The High Holy Days are the celebration of human opportunity. They are an invitation to look at our lives critically, to Awaken, to Reflect, to release and embrace, and to Grow. The shofar is a wake-up call; it is telling us that the “book” in which we ask to be remembered is yet to be written.

—Rabbi Nico

A Year of Engagement

We are busy here at Shir Hadash making sure our campus is ready for us to come together. In addition to the efforts to make this High Holy Day season a spiritual and reflective time, we are focused on our audacious hospitality. We want this season to feel like that welcome home hug that we all could use. Our staff, volunteers, and community are all looking forward to greeting each other with a warm smile and a “Shanah Tovah.” So if you choose to attend virtually please know we send the smiles and holiday greetings virtually as well. We can’t wait to see the rest of you here at home.
Rabbi Abraham Joshua Heschel once said: “As civilization advances, the sense of wonder declines. Such decline is an alarming symptom of our state of mind. Mankind will not perish for want of information, but only for want of appreciation. The beginning of our happiness lies in the understanding that life without wonder is not worth living. What we lack is not a will to believe but a will to wonder” (God in Search of Man: A Philosophy of Judaism, p. 46).

This time of the year reminds us to add punctuation marks to our life experiences. Next to some of our assumptions we might consider adding a question mark. After some of the things we take for granted, we might consider adding exclamation marks. An additional dimension to this approach comes from the “Will to wonder” understanding that there are many things in our world that are waiting for us to discover them.

Once, Rabbi Samson Raphael Hirsch surprised his students when he insisted on traveling to Switzerland. “When I stand before the Almighty,” he explained, “I will be asked many questions…. But what will I say when … and I’m sure to be asked: ‘Why didn’t you see my Alps?’”

The world is out there and within our hearts; it is a positive commandment (mitzvah) to discover it. Let’s make sure that we do not fall into the traps of: I have no regrets, I am done, I am set in my ways, Nothing can surprise me anymore. I have seen everything!

The preparation for the High Holy Days is an invitation to recognize, appreciate, celebrate and wonder. The High Holy Days are a reminder that life is lived to the full when we choose to be aware, when we choose to notice, and when allow ourselves to be amazed.

Wishing you a Wonder-Full year,

Nico
S’LICHOT

Here the Journey Begins
Saturday, September 17

Join us for a night of connection, music, prayer and study.

A multigenerational approach to this special day where people of all ages will have the opportunity to begin their spiritual preparation for these High Holy Days.

4:30 pm  Preschool & Kulanu Students: Experiential Programs
4:30 pm  Parent Session: Finding Meaning in the High Holy Days
5:30 pm  Family Craft Activity
6:15 pm  Community Dinner
Please register on the temple calendar.
7:00 pm  Havdalah with Changing of the Torah Covers
7:45 pm  Children’s Movie & Snacks
7:45 pm  Learning Sessions Led by Our Clergy
9:00 pm  S’lichot Service with the Choir

Nature, song, community, and an opportunity to symbolically cast away our sins, as we pray for a much-needed renewal.

Bring your lunch and a chair. A family-friendly program will run in parallel to morning services in the Raintree Area.

Got S’chach?

As Sukkot approaches it is time to start gathering s’chach (vegetation at Shir Hadash, we use bamboo) to build our sukkah. If you, or any of your friends have “got s’chach” that you can donate and bring to the temple, it would be greatly appreciated. Contact Gary at gary@shirhadash.org and we can arrange time and place to have it dropped off.

Kulanu Opening

We usher in a new school year with excitement and amazing energy. We welcome a greater sense of pre-pandemic normal, allowing us to come together for community, Jewish exploration, and personal growth. We also are thrilled that our new Senior Rabbi, Nico Socolovsky, has joined our congregational family and has made Kulanu such a priority for our congregation.

In its second year, Kulanu has built upon its foundations and emerges as a program based on formation of a child’s Jewish identity rather than information. Learning should involve mind, body, and soul, and should recognize, embrace, and facilitate the unique expression of each of our students. By learning and living Jewishly, and by understanding our collective history and traditions, we can find meaning and purpose in our lives today. Our program is designed to engage every student and encourage each of them to develop their own Jewish journey.

Kulanu means “all of us”: we believe in the power of kehillah (community) and it is an intrinsic part of our program to have volunteer participation. Volunteering allows us to hold special events, run school-wide programming, and offset costs for our program. As a volunteer, one serves as a role model and a good doogma (example) for our children: as we build strong Jewish identities and a sense of joy and belonging in community, we want to nurture the same values in our volunteers. Volunteering is a great way to do the mitzvah of serving your kehillah, while also increasing your engagement with our congregation.

Open volunteer positions are:
- Kehillah Sunday morning supervisors
- Hafsakah Sunday afternoon supervisors and organizers
- Mitzvah Day organizing lead
- Purim Carnival organizing lead
- Chug (elective) leaders

Please click on the link below for more information: hadash.link/kulanu-volunteer.

I am looking forward to the journey that awaits us in 5783. May the journey be sweet, and filled with love, friendship, learning, and fun!

—Associate Rabbi Educator Rabbi P.J. Schwartz

Men’s Club Bagel Breakfast

Sunday, September 11, 8:30 AM

Please enjoy a bagel breakfast on the first day of Kulanu, generously donated by the Men’s Club in celebration of the first day of school!
Kids Corner

Looking for a craft to do with kids or grandkids? Here is a great make-your-own shofar craft from Highlights.com, and some book suggestions.

What you will need: Paper plate, tape, yarn, construction paper, markers, paint and ribbon.

1. Roll a large paper plate into a cone shape. Fasten it with tape.
2. Glue construction paper around the cone shape and trim the edges. Use markers or paint to decorate the horn, or glue on ribbon.
3. Slip a piece of yarn through the inside of the horn, and tie the ends to make a handle.

First of Elul Barbecue

Attended by 200 People! Shofars, Food & Fun

Thank you to Trista Bernstein, Shir Hadash Director of Engagement Shanda Witkin, and the thirty other volunteers that helped.

Shir Hadash as a community welcomed the month of Elul with a community barbecue. Over 200 guests of all ages were present. Elul is the month of High Holy days and nothing could represent this better than the blowing of Shofars, community gatherings and sharing meals together.

Rabbi Nico demonstrated how to blow the shofar. Children present at the barbecue blew shofars, danced, and tried their hand at corn hole activities. Adults enjoyed the good food, and got to catch up with old friends and start new friendships.

IN CASE YOU MISSED IT, IN AUGUST...

Back to School Shabbat

120 People: ECC/Kulanu Kids/Congregation Families/Blessings & Israeli Dancing

Thank you to Shir Hadash Director of Engagement Shanda Witkin!

The Back to School Shabbat was an event to start the school year right. The congregation welcomed ECC, Kulanu, and Congregation students. Rabbi Nico said a blessing during the back to school Shabbat and the children were called to the bimah to help light candles. The event began with a pasta dinner, followed by the Back to School Shabbat, a performance by ECC children, and ended with Israeli folk dancing.
Unique Yeshiva University Program Provides Jewish Clergy with Skills to Address Issues of Aging

Congratulations to Cantor Devorah Felder-Levy, who was recently awarded a Certificate in Gerontology and Palliative Care from the Wurzweiler School of Social Work at Yeshiva University.

This unique program, which draws an international student body, consists of six graduate-level courses on topics including loss, palliative care, counseling, aging in the Jewish community, self-care for professionals, gerontology, and developing a philosophy of care. It is designed to equip Jewish rabbis, cantors, and chaplains to address the issues of longevity in the Jewish community and develop a firm foundation and familiarity with the realities of the increase in longevity. It is anticipated that by 2030, 20% of the US population will be over age 65. In the Jewish community, the numbers are even higher.

“It is of growing importance that Jewish religious leadership be comfortable in helping aging Jews navigate this period in their lives,” remarked Dr. Gary Stein, professor at Wurzweiler School and director of the program. He added “Traditionally, Jewish leadership has not received the necessary preparation to address issues of the older demographic including complex life crises, especially those involving aging, serious illness, caregiving, and end-of-life care.”

Of the program, Cantor Felder-Levy reports, “This program gave me a vast amount of knowledge to understand the celebrations and challenges that may occur as one ages. It has given me some valuable skills to help my congregants as they navigate aging gracefully and the tools to make recommendations when needed regarding the challenges they may face.

IT’S BACK, IN PERSON!

High Holiday Food Drive

September 26-October 16

We will be holding our annual Fall Food Drive in support of Sacred Heart Community Service. Sacred Heart supports those in need in Santa Clara County. The Fall Food Drive starts on Rosh HaShanah, September 26, and ends at the end of Sukkot, on October 16. In keeping with Shir Hadash’s sustainability goals this year we will not be handing out grocery bags as a reminder. Mark your calendars! Look for donation bins located at Shir Hadash.

Sacred Heart welcomes non-perishable nutritious canned, and packaged items such as rice and pasta along with the sauce to make a complete meal. Some examples that are needed are, tuna, beans, soups, peanut butter, and baby formula. Flip-top cans would be appreciated. Please avoid donating items packaged in glass and check expiration dates as expired or close to expiring items can’t be used.

For more information or questions, contact Davida Rosenbaum at davida@shirhadash.org.

We are also looking for volunteers to deliver the items to Sacred Heart Services once the drive is done. To volunteer, contact Alex Gilbert at alex@alex-gilbert.com.
