DR. NORMAN LAMM ADDRESSES HISTORIC ANNUAL MEETING SAME OFFICERS TO CONTINUE TO LEAD KJ

On the eve of his retirement as President of Yeshiva University, Dr. Norman Lamm addressed the 130th Annual Meeting of Congregation Kehilath Jeshurun. His appearance was in celebration of the 100th anniversary of the opening of our Main Synagogue which was completed in 1902. Rabbi Lamm took the opportunity to reminisce about his half century in the rabbinate which began when he was a rabbinic assistant to Rabbi Joseph H. Lookstein here at Kehilath Jeshurun in 1952. There were many members of the congregation present who recalled when he served in that capacity. It was an excellent opportunity for our members to wish Rabbi Lamm well in his future endeavors. Although Dr. Lamm maintained a close relationship with Rabbi Haskel Lookstein and the congregation, it was further enhanced during the 1990's when his son-in-law, Rabbi Mark Dratch, also served as a rabbi of the congregation.

It indicates the extent of the commitment of the young people and their parents to Israel, and to the opportunities offered to high school graduates these days to deepen their Jewish and religious roots by spending a year of uninterrupted Torah study in the Holy Land.

The students will be studying at the following institutions:

Women:

SHIVAH ASSAR B'TAMMUZ, TISHA B'AV AND THE THREE WEEKS JUNE 27 - JULY 18, 2002

During the summer months, we mourn the destruction of both Temples in Jerusalem which took place on the ninth of Av. and the events that led to their destruction. We fast on the seventeenth day of the month of Tammuz, Shivah Assar B'Tammuz because, according to tradition it was on that day that the enemy penetrated the walls of Jerusalem prior to the destruction of the Second Temple. The Talmud, however, writes that these were not the only tragedies that befell the Jewish people on this day. On the seventeenth of Tammuz four more tragedies occurred: the first tablets containing the Ten Commandments were broken by Moses, the two daily sacrifices were suspended during the time of the First Temple, the wicked Apostumos burned the Torah, and an idol was erected in the Temple.

Additional tragedies also befell the Jewish people on Tisha B'Av. On this day, the meraglim, the spies, returned to the Jews in the desert with a negative report about the Land of Israel. In addition, it was on this day that the city of Betar was destroyed and tens of thousands of Jews were killed, and the day the wicked Turnus Rufus plowed the site of the Temple and its surroundings. Tradition asserts that the expulsion of the Jews from England in 1290 and the expulsion from Spain in 1492 also took place on

Our mourning for the destroyed Temples and for the other calamities

Tisha B'Av. which occured on these days extends beyond the fasts themselves. The period between these last two fasts, traditionally called The Three Weeks includes several practices mourning. During these three weeks we do not get our hair cut, attend weddings or involve ourselves in large joyous gatherings. During the nine days which begin on the first of Av, July 10, and continue until midday on the tenth day of Av, July 19, we are additionally forbidden to eat meat and drink wine, except on Shabbat, to go swimming or bathe for pleasure, and to do any laundry or dry cleaning that is not absolutely necessary. In general, the Talmud writes that when the month of Av begins, our mood should reflect our mourning for destruction of the Temples. On Tisha B'Av itself, besides fasting, we are prohibited from washing our bodies, wearing leather shoes, anointing ourselves. and marital having relations. It is also forbidden to study Torah on this day with the exception of the sections of the prophets and the Talmud that discuss the destruction. We do not wear our tallit and tefillin until Mincha and the custom is to sit on low chairs like mourners until midday. Our observance of mourning also forbids us from greeting friends on Tisha B'Av.

We mourn the Temple that was destroyed over nineteen hundred years ago and we pray that in the merit of our mourning we will be worthy to see God rebuild the Temple in our lifetime.

KEHILATH JESHURUN AND ISRAEL: "WE ARE OUR BROTHERS' KEEPERS"

"In addition to everything else that we have done as a congregation religiously, educationally, and socially, we have focused this year on responding to the critical condition of our brothers and sister in Israel and the danger implicit in the attack on America on September 11th."

A TORAH FROM KJ TO NAHARIYA

Operation L'Hitraot VII this past Shavuot saw the members of KJ and Rabbi Haskel Lookstein bring a Torah to Israel and donate it to Yeshivat Hesder in Nahariya. Nahariya has been on the confrontation line since 1948 and has been subject to many suicide attacks, ambush shootings, and the actual murders of a number of families. The yeshiva is equally committed to learning Torah, service in the Israel Defense Forces, and community involvement.

Most of the yeshiva's eighty-two students made the one hundred and twenty five mile trip to Yerushalayim for the transfer ceremony. They met the KJ group at the Inbal hotel. There was a magical sense surrounding the singing and dancing of the Yeshiva students as well as the energetic efforts of the members of KJ. It showed a real love of Torah and Eretz Yisrael as well as Am Yisrael.

This Torah was used for the first time by the Hesder students on Shavuot morning. Now that we have a special bond with this yeshiva, it is their hope that members of KJ will come and visit them when coming to Israel.

SALUTE TO ISRAEL PARADE

Dr. Norman Magid, Baal Tokea of the Main Synagogue at KJ is seen here blowing the shofar to start the 2002 Salute to Israel Day Parade up Fifth Avenue.

ISRAEL NEEDS YOU NOW

Looking for meaningful and creative opportunities to help Israel? Join KJ's newly formed Israel Action Committee and help coordinate projects and initiatives to benefit the people of Israel in the land of Israel. Contact Raanan Agus at Raanan. Agus@gs.com to participate. You are encouraged to send Raanan specific proposals and suggestions, and be prepared to put in an energetic effort.

WHERE HAVE ALL THE FLOWERS GONE?

The money that is ordinarily spent by the congregation at Shavuot time to beautify the center bima has been donated by Rabbi Ari Segal to Israeli terror victims in memory of his mother Sarah Charna bat Gittel, who was tragically killed one year ago.

THE SEEDS OF SOLIDARITY

In an effort to make Shavuot in Israel special this year, we invited members of the congregation to participate in the "Seeds of Solidarity" program through which a bouquet of flowers could be sent to the families of Israeli terror victims, IDF soldiers, family and friends.

OUR MISSIONS' MISSION

With our, thus far, seven missions to Israel, we have gone to observe Shabbat and Yomim Tovim in Jerusalem, to see and to be seen and to spend money to help the local economy and to give shopkeepers a better chance of staying in business. We are aware that Israelis who have not been physically harmed as a result of incessant Palestinian attacks are nonetheless suffering great economic hardship. All members of KJ are encouraged to go on a future mission with us.

THE RALLY IN WASHINGTON

Kehilath Jeshurun and Ramaz gave incredible support to the April 15 rally in Washington. We actually filled 31 buses with approximately 1,500 people. In addition, there must have been another 500 of our members at the rally who came either on their own by car, train, air, or with other organizations. More than 150,000 people attended the rally. We took great satisfaction in being counted among the huge crowd. We are proud of the sensational leadership role of our community in the overall success of this tremendous effort.

A DIFFERENT KIND OF GIFT

The KJ Sisterhood recently launched an initiative to replace, for the foreseeable future, Shabbat and Yom Tov hospitality gifts such as wine and flowers. The replacement is in the form of Israel Tzedakah cards.

The purpose of this twenty-dollar card is not to accompany a host gift but rather to be the gift.

The text of the handsome card reads: In appreciation of your warm hospitality, the Sisterhood of Congregation Kehilath Jeshurun has made a contribution in your honor to directly support humanitarian efforts in Israel. Every penny raised by these cards will be donated by the Sisterhood to a charitable cause in Israel which will help improve the quality of a Jew's life there which currently, is a meaningful gift in and of itself.

This program will have a double effect. First it will raise money for a Jew in Israel and will also have the effect of helping the Israeli economy. Secondly it will elevate the kedusha of each Shabbat and Yom Tov meal by making them vehicles of tzedakah in a time of crisis.

KEHILATH JESHURUN AND ISRAEL: "WE ARE OUR BROTHERS' KEEPERS"

"NOT ALL THE NEWS IS FIT TO PRINT

We launched a campaign last June to encourage people to suspend their subscriptions to the New York Times from Rosh Hashanah through Yom Kippur and to notify the Times that the reason for that suspension is our objection to their consistently biased reporting of news from Israel. We believe that more than 10,000 people followed our lead in this campaign.

MORE ABOUT THE TIMES

We have launched a second campaign to send a message to The New York Times. That campaign actually began through a decision made by the KJ Board of Trustees at its most recent meeting.

We have adopted a policy that we will suspend the publication of obituaries in the Times from now on.

Family notices may, of Elie course, be placed for information. But we are calling on all Jewish organizations, including our congregation to stop honoring members by memorial notice in the Times.

BEN YEHUDAH COMES TO 85TH STREET

The Israel. merchants in particularly the ones we know on the Ben Yehudah pedestrian mall, have been hit hard economically by the crisis in Israel. Under the leadership of Riva Alper and Stacey Scheinberg, the Sisterhood organized "Midrachov on East 85th Street." Fourteen shopkeepers were brought here by the congregation and the Sisterhood to sell their merchandise in a one day Midrachov in our Heyman Auditorium and Riklis Social Hall. Thousands of people came through the synagogue that day and sales were estimated to be upwards of $100-150,000.

One shopkeeper, Uri said "Even if I do not sell one item, this offer is enough. Just knowing that there are people in America spending their days thinking of ways to help us, is overwhelming."

The Midrachov was a huge success and has stimulated many other communities across America to follow our example and conduct their own

LEV TOV: A GOOD HEART

By Riva Alper President, KJ Sisterhood

Before Stacy and I assumed our tenure, we spoke often about ideas for the Sisterhood: different fund-raising options, health symposia, trying to make programs of interest — and inclusive — for all our members, ways to make the purpose of the Sisterhood better known to the community and more.

We got off to a late start. Our first meeting took place on November 5, in the shadow of the shock and destruction of 9/11. At the time, I recalled the words of Rabbi Haskel Lookstein, who said in one of his High Holiday sermons that it was now our responsibility to "repair" the damage done to our lives by doing good deeds to counteract the evil behind the event which claimed so many lives. This idea of Tikun is not a new one. It is mentioned in the Alenu prayer, and I think it is something we try to effect in our everyday lives.

Seven months later, I can tell you that some of our goals are still works in progress, but when it comes to Tikkun we have made a difference and I will tell you how I know.

Not long ago, someone connected with our Midrachov had occasion to shop at the store of one of our vendors. When the proprietor found out who she was, he wanted to give her a large discount on her purchase. She told him that considering the economic climate and the fact that the Midrachov is still a shadow of its former self, she appreciated his generosity but preferred to pay the full price.

He looked at her and said: "The Rambam speaks about seven levels of Tzedakah. The highest level is when one gives someone in need a job, so that he need not rely on anyone for a handout. I feel this is just what KJ did for us. They gave us the opportunity to earn our living and to do our jobs. They treated us with kindness and dignity.

THE MIDRACHOV

Shoppers from as far away as Toronto and Florida knew a good deal when they heard one: a trip to the big city, a chance to show Mom a good time on Mother's Day, buy lovely items from Israel and help beleaguered Israeli shop owners, all at the same time. So what if it was raining and a few street fairs and a parade had to be dodged. Over eight thousand people enthusiastically made their way to "The Midrachov on East 85th Street" at KJ on May 12th and purchased vast quantities of Israeli items including jewelry, Judaica, tshirts, artwork, hats, clothing, posters and thousands of kippot in every conceivable style and color.

Organized by the KJ Sisterhood and led by Riva Alper, Stacy Scheinberg and Alice Smokler, the idea for "The Midrachov" developed after the recent Rally for Israel in Washington DC. Inspired by the Rally and concern over the devastation to small businesses in the Ben Yehuda harea of Jerusalem, the Sisterhood leadership had the idea to sell Israeli merchandise to help, in some small way, the Israeli economy. Soon, the decision was made to bring actual Israeli vendors with their wares to KJ to sell the items themselves. Organized in only two weeks, the turnout for the event, fueled by word of mouth, newspaper ads and an article in the Jewish Week, surpassed everyone's expectations. None were more surprised than the vendors themselves who were overwhelmed not only by the sheer volume of customers — many "shops" ran out of merchandise only a few hours into the event — but also by the tremendous show of support by American Jewry.

Covered on local newscasts, in The New York Times and the Jewish Week, word of the great success of the day has traveled virtually all over the country, and to Israel and back. The Sisterhood leadership has been besieged by requests from other congregations for advice and guidance on how to create their own "Midrachovs." Visitors to Israel on the recent KJ mission came back with effusive and emotional thanks from the participating vendors who feel their businesses have been given a critical boost by the infusion of revenue. At the same time, they have spread the word in Israel of both the tremendous efforts on the part of the congregation — and the support American Jews have shown Israel.

They made us feel as though we were doing them a favor by coming to sell our merchandise."

The outpouring of support for our community was such, he said, that he and the other vendors felt that even if they hadn't sold a single thing, the way our community made them feel would have been enough.

He went on to say that he always considered himself a "Tov Lev," one who acts with heartfelt kindness. Until he came here. When he felt the care and concern exhibited by everyone with whom he came in contact, he realized there was still room for self improvement. "Therefore," he said, "if I choose to give you a discount, I am not only doing it for you. This is something I feel I need to do for me.

It's a small way in which I can begin to repay an enormous kindness.

When I heard this story I was really touched. To have had the opportunity to be a part of the Midrachov was awesome. That so many communities want to follow suit and sponsor their own vendor fairs is the icing on the cake. But the fact that someone was able to look upon this as more than a money-making venture, and the Sisterhood had a hand in effecting this is truly our crowning glory.

So we have come full circle. We have taken Rabbi Lookstein's words to heart and have affected Tikkun. This is something in which every Sisterhood member has had a hand. It was an opportunity for all of us to demonstrate our "Lev Tov."

CAN RELIGIOUS ZIONISTS LIVE IN THE DIASPORA?

By Rabbi Joshua Lookstein

Can one truly be a religious Zionist and yet live in the diaspora? It is an age-old question that aggravates people for various reasons. Some feel tremendous guilt, while others think that the question oversimplifies the reality, which it likely does. Are there really only two points on a line, both at opposite ends, or is it a true line, made up of multiple viewpoints along the way?

I have struggled with this question for many years. During the last 13 years, I have lived in Israel for three. During that time, the Religious Zionist values that I received both at home and in school were actualized. I. like thousands like me, became attached to the land, the state and the people. Upon returning home from each lengthy experience, I had to deal with my mixed emotions: the feeling of missing Israel combined with the reality and comfort of living in America. The issue was black and white. Either you lived there or here and there's not much in between.

These last two years at KJ have significantly altered my thinking on the subject. I now believe there is a middle ground. I am not ready to equate those who live in America and offer continuous physical and monetary support to Israel with those who have made sacrifices to live there, yet I am certain that there is little similarity between the first group and typical "armchair Zionists," as some have called those who talk a good game but in effect do not do much in the way of support of Israel.

This community has quite simply been a model to other diaspora communities. Mission after mission with hundreds of people in total, at times when other communities were getting very few and still others were canceling programs, prayer services, speakers from every area of life in Israel, significant financial help to multiple individuals, institutions and communities. The last couple of years, when the going got tough, we got going in a big way. There were certainly no armchairs left to be found.

But this change in perspective was solidified a few weeks ago after services on Shabbat morning, the day before the Midrachov. Two of the vendors who stayed with us for Shabbat approached me after davening completely overwhelmed by the service. "There was so much Israel," they said. "Every other word was 'Israel.' A prayer for the government, a prayer for the soldiers, a psalm for the country, a speech about Israel, a comment about Israel. It was all Israel." And then they added, "We didn't expect it."

A few years ago I wouldn't have known to expect it either. Even if I had, I may not have been sensitive enough to recognize it. It is a natural tendency to look at what our brothers and sisters in Israel are going through and, as a result, to look at our actions as insignificant. Are we going through what they are going through? No. Are our actions insignificant? Absolutely not. They are affecting the lives of Israelis and our lives as Religious Zionists.

Kol HaKavod to Zahal. Kol HaKavod to Israel, and yes, Kol HaKavod to us. May our communities in Israel always grow and, who knows? Maybe in the future we can show our commitment to Israel side by side with its people.

A RENEWED COMMITMENT FROM GRATITUDE PART OF THE REMARKS DELIVERED BY RABBI HASKEL LOOKSTEIN SHABBAT ZACHOR, FEBRUARY 23, 2002 ON THE OCCASION OF HIS 70TH BIRTHDAY

On his fortieth anniversary in the rabbinate, the late Rabbi Israel Goldstein, who was known for his lengthy speeches, was delivering a special anniversary sermon in B'nai Jeshurun. A man came in during the sermon, slipped into his seat in the back and listened. After a while, he turned to his neighbor and asked, "How long has he been speaking?" "For forty years" was the answer. "Oh well," said the newcomer, "I guess he can't go on much longer."

I couldn't help remembering that story that my father, of blessed memory, loved to tell, when I read my son, Josh's front page article in the current Bulletin which reads: "Rabbi Lookstein will deliver a special seventieth birthday sermon on Shabbat Zachor. He will review his seventy year history in KJ."

I silently hoped that the readers of the Bulletin would either skip that paragraph entirely or would at least appreciate Josh's wry sense of humor. Otherwise, the last place anyone would have wanted to be is in KJ this Shabbat.

So what is appropriate for a brief seventieth birthday sermon?

Perhaps there is a timely message from Megillat Esther. The Megillah, in Chapter 9, says that the Jews confirmed and accepted the practice of observing Purim at the appointed The Gemara. however. times. understands something more fundamental in this "confirmation and acceptance" (Shabbat, 88a). "Even though the Jewish people accepted the Torah with the mountain raised above their heads (at Mount Sinai), they nevertheless accepted it again in the days of Achashveirosh, as it is written: "they confirmed and accepted," i.e., they reconfirmed what they had previously accepted.

What the Talmud is trying to say is that the acceptance of the Torah at Sinai was a valid acceptance, but it came under external pressure. There was a force from the outside that was pressing upon them. The acceptance of the Torah once again at Purim time was a voluntary, inner response of gratitude. The Jews knew that they were saved from annihilation. They knew that their salvation came from God and from a commitment to Torah (remember that Mordechai refused to bow down to Haman), from fasting and from courage. And so now they renewed their commitment out of a sense of gratitude — hakarat ha'tov.

As a child growing up with my sister in our parents' home, I accepted upon myself the yoke of the kingdom of heaven — but that acceptance came from external sources. It was given to me and I accepted it.

The same was true of my education at Ramaz. Did I really appreciate Rabbi Bronznick then? He was such a genius. But who knew that? We gave him fits. Only later did we fully realize what we had. In any event, I did what I was supposed to do.

But now, looking back with some perspective, I realize the power of God's providence.

- 1. I recognize the privilege of having grown up in a parental home that set standards and a philosophy of life for me. I appreciate uncles and aunts who had a great influence on me: my great grandfather, the RaMaz, whom I never really knew; and a maternal grandfather who taught me to love davening and reading the Torah, and Jewish music. Many of you remember him Mr. Schlang.
- 2. I appreciate the gift of an education at Ramaz. I appreciate the teachers whom I was privileged to have: Ray Soloveitchik, who made such a critical difference in my life; Nechama Leibowitz, whom I had the privilege of knowing and in whose shiurim I learned anew how to analyze Chumash; Mr. Adler, who taught me precision, correctness in davening and Torah reading; yes, and Shlomo Schulsinger and Massad Camps where I got so much of my feeling for the rabbinate.

- 3. I have a new appreciation of the blessing of marriage. My father always said to his students in practical rabbinics: "The most important decision a young rabbi makes is his choice of wife." Thank God, my father-in-law enabled me to choose wisely and convinced Audrey to accept. She has made all the difference in the world in my life. Nothing that I have today would have been possible without her.
- 4. I appreciate the blessing of my seven children and now, thank God, twelve grandchildren, all of them committed to the same things in which I believe. And, of course, I appreciate the special blessing of having my own son following me in the pulpit of KJ.
- 5. Finally, I appreciate the gift of having the opportunity to spend my entire professional life in this community, in this shul, and in Ramaz, colleagues with who are extraordinary. To work together, to know that 27 years ago Cantor Davis and his family came to this shul and made such a critical difference in the nature of this community. To have the privilege of working all of these years with Noam Shudofsky, with Rabbi Rubin, and with so many others.

This congregation is Gan Eden. It is unique in the Jewish world. It's a place without politics, without divisiveness. It is pure pleasure to work here. Rabbi Abraham Twerski cautions rabbis about burnout and tells us that one should make sure that most of one's emotional support comes from outside the congregation. I don't know how it works for other rabbis, but I am happy that my emotional support comes from right here, ashre yoshvei veitecha—fortunate is the rabbi whose fulfillment comes from his family, and that includes his extended family.

Maybe I shouldn't work quite as hard. I am something of a workaholic. But sipuk nefesh? On the outside? The possibility of burnout? I really don't know what Rabbi Twerski is talking about.

There is so much more to be grateful for — to live in an era when the State of Israel came into being. To have the privilege of devoting twenty years of our lives to the struggle to free Soviet Jews. This is one of the occasions in life when one has the perspective of hakarat ha'tov. "I sing to God because He has bestowed so much upon me."

So — the people in Purim time reconfirmed what they had previously accepted. As a young person I accepted the responsibility of mitzvot and God's Kingship because they were thrust upon me. Now, in profound gratitude to my my teachers, family, congregation, the Ramaz family and, most of all, to God, I renew the commitment in a much more profound way. I hope that God gives me the health and vigor to continue to serve Him and His people especially this community — and to enjoy the blessings of the Torah with Audrey, with our children and grandchildren, with our family, and with all of you whom I love with all my heart. Amen!

RABBI ISAAC TRAININ CELEBRATES

pleased to We are congratulate Rabbi Isaac 50th the Trainin anniversary of his in Jewish leadership Communal work here in New York. Rabbi Trainin was the founder of the Department of Religious Affairs at UJA-Federation and has been a major force Federation keeping focused on the Jewish aspects of communal life. The religious community owes a great debt of gratitude to Rabbi Trainin and to his wife Frances. who has been a source of support and inspiration throughout these years.

We are proud that the Trainins are members of Kehilath Jeshurun and that they daven with us regularly.

In recent years, Rabbi Trainin organized the Bikur Cholim Commission for the Federation in which a number of our members have taken a leadership role. We hope that Rabbi Trainin with his consistently positive attitude on life will continue to offer this kind of leadership to the Jewish community.

THE FIREHOUSE ON 85TH STREET

Contributed by Alex Goldstein

As we are ending the Torah service and placing the sacred scrolls back in the ark, our rabbi said, "I would now like to introduce..." Before he could say another word, a couple of firemen walked into the sanctuary, and the entire synagogue immediately erupted into a loud, sustained applause, which must have lasted for five minutes. No one cheered, no one yelled, but all 500 people who were there clapped as loudly as possible.

The firemen were noticeably touched, rubbing tears from their eyes. The rabbi told them how much they meant to us, the neighborhood, the city and the world. He blessed them, both in Hebrew and English, and prayed for their safety. He offered his condolences to those firemen who were lost, and pledged our support to the families of the missing.

Then he said, "These guys still have a job to do, and they have to get back to the firehouse." So they headed back down the aisle to leave. As everyone again applauded, the firemen were mobbed. People left their seats to shake their hands, speak a few words of encouragement, and just touch them.

In Memoriam

SAMUEL BORENSTEIN

We lost a grand Jewish gentleman who died just before Pesach in his 97th year. Sam Borenstein was a treasure to our congregation and to several other synagogues (Fifth Avenue, Atlantic Beach Jewish Center, and the Palm Beach Orthodox Congregation) wherever he lived.

Vigorous, alert and sparkling to the very end, Sam loved people and in turn was beloved by everybody. His beautiful smile and cheerful countenance made everybody feel welcome. His optimistic view of life helped to carry him almost through ten full decades with verve and faith.

As a businessman he was a kosher caterer, specializing in airline food -Borenstein Caterers were the best in that sphere. His company ultimately became the exclusive caterer for El Al. It seemed that he always enjoyed catering to people and helping to fulfill their needs.

Pious toward God and mankind, loyal to the State of Israel which he loved dearly, a wonderful husband to the late Lili Brown Borenstein, and a veritable second father to Benjy and Fran Brown, Sam loved our shul and left an indelible mark on our community.

We cherished him in life and we will continue to cherish his memory in death.

LILY SMILOW

Lily Smilow was a survivor of Auschwitz who spent the last years of her life suffering from a debilitating and incapacitating illness.

She loved our shul and, until she was not able to walk, she very much enjoyed davening in her unostentatious manner in the ladies' balcony. She brought up two wonderful children, saw them graduate from Ramaz, and then saw three of her grandchildren become Ramaz alumni as well. Both of her children are active in their respective communities in Kew Gardens Hills and Plainview.

She was a loyal wife to her husband, Herman, who in turn took care of her with concern and compassion. She was a pious woman who had every reason to argue with God but who was steadfast in her belief in God's goodness.

NORMAN GREENBERG

A lawyer, real estate man by vocation, he was a pianist by avocation. Norman sat in the last row of our Main Synagogue alongside his father, of blessed memory.

He was an adoring father and grandfather, a loyal and loving husband to his late wife, Mildred, for whom he would do anything in the world, and a proud Jew who gloried in his heritage and endeavored to pass it on to his children.

Norman was always a generous friend of our congregation. He enjoyed the time he spent in our midst and he cherished the opportunity to be part of this community.
