President's Message

Gary Kodner - Kol Rinah President

president@kolrinahstl.org

There is an old saying... The third time is a charm. Perhaps in my case it has taken me three times to get it right. And right now, it feels right.

According to Jewish law, once something is done three times it is considered a permanent thing. This is called a "chazakah," a presumption of ownership, presumption of status. Let's say you decide to take on a new task. If you do it once and succeed — it's beginner's luck. A second time—still beginner's luck. If you return for a third time, then you can be trusted, that you have the experience, and perhaps you know what you're doing.

It is also said that the number three represents permanence. That's why we do things in threes, it adds strength, memory to our acts. (Many prayers are repeated three times; the Lulav is waved three times in each direction; etc.) From a Kabbalistic perspective, we know that three is the number of peace and integration. The number two symbolizes duality, difference, division—right vs. left, giving vs. restraint.

Three actually merges the two to create a new entity, Three, which represents the harmonious integration of one and two. That's Kol Rinah.

The Talmud points out that the Torah was given in the third month of the Jewish year, to a people that has three groups (Kohen, Levites, Israelites), and through Moses, who was the third child in his family (after Miriam and Aharon). The (Written) Torah itself is made up of three portions: the Five Books of Moses, the Prophets, and the Writings. Torah is the manual for peace. It teaches how to integrate body and soul, the physical world with its spiritual source. It is "the third" entity, the one that unites the other two.

New Torah Display Cabinet

The Czech Memorial Scrolls Trust (MST) saved these Torahs from neglect after the Nazis had confiscated them, intending to display them in a museum of a dead culture and people. In 1964, these Torahs were housed at Westminster Synagogue in London in numbered cradles for inspection and classification. In 1980 these two Holocaust Torahs came to St. Louis, and were placed in the custody of Kol Rinah's legacy synagogues, Brith Sholom Kneseth Israel (BSKI), and Shaare Zedek.

Today we display these scrolls in a special case in the Guller Chapel so that we may learn about and remember those Jews who perished in the Holocaust. These very scrolls were held, used, and revered by some of those people.

We hope that history becomes more personal and meaningful from the experience of seeing and learning about these Torahs.

Thank you to the Steven Birenbaum Family and friends who made this new display possible.

This photo, taken in 1959, is of Elaine Kaufman's grandfather, Rabbi Jacob R. Mazur, at the ground breaking ceremony for the BSKI religious school at 1107 E. Linden Ave in Richmond Heights.

Early Childhood Education

Liz Collins - ECC Director

collinse@kolrinahstl.org

We are so fortunate and blessed to have started our 2021-2022 school year in our new center. To witness the pure joy and excitement of the staff, children, and families arriving to school that first day was a truly incredible experience. Parents gleaming with smiles as they pulled up in the carpool line to drop their child/children off. Glancing at teachers happily awaiting the children's arrival to carry or hold hands to walk them across the new play space and take them into school. Then to finally see the look on the kids' faces as the ECC door opened. The first words out of their mouths were, "Look at those lines!" The teachers quickly responded that those colorful lines lead us to our classroom.

As the kids passed each classroom they noticed all the windows and quickly realized that they could see everything going on in each room. It's really cool to see children peeking in on their friends, siblings, and cousins through the windows and not only that, but being able to see through the classrooms to the other hallway.

After everyone gets settled into their classrooms, the school day begins. Our educational philosophy is that children learn best through play. Through sensory-filled, hands-on activities, children learn and explore a variety of themed units. Classes also spend time learning about Jewish traditions and holidays and come together each week as a school community for Shabbat Ruach with Rabbi Arnow and Rabbi Shafrin. In addition to the learning that happens within the classrooms, children attend specials including Art, Music, Music and Movement and Science. Our two oldest classes also get to learn all about Israel from our Shinshin, Roye.

A big thank you to Laura Horwitz for leading the breakout discussion on social action during High Holiday services.

Perhaps you were inspired at the turn of the Jewish New Year to get involved in Kol Rinah activities? The Tzedek Team would like to extend an invitation to you to join our group. We meet once a month (always the last Thursday of the month at 8:30 pm) to plan ways for our synagogue to pursue justice and Tikkun Olam as a community. Diverse interests and experiences are welcome!

Spread the joy of Hanukkah by participating in Hannukkah Huigs this season. This program, jointly sponsored by Jewish Family Services and Women's Philanthropy is seeking donations of unwrapped, new toys, books and games for their Hanukkah Hugs Store. Donations of wrapping paper, tape and gift bags are also welcome. There will be a collection box at Kol Rinah until November 14. For questions about this program email Women's Philanthropy: wp@jfedstl.org.

Finally, save the date of Sunday, January 23 for Kol Rinah's Blood Drive (more details to come as the date arrives). Healthy adults who are at least 17 years old, and at least 110 pounds may donate. One pint of blood has the potential to save up to three lives!

KR On The Move!

As the Maryland Avenue building continues to get more daily use by congregants, the staff, and the ECC children, we are focused on determining which future projects make the most sense to pursue next (pending additional fundraising). Our primary focus continues to be Phase 2 of the ECC (for another 64 children), HVAC upgrades in the Community Hall, the Memorial Plaque project, and an Audio/Visual System and replacement of the Stained Glass in the Community Hall. An official dedication and naming of the ECC is planned for late November. Our facility continues to add furnishings, artwork, and plants with additional funds given from our generous donors.

More pictures and info can be found on our website KolRinahStL.org.

KoREH

Rabbi Scott Shafrin - Religious School Director / Associate Rabbi

RabbiShafrin@kolrinahstl.org

This time of year, our tradition steepens us in tales of journeys and adventure, family and community, and, most critically, of spiritual self-discovery. From the moment we emerge from the High Holidays and start the cycle of Torah anew, we read each week the Torah tales of our ancestors going out into the world and discovering something new about themselves and the nature of their place in this universe.

What's more, is how incredibly those same epic experiential expeditions are mirrored in the beginning of our school year. Our Kol Rinah Education Hub (KoREH) has been in session for just over a month, but every day is a new and fascinating dive into learning Hebrew, history, culture, ethics, art, Torah, and so much more. Whether they are constructing and decorating tzedakah boxes, weaving their way through an obstacle course with only their knowledge of Hebrew to guide them, or looking at the many different ways our thousands of years of Jewish tradition and opinions from Jewish sages the world round can impact the most difficult issues of today, our students are venturing into deep, rich waters of learning every week.

Don't believe me? Take a look for yourselves at some of these wonderful learners hard at work!

Sisterhood

Susan Brown, Linda Carton - Sisterhood Co-Presidents

susanmbrown77@gmail.com, genelin@att.net

We were conflicted between wanting to attend all the services for the High Holidays in person and being a little afraid. So, we did what many did, a little of both live stream and in-person. And while in-person had some anxiety, there was so much more feeling of it being the High Holidays and the community that we were thrilled to be a part of. Thank you to Kol Rinah for making both possible.

Sisterhood thanks all who participated in our "Honey from the Heart" fundraiser for Rosh Hashana. Hopefully our Break-the-Fast and Supper in the Sukkah will return in 2022. Thank you to Joyce Olshan for sharing your wonderful Sukkot ideas of ways to celebrate and learn virtually and decorate our homes to simulate a sukkah.

We are no longer having Sisterhood Kiddushes to celebrate simchas. We look forward to that happening in the future. But right now we are depending on Sisterhood memberships and tributes to raise funds for the Congregation. We have sent letters to all women members of Kol Rinah. We hope that you will consider joining/rejoining Sisterhood this year.

Sisterhood Shabbat is planned for January 22, 2022. We hope that in the coming months we will be able to say that 2022 brought normality back to our lives. Our beautiful new building is being used with smaller numbers of congregants attending Shabbat services, but larger numbers than last year. We are thankful for the friendships and learning that have happened in the past and look forward to the future. Sisterhood looks forward to continuing to help the Congregation and its ECC, USY and KoREH. We are thankful to the Congregation for supporting Sisterhood and its mission to help the Shul and all of its parts. We are very thankful.

Looking forward to more,

Linda and Susan

Verein Discussion Group

Richard Gavatin and Ralph Graff, Co-Chairs

richardjrgavatin@gmail.com, ralph.graff@health.slu.edu

The Verein Group's long-running series, Jews in Science is presenting installment #9 on November 14 at 4pm.

You've heard of Hedy Lamarr, the beautiful starlet in the 1930s and 40s, who appeared in numerous films starring opposite some of Hollywood's most famous leading men.

However, you probably don't know the other Hedy, born Hedwig Eva Maria Kiesler in Vienna, Austria-Hungary who was so much more.

Incensed over the Nazi takeover of her home country, this highly intelligent woman collaborated with composer George Antheil and invented a secret communication system to form an unbreakable code which she envisioned helping submarines to deploy missiles to allow them not to be detected by enemy ships, thus forming the basis of spread spectrum technology.

Hedy's invention was snubbed by the Navy during WWII because she was an immigrant Jewish Hollywood actress. They waited for the patent to run out and then developed it further to create a sophisticated buoy system which was used during the Cuban Missile Crisis. Hedy never received any acknowledgement or compensation for her invention. No lightbulbs going off?

How about this? That's the basis for much of the modern wireless technology that resulted in cell phones and that today governs: Wi-Fi, GPS, and Bluetooth. Interested now? There's a lot more to this fascinating woman and her story.

Find out all about her, her life and her inventions on Sunday, November 14.

Linda Spitzer Gavatin will tell us about this uniquely complex person whose innovations have played a big role in all our lives.

Registration is now available on the Kol Rinah Website.

Verein's Series is being extended through April of 2022 - at least. Most likely way beyond that.

American Jews and Native Americans: 20th and 21st Century Encounters

Join Professor David S. Koffman for a wide-ranging discussion. This session will touch on the extraordinary activism of a cadre of Jewish lawyers and civil servants who upended decades of anti-Indian federal policy, and the rise of American anthropology and the fascinating role of Jews and Native Americans in it.
