There is a connection between Purim and Pesach. While the two holidays are actually one month apart on the Hebrew calendar, this year Purim begins on the last day of February at night and Passover begins on the last day of March during the day. There are traditions regarding drinking wine associated with each festival. On Purim, we are supposed to drink enough wine “Ad Lo Yada” which means, “until we don’t know the difference between the cursed Haman and the blessed Mordecai.” On Passover, during the Seder we drink from four cups of wine to recall the four different phrases found in the Torah regarding God delivering us from Egyptian bondage. A fifth cup is the Cup of Elijah and no wine is taken from it.

Both holidays take place in locations which are outside of Israel and are places where wars against the Jewish state have been launched even today, in modern times. At Purim, we are aware that it was ancient Persia, today known as Iran, that attempted to commit genocide against the Jewish community. During Passover, we read in the Haggadah of the story of the Egyptians who tried to kill all the male Jewish babies and then enslaved our entire people.

Both holidays present men and women whose courage led to the victory of the Jewish people against our enemies. On Passover, it was the courage of Moses’ mother Yochebed who saved Moses’ life, along with Puah and Shifrah who saved the Jewish babies. Moses and his brother Aaron were, of course, the brave souls who confronted the Pharaoh to “let our people go.” During the reading of the Megillah, we learn of Esther who risked her life to save the Jews of Persia, and of Mordecai, her cousin, who defied the evil Haman and wouldn’t bow down to him.

On Passover we eat baked goods, such as Matzah, which have no leaven to remember the haste in which we left Egypt. On Purim, we eat Hamentashen or triangular shaped cookies to remember Haman’s hat, pockets and ears.

A special book read only on Purim is Megillat Esther, the scroll of Esther, and the story of Passover is read at the Seder in a special manuscript called the “Haggadah.” On the morning of Purim we observe the “Fast of Esther” and on the morning of the first Seder we observe the “Fast of the First Born.”

Both holidays teach us of the dangers of racism, bigotry, and hatred. Each holiday requires us to fight for the principles of freedom and justice for all human beings. Purim and Pesach both encourage the full participation of children. On Purim, all the children dress in costumes and on Pesach, it is the children who ask “The Four Questions.” God is not mentioned at all in the Book of Esther and Moses is only mentioned once in the Haggadah.

As we gather in the synagogue to observe the festival of Purim on Adar 15, which falls on the evening of February 28th and continues on March 1st, and as we observe the First Seder on the evening of Nisan 15, which is the 30th of March, let us learn and observe the meaningful traditions and lessons of each holiday. The Festival of Purim and the Holiday of Pesach have inspired our people from their inception. May they continue to have an impact on us today.

-Rabbi Stephen A. Leon
I see great things when I look at B’nai Zion and, as my college economics professor taught, I am convinced that “what you foresee is what you get.” I can’t help it; I’m an incurable optimist who sees lots of positivity for B’nai Zion. Just look at what we’ve done so far in 2018 and you’ll agree that we’re on the road in the right direction.

We’ve had some fabulous events recently – our Chanukah Celebration and New Member Welcome, the Chai Five Celebration and coming up immediately before this issue of the Messenger lands in your mailbox, the Most Marvel-Us Purim Celebration Ever. A huge thank you goes out to our members and supporters for making it all possible.

There’s quite a bit more work to do to get us where we want to be as a synagogue, but once we get there we’ll be poised to maintain our position for the long term. Please help us keep the momentum going. We need your support with our first fundraiser this year: Best of the Old West Casino Night on March 24. Let’s fill the room with people who love to socialize, to dance, to eat, to drink, to dress up in their Old West attire and, of course, who love to gamble. Invite your friends and family, your neighbors and co-workers. They’ll all have a wonderful time while supporting a good cause.

After taking a break for a few years, we’ve brought back the Stock Portfolio Raffle. Tickets are already available. The drawing for the grand prize stock portfolio and several other prizes is on April 8. If we all buy one ticket and sell two, we’ll have reached our goal of selling 600 tickets. And, what’s more, we’ll be at 25% of the fundraising we need to enable us to move our dues cycle to January through December, rather than September through August.

Louis Brandeis said, “Most of the things worth doing in the world were declared impossible before they were done.” I remain confident that we will be successful.

-Decra Pazos

P.S. Stop by the office and see our new electronic bulletin board!
Passover is approaching along with all the tasks which accompany it. This holiday allows us time to revisit our past as a Jewish people, as well as with our own families. Whether or not we complete all the holiday rituals, many do adhere to the traditional “diet.” In other words, our food selections become more limited, or do they?

Commitment is a promise, obligation or dedication to a belief, object or person(s) which results as an adjustment in our behavior. During Passover, we may refrain from leavened bread and eat Matzah instead. This demonstrates a “choice” made to follow customs, but more importantly, this act establishes a link between us and our ancestors. In this manner, the “diet” serves not only as sustenance but also provides meaningful memories.

Likewise, B’nai Zion Sisterhood has also been able to create a rich 96 year history through the commitment of our members. We are grateful to all who dedicate themselves to continually help others. Thank you to the following women whose involvement in our recent Sisterhood Shabbat made it so special

Sara Scoggin    Rose Kupfer
Audrey Lavi    Judy Weiser

With our members in mind, the spring programming schedule offers educational and social opportunities:
March 8th 7:00 PM (International Women’s Day) and in recognition of that, we will sponsor “Life is Short – Eat Dessert First” (along with a speaker-led discussion) at B’nai Zion.
April 25th 6:00 PM features a Book Review at Temple Mount Sinai. To prepare, you can begin reading “The Book of Separation” by Tova Mirvis.
May 6th is another entertaining film night at B’nai Zion, so SAVE THE DATE!!
June 3rd 10:00 AM finalizes the upcoming events with our Sisterhood-sponsored member appreciation coffee.

Sisterhood is committed to supporting our members, our youth and our congregants. This promise, obligation and dedication has continued for nearly a century. Please join us and become involved to help make “her story!”

IT’S BACK
B’NAI ZION’S POPULAR STOCK PORTFOLIO RAFFLE

Over the years, up to over 500 people have bought tickets at every raffle and the last one was in 2009.

Now, by popular demand, it’s back. Besides the raffle winner, we will have runner-up prizes of weekend trips to Dallas Cowboys games, UTEP football and basketball tickets, and dinners at popular local restaurants.

And here is how it works. Six blue chip stocks will make up the portfolio. They include McDonald’s, Microsoft, Apple, JP Morgan Chase and for the big one…the winner will be holding 8 shares of Warren Buffett’s Berkshire Hathaway/B Stock.

The portfolio was worth $10,000 when we bought it on January 22 and could easily grow to $12,000 when we close on Sunday, April 8, 2018.

The money raised will be used to fund the Synagogue’s costs and to educate our children.

One ticket will cost $100 and you can upgrade your odds by buying several tickets. In the past, we have had folks who bought as many as 10 tickets. If you buy 5 or more tickets, you get a 10% discount. For example, instead of $500, you’d only pay $450 for 5 tickets.

You can purchase a ticket by calling the Synagogue office at (915) 833-2222, calling Sam Kobren at (915) 584-0202 or e-mail tvsam@aol.com, or calling Sam Ellowitz at (915) 584-1305. Or contact any member of the Synagogue Board of Directors.

Thank you for your support!
The Sailor and the Sabbath – A message from Scott Feldt

A sailor’s first time to visit Israel. A group of friends gather for adventure. They leave the ship that was home for so many months and riding the small liberty launch to an unknown, ancient land. Young and naive, more than excitement ran through their veins and religion was not really known to be a part of it. The waves were permanent and strangely came from above and below the sea.

It seemed a struggle to get close even as the tide pulled me closer. Touching dry land was an uplifting release and feeling, unparalleled anywhere else, at any time. The first stop was a nearby market for libations. Upon entry, someone from the group said to me, “You’re Jewish. Can you read that sign?”

It was obvious to me. I said, “Budweiser, but I really can’t read it without the vowels.”

A lady walked up to me, I wish I could remember her name. She asked if I was Jewish. I said yes and she invited me for a Sabbath meal the following day. The majority of my first 3 days in Israel remains a dream to me from that point on. I remember so few bits and pieces, but I remember I did attend the Sabbath dinner. What is unforgettable within me to this day is the sensation of Belonging I felt. Now, decades later looking back, I can see that I have tried to recreate that same sense of Belonging in my family, with my friends, and, really, all I have done or do. A simple meal brought it all together for me and I never needed to know it; I just lived it.

At Ft. Bliss, there is a Sabbath service and small meal for any of our soldiers to attend every Friday evening. Purim is already here and Pesach follows soon after. I am asking for anyone who would take this opportunity of Mitzvot to please volunteer and host a soldier at your Seder. The second night we may all celebrate in our own respective homes of worship. The first night we should remember to add a place for those who continue to ensure our freedom today, yet find themselves away from their own homes while doing so.

Please contact me at (915 526-8478) or Scott.Feldt@outlook.com for more information and details.
