Our National Journal

Membership of the AJHS ACT includes a printed copy of the scholarly AJHS Journal which appears twice a year with articles of historical interest and book reviews.

The Journal of the Australian Jewish Historical Society was first published in 1939. Since 1988 the production of the journal has been shared by Victoria and NSW. The Journal records the Jewish experience in Australia from 1788 to recent times.

The index to contents of each issue is available online at: <https://www.ajhs.com.au/>

AUSTRALIAN JEWISH HISTORICAL SOCIETY ACT

Our inspiring activities

The AJHS ACT meets throughout the year for special lectures and talks which focus on areas of historical importance.

Some of the fascinating talks we have enjoyed recently are:

- A Lost Tribe: the Jews of Geelong
- John Monash, the Man
- Jews in Australian Newspapers

- The AIF Jewish Diggers and the WWI Battlefields of Gallipoli, Fromelles and Beersheba
- Does your DNA say that you are Jewish?
- Jack Dias: Australian Trade Unionist and Labour Activist
- Jewish Community of Ancient Alexandria
- Australia, Poland and Ukraine: 3 Counties, 5 Archives and 12 Wonderful Days of Discovery

A little bit about us....

We are an enthusiastic and committed group who enjoy working together to preserve the history of the Jewish Community.

And we do this by:

- Collecting and archiving the history of our Community and Jews in the region.
- Organising an interesting and stimulating lineup of speakers, including the annual Earle Hoffman Memorial Lecture in Australian Jewish History.
- Undertaking a commitment by sharing stories and learning about our history.
- Providing an opportunity to share research.
- Hosting excursions with community members.

Membership

- Members of the Society receive 2 printed editions of the AJHS' Journal and 4 Newsletters each year.
- Members receive email notification of forthcoming events and voting rights at AGM.
- Members receive log-in access to members-only areas of ajhs.com.au which includes databases, personal papers, photographs, military records, newspapers and ephemera dating back to the First Fleet in 1788.

NOTE: A generous aspect of membership to AJHS(ACT) members is that the $35 subscription includes all members of one family unit. This entitles the family to one issue only each time the journal is published (twice each year).
