Despite some very cold, snowy and icy conditions, the foundation walls for our Sanctuary addition are being completed. Bids for the second phase of work have been requested and will be reviewed in February.

Thank you Stacey Hudson for your ongoing photo documentation of the construction.

Kol Rinah welcomes everyone. This means YOU! Kol Rinah is a dynamic and forward-looking congregation where all generations come together to experience Judaism in innovative ways. Our mission is to create a welcoming community that embraces Torah and meaningful worship, lifelong learning, music, Israel and Tikkun Olam, guided by the tenets of Conservative Judaism. We embrace a diversity of Jews and Jewish families, including Jews by choice and Jews by birth, Jews of all hues, Jewish singles, couples, and families, interfaith households, LGBTQ Jews, Jews of all abilities and disabilities, the Jew-curious, and more! If there is anything we can do to make you more welcome or to accommodate your needs, please let us know.

The VOICE 2
I was fascinated and delighted to have more than twenty people come to the series of classes I taught on kashrut and serving as a volunteer mashgiach (kosher supervisor). This was a very different kind of class from what we usually teach at Kol Rinah.

Usually, the focus is on the meaning we can derive from the texts. For example, Torah Talk is usually focused both on better understanding the text of the Torah, but also thinking about the lessons we can learn for our own lives and world.

For this class though, the focus was very much on a body of knowledge, on content. I lectured far more than I usually do. It was about conveying information in a comprehensible way.

But another difference was the topic itself—kashrut. Kashrut is fundamentally halakha—Jewish law. It’s prescriptive, telling one what to do, with frequent disagreements, which are annoying when one is trying to figure out what to do!

We’re not always so willing to give our lives—any part of our lives—over to a system that we cannot control...

We’re not always so willing to give our lives—any part of our lives—over to a system that we cannot control, yet that is what we effectively do when we choose to live according to halakha.

Generally, I find Conservative Jews somewhat less interested in studying the details of halakha, because we don’t always feel ourselves bound by halakha. Thus, it often feels less relevant to us. What for me was so satisfying was that this halakha was relevant—it was about our standards of kashrut at Kol Rinah.

Of course, there is a subset of people at Kol Rinah who are deeply interested in these questions, and not only academically.

As a teacher, one has to be much more of an expert to teach halakha, because meaning is not subjective and waiting to be discovered, but rather, one must know all the relevant opinions and possibilities.

Based on this wonderful experience, I’ll make sure to include this kind of practical, halakhic class in the mix of classes I’m teaching at Kol Rinah in the future!

Thank you and the Kol Rinah Congregation for the generous support provided to the St. Louis Community Eruv. The Eruv is one of the organizations providing an important service to the Jewish Community of St Louis, and your support and the support of the Kol Rinah Congregation is valued and appreciated.

May their memories be a blessing.
I have been thinking a lot about change since January 1. It has been a whirlwind of poignant losses and exciting transitions—with more to come in the months ahead...

Starting with the poignant, we recently lost several dear, valued members of our community. We continue to grieve and adjust to their absence. I find comfort in knowing that their memories will be for a blessing to us all.

After nearly 40 years in Arizona, my amazing mom, Edie Mozenter, decided to move to St. Louis to join our wonderful community. In less than a week, we packed up her home and sold it, and instantly settled her in St. Louis, a place where she never lived. My mother continues to marvel at the warmth, inclusion, vibrancy and support of her new home. I can’t wait to get her working on a Kol Rinah committee.

As if that wasn’t enough change in less than six weeks, after 21 years at the same office location, I was given 30 days notice to vacate. As of today, I am relocated in my new office and it is wonderful. The transition was stressful, worrisome and filled with trepidation but now that I am physically there I can see all the benefits of the relocation. I am sure it will still take time for it to feel like “my place.” One of the advantages of my new space is that it is within walking distance of our new Maryland Avenue site.

Nice segue, right? Which gets me to my central point. This is the year when after much (literal) blood, sweat and tears, we will relocate Kol Rinah to our new facility. Thanks to our own Stacey Hudson, every week our website posts new photographs that show significant progress as our new sanctuary literally rises from the ground.

Of course, our work on that transition is not finished. We will need additional funds to build out needed phases of our new home, including essential services and our renowned Early Childhood Center. Thank you again to all who have already given to our capital campaign. Please consider an additional donation, or a first time contribution for those who have not yet participated.

And last but certainly not least, please welcome our new Officers and Board of Directors. They have hit the ground running and are already serving our community in new and exciting ways. For further information please see our website at www.KolRinahStL.org.

Warmly,
Randi Mozenter
Sofer on Site Annual
Torah Maintenance
Wednesday, March 27, 2019
8:00 am

Rabbi Yochanan Salazar, a sofer from Sofer On Site, will be at Kol Rinah all day on Wednesday, March 27, and the morning of Thursday, March 28.

Rabbi Salazar will do the annual maintenance for our nine kosher Torahs. This involves unrolling each scroll to check for signs of deterioration, broken letters, or parchment that needs to be sown back together.

There will be opportunities on Wednesday for our students to watch the sofer while he is working, and to ask questions about making and repairing torahs. Adults will also be able to participate.

The calendar keeps moving forward and spring is almost upon us. Even in February we get glimpses of its coming. Hopefully, soon, worries about polar vortexes and weird cold weather will be past us and we can settle in to enjoying several nice months before worrying about the beastly hot ‘vortexes’ which may invade us.

A large thank you to all who braved the frigid weather by attending Michael Faccini’s Bar Mitzvah on January 19th, followed by the Sisterhood Kiddush generously sponsored by his friends. And thank you Steve and Nancy Keyser this year again for scheduling the Faye Keyser Memorial Kiddush luncheons by Sisterhood. The first one is February 16th, and the second on April 6th, when Steve will be celebrating the anniversary of his Bar Mitzvah by chanting the Haftarah, and then sponsoring the kiddush.

The Sisterhood is also very appreciative of the help and support we received from many in the congregation who worked to make our annual Sisterhood Shabbat on January 26th a success. The service made visible the many talents of our women members. Women spent countless hours perfecting the prayers and Torah readings and Haftarah reading. It was an occasion made even more meaningful for many who can recall the time in the not so distant past, when the idea of a women’s Shabbat itself would have been unthinkable.

March 2nd brings Trivia Night, an annual tradition filled with questions unique, interesting, easy and challenging. It’s a great time to share edibles (the array and variety at each table is mind boggling), and of course visit with friends. If you don’t have a table, check with the office and we’ll find one for you. This event brings funds to both Sisterhood and Men’s Club, who in turn support the workings of the Shul. Your support and generosity are greatly and sincerely appreciated.

Sisterhood’s annual Torah Fund Luncheon, chaired by Linda Makler, will feature Karen Aroesty, Regional Director, ADL Heartland, Greater St. Louis area as our speaker on April 7, 2019. More information will be forthcoming, but save the date. Torah Fund was among many things that Irene Belsky, z”l, worked on each year. Her presence at minyanim is missed daily, and we look to honor both her memory and involvement to help our Seminaries.

All the best,
Joyce & Susan
Purim!

I am so excited that Purim is coming!

Purim is my favorite Holiday. In Israel, purim is always the happiest time of the year. The Holiday starts 3 weeks before the actual date, and people prepare their costumes sometimes 6 months in advance!

In my High School, Purim is very special.

The seniors are responsible for the production of all Purim events. We start a week before, and every day each grade gets a different theme for their costumes. For example, it can be different countries, or Israeli commercials, or genres in music. Even the teachers take parts and they always come up with the best costumes!

After this week, on the first Friday before Purim, all the seniors set up a show for the school. We write the script, record the videos and songs, and even set up the stage and background! After the show, there is a costume contest and the teachers are also participating!

In other places in Israel, in Tel Aviv for example, there are Purim Parties. There are also Festivals that are called AdloYada’s. These events are Marches with many dancers and big vehicles carrying big colorful structures Purim themed. It is really fun to watch and people come all over from Israel to these amazing events!

Here are some photos of Purim in Israel.

KRSTL USY is gearing up for the annual Purim Carnival! This year we will be bringing Candy Land to life with Candy Land themed booths, costumes, and of course, plenty of candy! You won’t want to miss out on the fun for all ages on Sunday, March 10th, 4-6:30pm. We will have games and prizes, hot dogs, hamburgers, and hamentashen served by Men’s Club, and a silent auction.

USY and Kadima allow our high schoolers and middle schoolers to get involved in Jewish life, develop their Jewish identity, and create community at Kol Rinah. The annual Purim Carnival is USY/Kadima’s biggest fundraiser and allows us to continue to build and grow as a group. It is completely planned, developed and primarily run by our youth. With your support, it opens us up to new programs, experiences and opportunities.

There are several ways to help make this carnival SWEET!

If you are interested in volunteering at the carnival, donating to sponsor a booth, or donating an item for the silent auction, email toby@kolrinahstl.org or visit kolrinahstl.org to fill out the “Purim Carnival: Sponsorship, Donate & Volunteer” form. We appreciate any help you are able to give and will print your name on our thank you wall at the event.

While the Purim Carnival is currently our main focus, we’ve had a lot of other fun activities keeping us busy as well. In January, we enjoyed learning about Jews around the world in a game of Jewpardy, we learned about sustainability and Tu BiSh’vat and up-cycled some old t-shirts into bags, we went ice skating, and we had some pointless debates (if you were wondering, a hotdog is not a sandwich, bagels are better than donuts, pants are better than shorts, and birds are better than dogs).

See you March 10th at the Purim Carnival!
Learning Something New About Ourselves

Have you ever found yourself in a situation that is totally new? For many of us, it can be intimidating, scary, and uncomfortable, but on occasion, new situations can also be exciting and engaging. Each and every time we push ourselves into new situations, we open up new possibilities to learn about ourselves and our world.

This past month has been an incredible opportunity to learn who we are at the Kol Rinah Education Hub (KoREH). Just a few weeks ago, an amazing article was written about our learning community by Bill Motchan in the St. Louis Jewish Light. If you haven’t read it yet, I hope you will take a look:

It was an incredible joy to have our families, our students, our teachers, and our staff featured front and center in such a positive light. The flood of compliments and inquiries about the school and our innovative take on Jewish learning have been incredibly energizing.

But even more than this, we have renewed our vision to always make our learning accessible to everyone who walks in the door. So if you are someone who has never experienced the KoREH learning community, I am formally inviting you to come and learn with us! On Saturday, April 13, from 10am-12pm, we will be holding our second Yom lyyyn (a day of special learning) open to the entire community. On that Shabbat morning, we will have learning activities that mirror our formal program for learners from Pre-Kindergarten through 7th grades, as well as a separate in depth learning experience for adults. It is a wonderful opportunity to get to know the community in a new way, to build connections with other wonderful people, and to hopefully learn something new about the amazing person you are.

If you, or another family you know, might be interested in joining our learning community more formally, we will be having an Educational Open House on Sunday, April 14 from 4-5pm at the home of Sharon Rosenberg and Al Snyder, as well as a KoREH preview day on Sunday, May 5 from 9:30am-12:30pm. As always if you want to learn more about KoREH, please call the office or send me an email: rabbishafrin@kolrinahstl.org.

Kol Rinah ECC has had so many wonderful things going on the past few weeks and with the anticipation of Purim right around the corner we have so many more exciting events to look forward to!

In January, at our Tu Bishvat/MLK Jr. Day Family Program, children from the ECC along with children from Kol Rinah Young Families group had an opportunity to visit four engaging, interactive learning stations. At each station, children and their families sampled foods associated with Tu Bishvat as well as complete a project that went along with the theme of the table. For example, at one of the stations, the focus of the table was fruits with a hard shell and soft inside. While at this station, children and their families tried pomegranate and coconut, traced and painted their handprint for a collaborative art project, and parents were encouraged to discuss with each other a time when they may have judged someone by their hard exterior before getting to know them inside.

In February, we had our Special Person’s Breakfast. At this annual event, grandparents, relatives, and special friends got to know each other and spend time with the child who invited them, while enjoying made-to order pancakes. After breakfast, we all came together for Shabbat with Rabbi Noah, Rabbi Scott and our music teacher, Miss Karen.

We are also gearing up for summer camp. This summer’s theme is Summerpalooza. The summer will be divided into four mini-themes, giving campers the opportunity to explore each theme in depth over the course of two weeks. Kol Rinah families whose children attend other schools are welcome to enroll in our summer camp when space allows. If you are interested, please contact us at eccdirector@kolrinahstl.org for more information. We also have limited openings in our school-year program for children 6 weeks through PreK. Enrollment for new families will begin March 1.
Our campaign is growing... over $5,400,000 and counting • Join the list:
So many of our families came together on January 21st to celebrate Tu BiSh’vat and MLK Jr. Day. It was a great opportunity to combine the themes of both holidays of doing good for our world by being kind and welcoming to others and respectful to our planet. Kids enjoyed fun holiday themed activities and snacks, sing alongs with Ms. Karen, and story time with Ms. Liz.

While it is so valuable to have events and programming catered specifically to children, it is also wonderful and impactful to have opportunities for people of all ages in our community to be present together. We aim to provide excellent kid programming at Kol Rinah, but also strive to make services accessible to kids to create an intergenerational community. In January, we debuted a set of Busy Bags, activity bags that are available during services at any time, not just when we have kids programming. Kids can use these activities in services to stay engaged and interested and to make being in services more fun and a positive experience for them. Activities range from felt Shabbat kits, aleph bet matching spoons, popsicle stick puzzles, and more! Check them out next time you are at services (they might even be fun for some adults as well!).

Our regular programming has been a great success as well. Our January Rhythm ‘n’ Ruach had such great attendance we were spilling out of the room! Make sure to be part of the fun and meaningful Jewish experience for your children by joining us at First Friday Night for Families on March 1st and April 5th, Rhythm ‘n’ Ruach on March 9th, and Tot Shabbat on March 30th and April 13th. Join us at the annual Purim Carnival as well on March 10th, 4-6:30pm for games, prizes, dinner, and a silent auction! With the theme of Candy Land, this year’s carnival will be the SWEETEST yet!
In the old days, questions about how you think or feel about God were the domain of the Rabbi and the Rabbi alone.

These days – with a better educated laity – many congregants have begun sharing their own thoughts on this difficult topic.

JTS Faculty Member for half a century, Rabbi Neil Gillman, (z’l) taught that it’s important for all to “do their own theology”. He wrote about it in his award winning book, “Sacred Fragments” in 1989 (Jewish Publication Society) and later in his 2008 “Doing Jewish Theology”, (Jewish Light Publishing). He writes:

“It is natural for scholars and other professionals to insist that their fields remain the private preserve of those who have received advanced, specialized training. After all, what was the purpose of their years of education if just anyone can speak with authority on their issue?”

He continues:

“If ever this elitism is misplaced, it is in the discipline of theology. --- There is not a human being who has not wondered about God’s existence and nature…”

And:

“After years of teaching Jewish theology… I have discovered that many American Jews are, in fact “doing” their own theology… For the most part, they are not convinced that their personal theology is worth consideration by anyone else”

Rabbi Gillman tried to change that and encouraged us all to think about these matters and – perhaps – put pen to paper to express how they feel.

So, at Kol Rinah we have made an effort to allow members to express their own theology in a small group setting. For some, theology is very private and they would be uncomfortable sharing their views with others. Some feel that their thoughts do not merit sharing. “Maybe what I have to say will be considered ‘heretical’ or outside the norm of Judaism?” Another group may feel that they cannot express themselves clearly enough to make it worth writing down. For others, again, this may not seem important; “I have my reasons to come to Shul or to belong to a congregation, none of which have anything to do with theology”.

To all of you, falling into one or another of these categories, if you are willing, we are obviously open to listen to you.

If you are curious about our group, whether you want to share your thoughts or not, we are the opposite of judgmental; we welcome all views. There are no right answers. There are no wrong answers.

SPRING HAS FINALLY SPRUNG

This winter has been the ninth wettest for St. Louis since records have been kept. My backyard has almost finally dried out. Just in time for the spring showers. But the day of the World Wide Wrap was dry (photos on pages 2-3). After learning about the background and reason for Tefillin and how to wrap it, the group enjoyed a nosh of bagels, cream cheese, Danish, coffee, milk and orange juice.

Membership committee started the year off with an “earth warming” Tu Bishvat Shabbat dinner for our Boomer members. We hope to build on this small group program concept next year as well. We would like to encourage more Kol Rinah members to celebrate this creative and educational tradition in their homes with other members who may live nearby. It lends itself to many variations - it can be intergenerational, as little or as much food as you prefer, on a non-yontif night or afternoon, as much or as little Hebrew as is comfortable, based on relevant modern or traditional themes, Israel centered or international, and much more! We hope to get Tu Bishvat seder guides out in enough time for families or couples or singles to plan ahead. Stay tuned for next year.

Our next plan is headed for Purim! There are a lot of opportunities for fun on Purim but the membership committee leads on the Shpiel or after party - designed for those of legal drinking age! These plans are not yet ready for public viewing! Having two months of Adar gives us more planning time. Just don’t let March 20 sneak up on you! Look out as details become available.

Have any of you been to the Hanley House in Clayton? We are looking for a time to meet with the guide there to learn about the illustrious Hanley family and how they influenced the forming of our address namesake. If you have been there, please share with us any information you learned about the Hanleys.

Believe it or not, some smart folks at Kol Rinah are already looking for ideas to welcome new members (or potential members) around the High Holidays!

It’s never too early to plan, especially when we know the Jewish calendar keeps bringing around for us more opportunities to celebrate and grow!

We welcome your ideas for new or to redo programs that bring our membership together - for ritual, or social, or musical or educational opportunities.

Thank you
