“The Invention of Hugo Cabret” by Brian Selznick

“Paris in the 1930’s, a thief, a broken machine, a strange girl, a mean old man, and the secrets that tie them all together... Welcome to The Invention of Hugo Cabret.” Author Brian Selznick

With more than three hundred pages of original drawings, and combining elements of picture book, graphic novel, and film, Brian Selznick breaks open the novel form to create an entirely new reading experience. Here is a stunning, cinematic tour de force from a boldly innovative storyteller, artist, and bookmaker.

“Chasing Vermeer” by Blue Balliett

“Puzzles, codes, letters, number and wordplay, a bit of danger, a vivid sense of place, and a wealth of quirky characters enrich the exciting, fast-paced story that’s sure to be relished by mystery lovers.” - School Library Journal

A fun mystery with something for everyone: secret codes, mathematical puzzles (pentominoes), adventure, a dash of art history and great characters.

“The Graveyard Book” by Neil Gaiman

It takes a graveyard to raise a child. Nobody Owens, known as Bod ... would be completely normal if he didn’t live in a graveyard, being raised by ghosts, with a guardian who belongs to neither the world of the living nor the dead. There are adventures in the graveyard for a boy – But if Bod leaves the graveyard, he will be in danger from the man Jack – who has already killed Bod’s family.

“Wistful, witty, wise – and creepy. This needs to be read by anyone who is or has ever been a child.” Kirkus Reviews (starred review)

(Option to read the Graphic Novel version)
