at our border and in our city, I know that night has not ended for those currently entering our country in search of refuge. I know that night has not ended for us, who live in El Paso and feel the attention of our nation directed at us, without accepting responsibility to share the burden of providing for those who have been admitted to our country waiting for their day in court. I know that night has not ended for those who can only look at the politics and the policy without considering the humanity. And I know that all of us want the night to end.

President's Message

Providing educational activities for our Congregation is central to B'nai Zion's mission to add Jewish value to the lives of our members, engaging God, Torah and Israel as understood and taught by the Conservative Movement. We are dedicated to providing learning opportunities for all of our members, young and old. This fall, we introduced new adult education classes in addition to our weekly Saturday morning Torah study and ongoing Israeli dance classes.

At this time I am pleased to announce that in January, through the work of the Talmud Torah committee and Rabbi Rosenberg, we introduced a new learning model for our Talmud Torah program. We are very excited about our new ShalomLearning curriculum. This curriculum teaches important Jewish values and concepts along with foundational knowledge essential for every Jew to know and appreciate. Implementing this leading edge program is being made possible by a very generous gift from one of our members.

ShalomLearning was founded in 2011 to create an innovative religious school program. It offers online and blended learning programs in supplementary Jewish education for K-7th grades, as well as professional development opportunities for educators. ShalomLearning currently partners with over 90 congregations to make Jewish education more engaging and relevant for students.

We want our children to understand Teshuvah: the importance of taking responsibility for your actions, B'Tzelem Elohim: honoring the image of God in ourselves and others, Gevurah: using one's inner strength to do what is right, Achrayut: doing what you can to make the world a better place, Hakarat HaTov: seeking joy and being grateful, Koach Hadibbur: understanding the power of words and, Shalom: helping to create a calmer, more peaceful world.

We also are invested in teaching Hebrew. The ShalomLearning approach is very individualized and addresses the needs of each student and his/her different learning styles. We care deeply about our students and teachers and want the Talmud Torah experience to be positive and rewarding for all.

Learning together makes B'nai Zion stronger. Everyone is encouraged to participate in our class activities and Torah study. If there is a course that you would like to take, or a topic you would like to learn about, please let the office know so that it can be considered for the future.

Sincerely yours,
-Shane Lipson

Executive Director's Message

Certainly, 2019 started off differently than any year I can remember. The staff returned to work prepared for a busy, but normal first work day of the year. Late that afternoon, a package was delivered to the office that appeared to be suspicious. Out of an abundance of caution for safety of our members, staff and building, we activated our established security protocol which includes alerting local authorities and our CBZ Security Committee. Thankfully, after a relatively short period of time, the El Paso Police Department determined there was no danger.

I bring this incident back to your attention not to alarm you, but, rather, to put your mind at ease. There are significant take-aways that I want to share with our congregation:

- 1) As we have communicated previously, the safety of our synagogue family is of paramount importance to us.
- 2) There are established safety protocols at B'nai Zion.
- 3) Rabbi Rosenberg and the office staff followed the established protocols.
- 4) First responders responded within minutes, calmly secured the area and completed a very thorough investigation before concluding there was no danger.
- 5) First responders commended us for taking appropriate action.
- 6) We heard from a number of congregants and community members during and immediately after the incident and are most appreciative of their concern.

Our Security and Safety Committee remains active, staying on top of current information and working to enhance and improve protocols to ensure the safety of our membership.

Wild West Casino Night

Be sure to join us on February 9 at 7:15 for our Annual Casino Night. Our Wild West Casino Night is a lot more than gaming tables. There are, of course, Black Jack, Poker, Roulette and Craps tables. And so much more. Enjoy all you can eat brisket tacos with all the sides, traditional Casino Night snacks, soft drinks and an open bar. Dance to all your favorites performed live by Villa Band. Find bargains of a lifetime at the silent auction and spend time socializing with all your friends.

As an avid country music dancer, I assure you, you can't beat this deal. There is no other place in El Paso to find an uncrowded dance floor, live country music, plus all the refreshments you can eat and drink, including the bar, for only $45 per person – and on a Saturday night.

Looking forward to seeing you there,

-Debra Pazos
Executive Director

Sisterhood President's Message

B'nai Zion Sisterhood is celebrating its 99th year. That is a powerful message and a wonderful accomplishment. It signifies a commitment from strong women. In addition to these remarkable women, it was also made possible through the continued support of B'nai Zion congregants and Women's League for Conservative Judaism.

Mathilde Roth Schechter

Women's League began shortly before our own Sisterhood, in 1918, and was organized by Mathilde Roth Schechter (wife of Solomon Schechter, president of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America). With 100 women (many wives of prominent rabbis and scholars), their mission was to "perpetuate traditional Judaism in homes, synagogues and communities..." Sisterhood has maintained these traditions over the past century with dedicated members, many from families which span multiple generations.

To remember our past and celebrate our future, we are beginning to prepare for the 100th anniversary. Become a part of this historical celebration via the "Sentimental Journey" committee.

Join us at a "meet and greet" with

Margie Miller, Women's League for Conservative Judaism-International President

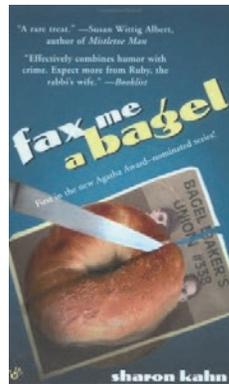

February 10	7:00 PM	B'nai Zion
February 11	3:00 PM	Marcia Schwartz's home 6020 Pinehurst

We are proud to offer you these educational sessions. Congregation B'nai Zion Sisterhood has a rich (almost) 100-year background, established by women with a vision and inspiration to achieve tikkun olam. Become involved and make "history" "her story."

In Sisterhood,
-Debbie Cohen

Fax Me a Bagel by Sharon Kahn

“Only Eleven People Died”

As part of the Security Committee’s commitment to your well-being, we are constantly in communication with local and federal law enforcement, and in attendance at assorted webinars, seminars, and meetings held by different groups. One such webinar we attended was hosted by the Secure Community Network which is in partnership with the Jewish Federation. The speakers discussed the lessons learned after the Pittsburgh incident. They assessed the current threat levels in our nation, and made recommendations for actions that we can take to help ensure a secure place of worship.

Of the many things discussed that day, the one that most deeply resonated with us, was the phrase, “Only eleven people died.” The reasons that this statement was so impactful were as varied as the lives that were lost that Shabbat morning. As odd as it may sound, a lot of things went right that day. The presenters went on to explain that Tree of Life Synagogue had undertaken a threat assessment, had taken advantage of available trainings, had implemented emergency policies and protocols, and that morning, had put all its preparation and practice in place and into effect. Because of these preventative actions, only eleven of the approximately 100 people that were there that day lost their lives. What would the outcome have been if they had not taken all those steps before such a tragedy occurred? How much different would that number have been? Would the perpetrator have been stopped? Would first responders have been there in record time?

When talking about the current environment, one might not be surprised to learn that hate crimes, are indeed on the rise throughout our country. The greatest escalation in these crimes has been toward the Jewish Community. Anti-Semitic incidents and hate crimes concerning the Jewish Community has seen the largest surge in years. According to the Anti-Defamation League, there was nearly a 60% increase in 2017. It is the largest single-year increase on record and the second highest number since 1979.

The Secure Community Network, much like the Anti-Defamation League and law enforcement agencies, has made various recommendations that will help in preventing and mitigating future tragedies. Among the recommendations were:

- Sharing information between organizations and partners
- Creating strategic security frameworks for each community
- Training individuals to look for suspicious behavior and to follow protocols to address it
- Applying consistent, standardized, and practiced trainings
- Creating a proactive environment that considers physical security as well as training
- Understand the strengths and weaknesses of our organizations, so we can begin to address them
- Forming partnerships with law enforcement and inviting them to know the facilities
- Having access control – not only to limit who enters, but to ensure we can get out

Security is an ongoing and evolving process, but above all, a state of mind and an attitude. Phrases like “That can never happen here,” are not only misguided, they are dangerous. See something, say something, do something.

~Thank you

Texas Holocaust and Genocide Commission: 2019 Poetry and Visual Art Contest

The Texas Holocaust and Genocide Commission invites Texas students, grades 6-12, to serve as a witness to the stories of the survivors of the Holocaust and modern genocides. Using what they learn, students can share these stories through poetry and visual art so we can improve our world and prevent future genocides. This year’s contest theme is Texas Survivors. A $250 award will be given to a middle school winner, and a $500 award to a high school winner. Submission deadline is February 28, 2019 at 4 p.m. CST.

For contest guidelines and submission information, please visit: <http://thgc.texas.gov/2019-student-contest>.

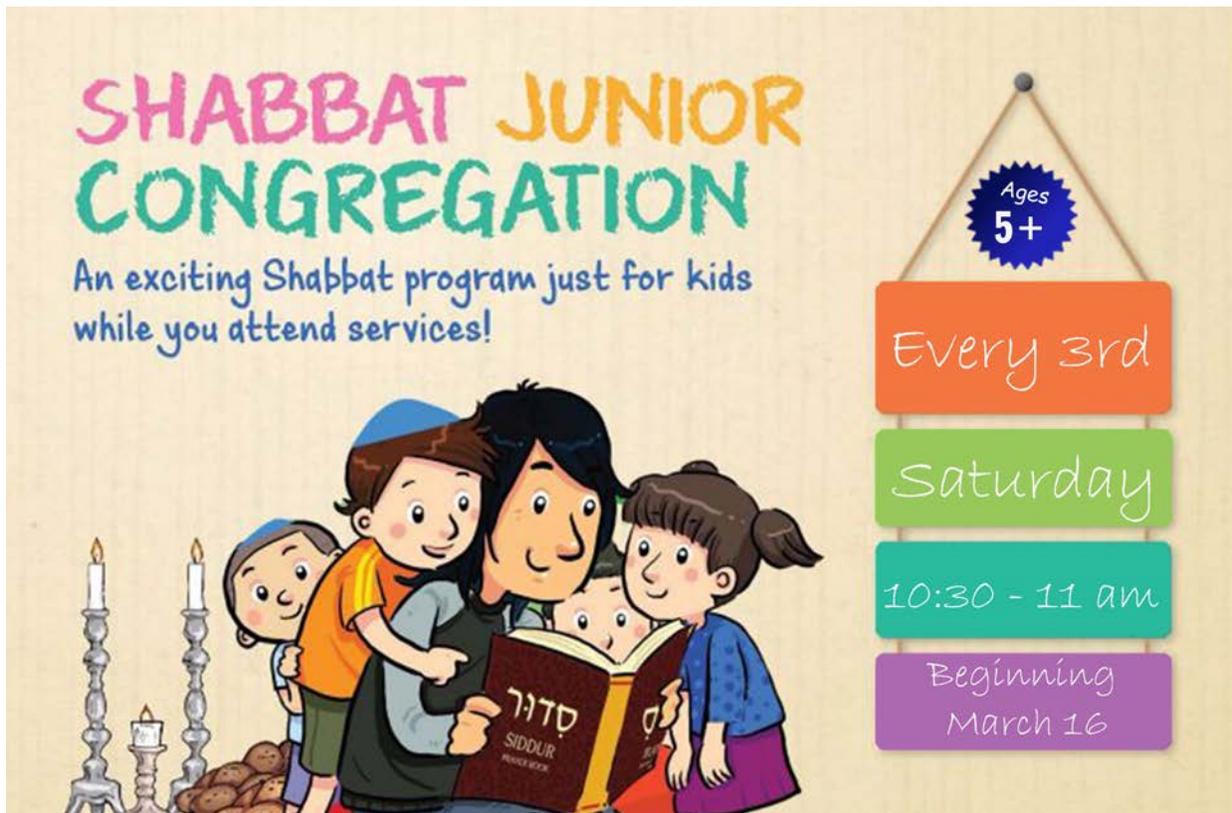

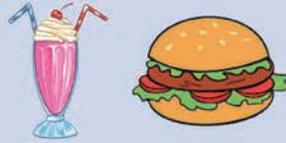

Texas Holocaust and Genocide Commission: 3rd Annual Dr. Anna Steinberger Outstanding Educator Award

The Texas Holocaust and Genocide Commission will present a $1,000 cash prize to one educator who demonstrates a record of excellence in engaging Texas students, grades 5-12, with the history of the Holocaust and/or genocides in Cambodia, Rwanda, the Balkans, Sudan (Darfur), and the Middle East (Iraq and Syria). Librarians, curriculum specialists, and classroom teachers in any discipline are eligible and encouraged to apply. Application deadline is February 28, 2019 at 4 p.m. CST.

For instructions and application access, please visit: <http://thgc.texas.gov/2019-dr.-anna-steinberger-outstanding-educator-award>.

Jews Chews

On the first Shabbat of every month, one hour before Shabbat Mincha, Rabbi Rosenberg invites our teens to join him in conversation and debate over topics of Jewish interest. This program will start on Saturday, February 2, 2019, at 4:15 PM and the topic will be "What does Judaism teach about Groundhog Day?" Teens – please join Rabbi Rosenberg for great food, drink and conversation.
