“Ethics” and “Free Will”

Dr. Ralph Graff and Richard Gavatin will talk about the “eternal” problem of Free Will. Is there free will? What are the religious approaches to Free Will? What does modern neuroscience say? Some surprising findings will be discussed.

Dr. Marjorie Lehman, Scholar-in-Residence at Kol Rinah

Kol Rinah is, of course, an egalitarian congregation—men and women participate equally in ritual. But as we know, life is so much more than ritual. Ritual is actually a way of being neater and more orderly than life ever can be. Ritual has fixed rules and structure; life is messy.

While in our synagogue, ritual is egalitarian, in our society, Jewish and secular, life is not egalitarian. From fixed gender norms to gender inequity to sexual assault and harassment to gender stereotypes, gender is an important part of our lives and the way our world is structured.

The first time I learned about the category of Jewish laws described as “positive, time-bound commandments,” was in Dr. Marjorie Lehman’s Talmud class my second year of rabbinical school at the Jewish Theological Seminary. The category applies to mitzvot like saying the Shema, which is supposed to be done at particular times in the morning and evening. In that class, we didn’t really interrogate the concept of positive, time-bound commandments and women’s exemptions from them—it was a basic Talmud class.

But Dr. Lehman has made one of the focuses of her academic work feminist approaches and topics in Jewish studies and Talmud, and I’m so glad that she’ll be with us at Kol Rinah Friday-Saturday November 22-23, 2019.

Dr. Lehman is a meticulous, compassionate and rigorous teacher and scholar who has also written on Talmud pedagogy (how to teach Talmud), and is working on a feminist commentary to the Talmudic tractate Yoma, that deals with Yom Kippur. More information about her is available here (http://www.jtsa.edu/marjorie-lehman).

Friday night following services, she’ll speak over dinner on the topic, “You Never Call, You Never Write!": Breaking the Negative Stereotypes of Jewish Motherhood.

Saturday morning, she’ll give a sermon entitled, David, His Sons and His Wives: The Challenges of Kinship. After kiddush on Saturday, she’ll teach on What the Rabbis Have to Say in Response to the #MeToo Movement.

She’ll reprise her talk on Jewish motherhood at B’nai Amoona at 10:15am Sunday morning.

Her visit is sponsored by the Hereld Institute for Jewish Studies at JTS, the Sara and Leo Wolf Education Fund of Kol Rinah, and the Rabbi Bernard Lipnick Foundation for Conservative Judaism.

Thank you for all your birthday wishes.

Tovah Enger

Dear Kol Rinah family, a very big Thank You to you all. You made my birthday so very special. I was overwhelmed by your kindness. Needless to say, you turned the Day of Atonement into an evening of celebration.

Marian Katz

Our apologies for the previous inaccurate thank you note from the Podolskys. Here is the corrected version.

Heartfelt thanks to those who remembered Mitchell’s birthday and our 55th wedding anniversary. Greatly appreciated. Wishing a L’Shanah Tovah to our Kol Rinah Family.

Fondly,
Joyce & Mitchell Podolsky

How do you measure a year?
In seconds? Months? Maybe moments and memories?
And how do you measure 3 years?
I measured my last 3 years by anticipation. The anticipation to make a dream come true. To be a shinshinit outside of Israel. To live and act in a Jewish community abroad. To feel it, learn from the people and the community.

It all started when I was at a Jewish summer camp in Canada, three years ago. There, for the first time I was exposed to Jews who live outside of Israel. I saw their way of living, their love for Israel and in some ways I felt a little at home. I was excited to see Israeli flags, hearing words in Hebrew in their daily life at camp, and sing “Hatikva,” the Israeli national anthem, with them for the first time abroad and I felt connected to it more than ever. I was amazed to find that they discussed issues dealing with Israel and I heard some of their opinions about Israel and the things that are going on there even if they were different than mine. At the camp there were two shinshinitot, two Israeli teens who had just finished high school. I asked them about what they did there, how they got accepted into the program, and what it would take to apply for this year-long program.

When I left the camp to Toronto, I was hosted by a Jewish family and the first evening they told me they were going to Shiva. It took me a while to understand what they meant when they said shiva in Hebrew. I was shocked. It did not occur to me that Jewish people outside of Israel lived a Jewish life. I saw how they did not take their Jewish lifestyle for granted because they lived in a non-jewish environment. I loved it and wanted to know more. When I came back to Israel I declared that I would be a shinshinit abroad.

Less than a year later, I flew in a delegation with my youth movement to Bulgaria to meet the Bulgarian chapter of my youth movement. We did activities there, Hebrew lessons, organized the Passover seder, and learned about the Jewish community. I was amazed to find out that not all the youth in the Bulgarian group were Jews but they still went to a Jewish youth group because of the values and the people.

In the Hebrew lessons I was excited to see a map of Israel, the lyrics for Hatikva, and words in Hebrew on the board. We even met kids who wore a kippa and who were Hebrew speakers. It was kind of like home in a foreign place. During that week it was interesting to speak with the people and have more experiences of what a Jewish lifestyle looks like away from Israel. During my stay there I had a thought: if that is what a shinshin does in their shnat sherut, their year of service, abroad from Israel, I want to do it too! I want to feel the satisfaction I felt every day when I did something for and with the Jewish community in Bulgaria for a whole year.

January twenty-fourth: I receive an e-mail from the Jewish Agency for Israel that says I have an interview for St. Louis. Just by reading the headline I got so excited in a way I couldn’t put into words. I knew it was the right place for me.

January thirty-first: I get a phone call in which I am told I am going to be in St. Louis next year!! I had tears of joy. It was so surreal for me that it would happen. I had waited all day long for someone to call me and say “Hey Shaked, it was a joke, you’re not really going to be in St. Louis”. It took me a while to understand that it was really happening.

My name is Shaked Birenboim, I am 18 years old from kibbutz Mishmar Haemek and I am your Shinshinit. I am honored to be here and thank you for the opportunity to make my dream come true.
If you were in shul on Rosh Hashanah, you witnessed the beautiful sight of dozens of young families flooding the sanctuary to hear the Shofar, and delight in the New Year! It was joyful to see so many children and their parents, and a good sign for the coming year. Our young families were invited to participate in interactive programs about the sights and sounds of Rosh Hashanah, and we will continue with new activities on Yom Kippur. Earlier in September, we kicked off the year with a “Back to School Shabbat” and a rousing session of Rhythm and Ruach with Morah Shelley Dean. We are excited to see families coming out to First Friday Night for Families, complete with snacks beforehand, and a musical Kabbalat Shabbat service. We continued to be busy with Tashlich for families at Tilles Park, and a festive Simchat Torah.

Coming up in December, we will have more Tot Shabbat on December 7th, Rhythm and Ruach December 14th, and a Family Chanukah Party December 15th! More events may pop up as there is interest, so be on the lookout for Young Family emails. If you haven’t been receiving emails for Young Families, and would like to be put on the list, please email Melissa@kolrinahstl.org.

On a personal note, thank you for such a warm welcome. I have enjoyed meeting so many of you, and I look forward to connecting as the year progresses. If you have any ideas or thoughts about the coming year, I’d love to be in touch!

KRECC has had a terrific start to the school year! We started off the year with a back to school event at Shaw Park on Sunday, August 18. The children had a great time running through the splash pad, exploring the playground, and visiting the ice cream truck where they got to pick their ice cream treat. Parents had the opportunity to connect with each other while watching their children interact with friends.

During Rosh Hashanah, we invited families to join their children for a morning of learning and exploring. At stations set up in the ECC hallway, children and parents had opportunities to sift through a honey bee themed sensory bin, use cookie cutters to create shapes from apple flavored oobleck, and use tweezers to place “seeds” in the pomegranates. In the community room parents and children were also treated to honey cake, honey and cinnamon cereal, and Rosh Hashanah music. One morning before Rosh Hashanah, Rabbi Scott visited classrooms to share the sounds of the shofar. During Sukkot, Rabbi Noah stopped by classrooms to show a lulav and etrog, giving children the chance to shake it in all directions. For our family Sukkot program, families joined us for lunch in the Sukkah. Children made decorations with Miss Erin Richter, our art teacher, to adorn the Sukkah.

On November 10, The Novel Neighbor is hosting a book fair for our school. Everyone is invited to shop from 12- 6pm that day. Those with young families are invited to attend our family program from 3-6 pm. ECC teachers will be staffing the activities during the family program so parents can shop without interruption during this time. Online purchases can be made through the website, thenovelneighbor.indielite.org, from 11/4 – 11/10. The items purchased through the online website will count toward our fundraiser as long as KRECC is added to the comments section of the order.
As the High Holidays are past, we look forward to starting afresh in 5780, hoping to improve on the years past. Sisterhood’s annual Break the Fast, generously supported by Steve and Nancy Keyser through the Faye Keyser Seudah Fund, and Supper in the Sukkah are now lovely memories.

As we look at the past, we happily remember Grace Kalina’s beautiful Bat Mitzvah and the opportunity to provide the Kiddush luncheon that day. We thought at the time that her Bat Mitzvah would be the last at our Hanley location. However, Grace Cooperstein’s joyful Bat Mitzvah was also celebrated on Hanley, with another Sisterhood Kiddush luncheon. We thank both families for allowing us to play a part in their simchas.

We appreciate Steve and Nancy Keyser through the Faye Keyser Seudah Fund for sponsoring the Kiddush on August 24, and for the Arnows and Max Brown for the Sisterhood Kiddush on September 14, to honor Susan’s (my) 70th birthday. The Faye Keyser Seudah Fund will again sponsor the Kiddush to honor Veteran’s Day, along with the Heller family to honor Harlan and the 50th anniversary of his Bar Mitzvah! The Keysers will also sponsor a Kiddush to celebrate Steve and Nancy’s wedding anniversary. Thank you to the Keysers for your generous and continued support.

Our annual Trivia night has a new date and new venue. It will take place on February 29th at the JCC this year! Mark your calendars!

Our looking at the future is at the end of this secular year. Our new building is nearing completion. We are thankful for all of the wonderful services that we have had in this building for these past years, and for the joining together of both legacy congregations to become Kol Rinah, soon to be on Maryland Avenue. We are thankful for the friendships and learning we have now and look forward to a continuing future of Sisterhood helping our congregation's ECC, USY, and KoREH. We are thankful to the Congregation for supporting Sisterhood and its mission to help the Shul and all of its parts. We are very thankful.

Looking forward to more,

Susan and Joyce
ALREADY IT’S TIME FOR THANKSGIVING?!

Where did the year go? It really is true – the older one gets, the faster time flies. But, enough rumination.

The High Holiday Usher Corps is an activity of the Men’s Club. We recruit ushers to assist those attending our High Holiday services so that things run smoothly, and everyone feels welcomed. I would like to thank the following who volunteered this past holiday season and made things run smoothly with welcoming smiles and attention to the needs of worshipers.

In October, the Men’s Club served its last steak in the Sukkah at Hanley Road. Our Steak & Scotch in the Sukkah with a Touch of Talmud was once again a resounding success. We are looking forward to serving steaks in the Sukkah on Maryland Avenue next year.

Backtracking a little more, we welcomed our KoREH kids and parents back to religious school in a fun way with a variety of pancakes, all the trimmings and sticky fingers on September 8.

Looking ahead, we will be introducing Jews & Booze: Torah on Tap, a new opportunity to learn in a relaxed, casual space. Look for details to follow.

OTHER COMING EVENTS:

January 19 – Men’s Club Annual Sports Night
February 2 – World Wide Wrap, learn to lay Tefillin

The synagogue was comfortably full for the Yom Tovim. Next year we should have a ‘good problem’!

Our committee greeted many new and old faces – as you entered and as you left for the day. It is a fun job that really helps us get to know the many members of our growing congregation. Anyone can do it. You might consider it for next year. Please!

Recently we have welcomed several new members. Morris and Debbie Finkelstein, Loren Bach and Naomi Hoffman with Eliana, Maya and Laila Bach, Bryan and Kelly Sapot with Sloane and Sidney, John and Amy LeDeaux and 3 adult children, Harold and Diana Sanger and Patrick Hutt. We plan to welcome all new members from this past calendar year to a New Member Shabbat in November.

We also sent out special larger print New Year greetings to our treasured members who are not as able to attend services as easily as they have in the past. We wanted them to still feel connected to KR.

Have you been using our new cloud format? Are you getting use to finding information on our website? Have you made any reservations or even donations on the website? We hope it is working for you. If you have any questions, comments, concerns please let us know.

We all anxiously await the move to our new address. We will keep you posted of upcoming events. In the meantime, keep in mind all the different ways you can connect with KR through our various ‘limbs’ of our Communi-TREE! There are so many ways make connections, whether it be through Israel interests, discussions and lectures, holiday helping, mitzvah making, Purim packages, or softball sluggers just to name a few.

Our committee’s focus is YOU, the members. We work to connect you with each other by planning fun and stimulating programs, reaching out to you on special occasions, and celebrating holidays throughout the year. We welcome new members to our meetings and/or we welcome your ideas and suggestions. We hope you can find your place in our ever growing community.

Thank you
Joyce Olshan

KR On The Move!

As announced by our President, Randi Mozenter, we will be in the new building by the secular New Year! The stone facade is being installed on the exterior of the Sanctuary. As spaces become weather resistant dry wall is being installed. We are looking forward to the installation of the stained glass in the chapel in November.

More pictures and info can be found on our website KolRinahStL.org.
