Screaming at a child is as bad as, or worse than, spanking a child. True, it can be very difficult at times to control oneself but nonetheless a parent should realize that screaming causes damage and should be avoided at all costs. A person must train oneself to speak to a child as calmly as possible. Maintaining a pleasant positive atmosphere in the home, starting with the parents themselves, is crucial in creating a peaceful and loving environment for the most precious gifts we have -- our children.
