What's been happening at Temple - Spring

January 14, 2022 Shabbat Shirah with Windsor and Flint Congregations

Rabbi Debra Dressler Rabbi Jeff Ableser Rabbinic Intern Ashley Barrett Cantor Tracey Atin

Annual Meeting January 23, 2022

From our President

Jason Mandlowitz

Best wishes as you and your family prepare to celebrate Passover. Again this year, Temple Israel will not be organizing a Second Seder but, I am happy to announce that on Friday, April 22, 2022, with the end of Passover – Yizkor service at 7:30 pm - our building will be open to in-person services, programs and events.

At the March 27, 2022, Board meeting, re-opening was the central agenda item. The Board approved a plan for hybrid services (in person plus virtual) from April 22 to June 25, 2022.

We will be monitoring the COVID situation during this time and the Board will revisit the conditions for inperson attendance on May 13, 2022, or before as needed.

All congregants are invited and encouraged to attend in-person. However, the following precautions will be in place.

- pre-registration for attendance is required as early as possible before attending an event by contacting the office.
- no capacity limits will be introduced.
- masking is mandatory.
- proof of full vaccination is mandatory and must be provided at the time of pre-registration or building entry, including the Religious School.
- sign-in will be required when entering the building on a Temple form. Hand sanitizing and masks will also be available.
- regular seating will be available in the area between the ark and choir. From the ark to the kitchen, physical distancing will be in effect.
- no food will be allowed. This matter has been deferred to a later date but we will review on a caseby-case basis.

The Board wishes to thank all of our members for their support and understanding during these challenging times. We have taken a very cautious approach, keeping your health and safety as our chief goal and responsibility.

Don't forget to add to your calendar our June 5, 2022, Shavu'ot and Congregational Gathering. This will include the last day of Religious School, family attendance for a study session and outdoor BBQ sponsored by Rabbi Dressler. This is a great opportunity for new members and families to meet and greet. More details will be available as the event date approaches.

We sincerely hope to see you back at Temple Israel.

From our Rabbi

Rabbi Debra Stahlberg Dressler

Every year, as Spring emerges, we embrace the mitzvah to celebrate - "Be happy. it's Adar!" We count down to the gaiety of Purim. Around the same time each year, we move from Exodus' dramatic narratives about Moses and the emerging Israelite community to blood-and-guts rituals in the book of Leviticus. These ten parshiot bring only a very few breaks in the Levitical guidebook for priests in the Temple.

Once the Temple was destroyed by the Romans, however, the Jewish people faced a dire crossroads. Would their nascent religion simply die out after its original, centuries-old, sacrificial system could no longer be practiced? The Sadducean priests were out of a job, but the Pharisaic rabbis rose to the occasion, creating the foundations of the Judaism we practice today. Material sacrifices and offerings were replaced by prayer - "sacrifices of the heart" Judaism entered a new stage of development, not tied to a single place, that could be practiced by all.

As the 2nd anniversary of the Covid-19 pandemic has come and gone, it is easy to see our congregations as wrestling with similar existential challenges. A few of us are ready to be in the synagogue buildings again; others of us aren't. Plus, we must consider all the people who are either home-bound or far-flung, who have been attending so many of our Zoom services and programs. We want our tent to remain large enough to embrace them all.

The word for "sacrifice" in Torah is "korban," from the Hebrew root meaning "to draw near." In their time, sacrifices of animals and staples were the visceral language of communing with God. In Rabbinic Judaism, ritualizing speech and actions - from celebrating to eating, from washing to grieving - became the currency of expressing our innermost hopes and regrets before God as we gathered as sacred congregations. In the Covid-Zoom era, we had to grapple with a new sacrifice - community itself. For so much of the last two years, we have only seen our friends and family through webcams and screens - they were our necessary means to "draw near" - as we strived to connect spiritually. "Drawing near" was trumped by "social distancing."

As our doors begin to open again, let us remember the essence of what we seek. As a "Kehillah Kedoshah" - a "holy assembly" - we seek to be nourished and supported by each other's presence. We gather to give a safe and welcoming space to all who need it. We will retain the tools we have learned by necessity, allowing technology to expand our reach, and we will continue to transform Judaism to meet the challenges of the future.

Around the Property

As we thaw out from the winter, there is much to do: Ramp redesign is close to approval from the city; we have tenants above the garage; the apartment has been upgraded with AC, paint job, with the old carpeting removed and improved laundry facilities; garage doors have openers for use by the tenant and the Rabbi; the drone pictures were used again for a second roof repair; we are not contracting out grass cutting for the month of April for a saving of $500.00; the car park and driveway have new lighting; and security film has been added to the windows in the sunroom.

WITH THANKS FROM CASEY AND JACOB

We would like to extend a special thank you to everyone who helped us celebrate a wonderful Auf Ruf with the Temple Israel community. We appreciate everyone who joined us on Zoom, and are so grateful for the many donations that were made in our honour. We look forward to seeing you the next time we are in London - hopefully in person! With love, Casey and Jacob

Membership Committee Meeting February, 2022

Social Action Committee

Members of the Social Action Committee and our congregation have recently been able to return to the London Food Bank to help sort food for the community. The Food Bank is limiting the numbers of volunteers at this time, but we hope that more people will be allowed to participate soon. Please contact the committee if you are interested in joining this fun group! Members of the committee have also been using this time to collect and donate gently used home goods and clothes to the local organizations that can use them best. We've been happy to donate goods to Goodwill and to The Mission Store. If you are interested in Decluttering for a Good Cause, Linda Zimmerman has compiled a handy list of organizations which accept a range of donations. The list is available on our website: templeisraellondon.ca under the heading "Donate Your Stuff."

THELMA ROSNER EXHBIT

Temple Israel member & artist, Thelma Rosner, has an exhibit entitled "Where Can I Go Now" at McIntosh Gallery, Western University, until April 16, 2022.

Throughout her practice, Thelma has consistently employed narrative as a means to reflect on the Jewish diaspora. The catalyst for this exhibition was an autobiographical work written by Elisabeth M. Raab, a survivor of Auschwitz concentration camp during World War II. Beginning in 1944 with the forced transport from her home in Hungary to Auschwitz, Raab ultimately went on to make seventeen separate journeys over the ensuing five years. Permanently displaced following her liberation by Allied forces in 1945, Raab no longer had a home to which she could return and was left to travel throughout Europe without any clear connection to place.

Rosner considers Raab's postwar experience within a recent historical trajectory, making connections between post-war displacement and the plight of contemporary refugees. In preparation for this project, Rosner consulted immigrants to Canada, including members of her own family, personal acquaintances, and new Canadians met through the London Cross Cultural Learner Centre. After interviewing each person, Rosner requested permission to photograph a significant object brought with them on their journey to Canada. Each object is linked to a past life and carries profound emotional resonance. Inextricably connected to memory and place, these objects are souvenirs in the truest sense of the word. In the absence of their original contexts, they form tangible connections to a past life, evoking memories, emotions, stories. As Susan Stewart reminds us, "this capacity of objects to serve as traces of authentic experience is, in fact, exemplified by the souvenir. The souvenir distinguishes experiences. We do not need and desire souvenirs of events that are repeatable. Rather we need and desire souvenirs of events that are reportable, events whose materiality has escaped us, events that thereby exist only through the invention of narrative." Displaced from their points of origin, each of the objects that Rosner depicts evokes a narrative that keeps memories from fading into impermanence.
