A Message from Rabbi Fasman

Rabbi Mark Fasman

Rabbi@kolrinahstl.org

I wonder: How did the Israelites fill their days during the forty years of wandering in the wilderness? After all, God provided their "daily bread" in the form of manna. We are told that their clothing did not wear out, so no shopping or sewing. They were protected from enemies by God's providence (perhaps they spent some time training for the defense of the tribes in the wilderness and the conquest of the Land that would take place after Moses' death). Children always seem to be able to find ways to fill the hours – if not eating, then playing. But what about the adults? The adults had been slaves to Pharaoh – they knew for whom they toiled all day and where they would live and what tasks they were obligated to fulfill. It was work. Even if it wasn't meaningful – or even demeaning – at least it filled the hours.

It is as though 600,000-plus men and their wives went into retirement. I suspect that initially they relished their new freedom from slavery. But even freedom gets old when you have nothing to do with your free time. They had been given a gift from God: freedom from serving Pharaoh. And, on one hand, they were given the freedom to serve God as they wished.

God gives us a finite number of days – and keeps that number hidden from us. And so, we must find ways to fill our days with meaningful activities.

Pirke Avot, a tractate of the Mishnah that contains the wisdom of generations of Sages, is concerned with the character and values of those who are entrusted with transmitting wisdom to their communities. It begins with the statement:

משה קבל תורה מסיני, ומסרה ליהושע, ויהושע לזקנים, וזקנים לנביאים, ונביאים מסרוה לאנשי כנסת הגדולה.

"Moses received Torah [from God] at Sinai, and he transmitted it to Joshua, and Joshua to the Elders, and the Elders to the Prophets, and the Prophets to the members of the Great Assembly."

The Rabbis understand "Torah" to refer to the Oral Tradition, along with the Written Text.

It is tough enough to transmit the written Torah from generation – but at least we can store it in "hard copy" and hand it, verbatim, from our parents to our children. We don't even have to learn it ourselves. But the Oral tradition – the Authorized Interpretation of the Written text – is a different story. It is vast compared to the Written Torah. The Oral Torah of Moses was not the same as the Oral Torah of Joshua. The Elders each had a different Oral Torah. As did the Prophets.

The Oral Torah was selectively codified and written down by Rabbi Yehudah HaNasi in a text called the Mishnah (ca. 210 CE). "Mishnah" means "to repeat"; it eventually came to mean "to learn." Each subsequent generation added to that text. Oral Law continued to grow and change through the generations. So "Torah" continued to change and to grow. Very early on, it was a full-time job to learn Torah (Written and Oral). It was also a full-time job to teach Torah.

So maybe that's the best answer I can suggest as to what the Israelites were doing with their free time during the years in the Wilderness. They were learning with their teachers and with their students. Some taught and learned in formal settings, others informally.

In Pirke Avot, Hillel taught

אל תאמר לכשאפנה אשנה, שמא לא תפנה

"do not say, 'When I am free I will study,' for perhaps you will not become free."

Stimulate your mind. Learn some Torah. Read a good book. Solve puzzles. Take a class. Teach someone something. Discuss and debate ideas. Learn a new skill (or improve an existing skill). Be creative – express yourself in words, in art, in music. Watch a good film.

Every one of us has a Torah to teach. And we all have the Torah of countless others to learn. No matter how old we are, no matter how busy. Torah (in its broadest sense) has been the lifeblood of the Jewish people, handed down from generation to generation. We live on in the living Torah we have taught others.

Many exciting transitions are happening at Kol Rinah. The search is on for an additional rabbi to serve the congregation as it moves forward. One of the buildings has a contract for purchase and the other is being shown to interested possible buyers. The Facilities Committee is looking for a new permanent home, and if the right property is not available when needed, a temporary location is also being sought. And all of the congregation committees continue with business as usual, planning weekly services, holiday observances, adult and children programs, religious school curriculum and, of course, shul social events. Everyone at Kol Rinah is working to continue to build our community.

I recently ran across a blog posted by the "Coffee Shop Rabbi," Rabbi Ruth Adar, that was titled; "How to Succeed at Congregational Life: Ten Tips." Well that certainly struck my interest and I would like to share some of those tips.

1. ATTEND. Showing up is a start. Make a commitment to yourself to attend one event regularly. And make a promise to yourself you will give yourself a block of time 2-3 months to be there.

2. BE FLEXIBLE. Be open to connecting to people who are different from you but with whom you share values. Start up a discussion with someone about the purpose of the group and why you and they are interested in it.

3. ASK FOR ADVICE. Come into the office or call and ask to speak to someone about the current activities and programs that are going on to find the group you would like to join.

4. MAKE AN APPOINTMENT. Rabbi Fasman, all of the professional staff and I would love to be sources of information to you about the committees and social groups at Kol Rinah.

5. VOLUNTEER. The author of the blog states she has made her firmest friends by volunteering to clean up after an event. Yes, cleaning up. Think about it – set-up is busy and often anxiety-producing to all involved. But clean up time is when the more the better, and everyone is glad to have extra hands.

6. BE PROACTIVE. If you are not interacting with folks, then look for other people not interacting and start a conversation.

7. BE POSITIVE. Everyone has issues and complaining about them is expected, but unless you want people to avoid you, try to find a balance between complaints and compliments. Everyone works hard, especially the staff, but if you think it is important to alert them to a mistake, please try to say something about what was right.

8. DON'T BE INTIMIDATED. If you are the recipient of silly or insulting comments, just try to take it in stride, especially if you are never likely to see the persons again. But if it is someone you will see again, try to find an opportunity to make that person aware in a non-confrontational conversation. Or just change the subject.

9. BE A MEMBER, NOT A CONSUMER. If this is the shul for you, let this advice be your guide. Please keep your commitments to other members and staff. "Treat people like you are going to see them again. If there is a program or service you want, ask for it but be willing to contribute to making it happen."

The staff are not Kol Rinah. The building is not Kol Rinah. Kol Rinah is YOU.

As we begin to enjoy spring at Kol Rinah ECC, we are getting excited about SUMMER FUN CAMP! This summer we will be going somewhere over the rainbow!

Summer is always a fun time at Kol Rinah. Everyone will have a terrific time exploring colors in nature, discovering ways to eat, dance, and sing the rainbow, all summer long. Children and teachers love being outside, doing water play, and gardening – this year we are adding a colorful twist to our camp activities. The rainbow theme will enhance the activities that both the specialists and classroom teachers do with our children.

We are looking forward to some fun family programs as well. We will have an all school "undernight", messy meal, free play in the gym, picnic, and an end of summer art show! All members of our Special Person's Club are invited to our summer art show as well. Watch for our invitation as the summer gets near.

Summer Fun Camp will be here before we know it. If your child wants to be a part of sunny days and bright and colorful fun, please contact Kol Rinah ECC at 314.727.2565 or email marty@KolRinahstl.org

We look forward to exploring the magic of the rainbow with all our children!

KRRS IN MOTION

Going to the St. Louis Symphony on a Sunday afternoon after a morning at KRRS, I found myself thinking how much a school setting, any school setting, requires the same “C” words to function as any harmonious group does, no matter what type (genre) the music, whether it be instrumental or choral. Like a school, the orchestra is a Community that comes together after practicing alone, then in small groups and finally as a whole ensemble to create marvelous, awe-inspiring music.

These musicians have made a Commitment to do their best, for themselves, but even more for the group, as a whole. They have made a Commitment to Cooperate and Collaborate so that each person’s skill at playing his or her instrument blends into a beautiful whole – like all the pieces of a patchwork quilt beautifully layered over a bed.

Community = A Commitment to Cooperation and Collaboration

I suppose that another way to say this is “We can get a whole lot done if we work together!!”

Of course, in a school setting that includes children, teachers, administrators and parents – the “WHOLE VILLAGE” idea.

An example of a great collaboration took place through our MaHaKeshet Grant on Feb. 23rd when our students of grades 2/3 and 4/5, with their families, met with staff to share personal Jewish artifacts. Each item was special, beautiful and stories were shared about the personal meaning of each piece. Next, our students had the opportunity to create new Jewish artifacts for their homes – special wall hangings.

The 2/3 graders made hamsas with colorful tiles and sparkles, each one a lovely work of art. The 4/5 graders used templates to draw the Jerusalem skyline on canvas boards and added color with special markers and “jewels”. Pictures are included below!

Furthermore, parents and I spent some time that morning sharing their thoughts about the Religious School programming.

As I write this, I am collaborating with Emily Thal at B’nai Amoona for the “Purim themed” second/third grade Shabbateeny. Along with other staff people, children from Kol Rinah and B’nai Amoona will have spent a whole Saturday involved in prayer, eating together and learning about Purim through stories, music and games. Families will have joined at the end of the day for a Havdalah service.

Our own staff members and I will have cooperated on preparing our students to be part of the Megillah reading in the main Sanctuary at Kol Rinah on the day of Purim, Sunday, March 16th. We will have helped our students prepare groggers and masks. They will have paraded in costumes and performed songs for and with the Kol Rinah community.

Community = A Commitment to Cooperation and Collaboration

The music is back!

Our Musical Shabbat Rinah has returned every Friday night at 6 p.m.

Led by Rabbi Fasman, the Shabbat Rinah service features piano (Ben Portner), violin (Mike Shanas), and vocalists (Rabbi Fasman and Karen Simmons) encouraging everyone to welcome Shabbat with joy. The ruach (spirit) of the community singing beautiful melodies (many composed by Shlomo Carlebach) helps us leave the week behind and enter the sacred space of Shabbat.

Come, join us and experience the joy of Shabbat for yourself.

Shabbat Rinah is sponsored by the Rubin Music Fund.

The advertisement features a photograph of two young girls standing on top of a large, ancient stone wall with a dark arched opening. They are both smiling and have their arms raised in the air. # Youth Programs

Kol Rinah's Youth would like to extend a huge thank you to the congregation for being so supportive of our Purim Carnival last month. With your generosity and involvement we raised crucial funds for Jewish youth programming and opened doors for many Jewish children and teenagers. The money raised during the Purim Carnival is directly benefiting our USY and Kadima members, allowing them to attend life-changing conventions and forge strong and lasting Jewish friendships.

This month will see our youth as busy as ever. It's incredible to think that we are already gearing up for end of the year festivities but it's true! USY is preparing for their Spring Kallah where they will be electing regional board members and tackling the subject of love and Judaism. Our USYers will spend a Shabbat learning what Judaism has to say about dating, marriage, and sexuality. By the end of April we will elect our own KRSTL executive board and begin welcoming our current 8th graders into the exciting world of USY. All kinds of fun programs and activities will be coming on in connection with this transition. Be on the look out for invitations to events and opportunities to learn more about USY and leadership experience.

April is also the month of Passover! We will be having a Chocolate Seder on April 9th for 6-12th grade. We hope to see our middle and high schoolers around the table enjoying the magic of chocolate and Passover tradition. Keep an eye out for upcoming opportunities for teens to celebrate Passover in new and fun ways.

Check out all the fun pictures from our youth programs and conventions on Facebook at facebook.com/kolrinahUSY. Our Youth Commission is always looking for new and dedicated members who are ready to share ideas. Even if you aren't ready to join the commission we still would love to hear from you. ## Adult Education Committee presents World-Renowned Fertility Specialist to speak at Kol Rinah.

Fertility and infertility play a major role in the early Parshas of the Torah. In Bereishis and Noach, God encourages Man to be fruitful and multiply, and they do so successfully. In Lech Lecha, when Abraham and Sarah cannot conceive a child, God sends a fertility expert in the form of an Angel and, with his help, Sarah becomes pregnant and Isaac is born.

On Friday Night May 9, Kol Rinah will be visited by a current day fertility angel, world-wide infertility authority Dr. Sherman Silber. He will discuss how diagnostic and therapeutic technology has changed since the time of Sarah and Abraham and how these technologies relate to Torah requirements.

Dr. Silber is the medical director of the Infertility Center of St. Louis at St. Luke's Hospital in St. Louis, Missouri, where he has used his expertise to treat patients from around the world.

Blood Drive

May 7, 2014 • 3:00 - 7:00pm in Leve Auditorium

Blood Donors Must:

- Be healthy*
- Be at least 17 years old or 16 years old with parental consent if allowed by state law
- Weigh at least 110 lbs. (Additional weight requirements apply for donors 18 years old and younger and all high school donors.

*Note: Healthy means that you feel well and can perform normal activities. If you have a chronic condition such as diabetes, healthy also means that you are being treated and the condition is under control.

Tips for a Successful Donation:

- Maintain a healthy iron level by eating iron-rich foods such as red meat, fish, poultry, beans, spinach, iron-rich cereals and raisins.
- Drink an extra 16 oz. of water or nonalcoholic fluid before your donation.
- Do not fast before a blood donation.
- Eat healthy. Stay away from fatty foods like hamburgers, fries and ice cream.
- Try to get a good night's sleep.
- Wear shirt/sweater with sleeves that can be raised above your elbow.

Bring your donor card, driver's license or two other forms of ID. Benefits of Donating:

- It feels great to donate!
- You get free juice and delicious Keebler® cookies.
- It's something you can spare – most people have blood to spare... yet, there is still not enough to go around.
- You will help ensure blood is on the shelf when needed – most people don't think they'll ever need blood, but many do.
- You will be someone's hero – in fact, you could help save more than one life with just one donation.
