

Congregation Tiferes Yisroel (known as Rabbi Goldberger's shul) celebrated their 31st Anniversary celebration with a concert featuring Eitan Katz on Sunday, March 19th. This year, TY honored longtime shul members Stuart and Esther Macklin, who will be celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary in September, and have been prominent TY members for 30 years.

The Jewish Leadership Award was presented to Mordecai Zev Margolese, Binny and Brocha Margolese, and Mo and Shaina Margolese for their many years of unparalleled commitment and dedicated service to the Baltimore Jewish community.

Baruch Hashem, due to the success of TY's "72Kin 1DAY," a CauseMatch campaign that raised over $100,000 for the shul, the concert was on the house; the Macklin and Margolese families were joined by hundreds of family and friends, members of the TY kehilla, and of the Baltimore Jewish community.

After a brief awards ceremony, Eitan Katz put on a spectacular performance. About midway through the show, he was joined by both Rabbi Menachem Goldberger and his son, Rabbi Yehuda Leib Goldberger, for a few niggunim. Nossi Gross and members of his Zemer Orchestra also accompanied the band. Eitan "rocked the house" with an assortment of uplifting and inspiring niggunim, bringing the Greengate Jewish Center crowd of over 800 to their feet. It was a truly inspiring evening, and a good time was had by all!

Yasher koach to Stuart and Esther Macklin, Mordecai Zev Margolese, Binny and Brocha Margolese, and Mo and Shaina Margolese. A special thank you and yasher koach to Rebbetzin Bracha Goldberger, who worked tirelessly to organize the entire event, including both the CauseMatch campaign and the Anniversary Concert.
