A Yizkor Blessing

RABBI BRADLEY SHAVIT ARTSON

ברוך אשר ברא אתכם בדין והמית אתכם בדין ועתיד להעמיד אתכם בדין

Blessed is the One who created you in judgment, who brought death to you in judgment, and who will raise you up in judgment.

Pesikta Rabbati, Piska 12:1

G-d's love shines in the wise judgment to create us - finite and precious - aware at each moment and especially at this sacred moment, that our time is limited, that we will each join our mothers and fathers who have gone the way of all the earth, that we are eternally dying and learning thereby to live.

G-d's firm judgment imposes upon us the awareness of dying which spurs us to live our lives in desperate appreciation, numbering and living each day to the full, illumined and inspired by the memories of our dear ones who have already offered up their lives to the eternal renewal of life itself, and of the cosmos.

Their memory and love raises us up in this world, as better people, as more caring and more courageous than we would have been without their deeds of love. We are embraced and fortified by their continuing impact in our hearts and our actions.

We gather, strong in memory and faith, affirming that G-d will raise up our lives in this world, and one day will raise us up to them, all of us embraced by a love eternal, persistent, and redeeming.

And let us say, "Amen."

We are devoted to honouring the lives of our community members long after their passing.

We understand that losing a loved one is a tremendously emotional and difficult experience; we are fully committed in aiding our client families with personal and courteous service. We accept your trust with a measure of humility and a great sense of responsibility.

Should you require immediate assistance or if you would like to inquire about pre-planning a funeral for yourself or a loved one, our staff are always available to assist you and your family. We are devoted to operating in accordance with traditional Halacha in a professional manner.

May your family be blessed with strength and comfort.

Yizkor Traditions

The custom of reciting Yizkor during the four major Jewish Holy Days has a number of interesting connections. The first reason might be that the Holy Days were the few times of the year when nearly every Jew attended synagogue services at the same time. This collective union certainly gave thought to all those who were not there: thus the need to remember them.

The second reason given is that the major Jewish Holy Days also re-emphasize the great need for charity. It has been an ancient Jewish custom to see that every hungry person in town was in a home for mealtime, because no meal could be considered happy if even one person was left hungry. In our own times we dedicate charity and kindness to the memories of those we loved, because when we do, the feeling is that they are still very much alive.

While they are not alive in body, they are certainly alive in spirit and action. This is one of the reasons why the Talmud (Bavli, Ta'anit 5.2) teaches us that Jacob has never been thought of as dead. In our minds Jacob is still very much alive because his children carry on his legacy and spirit. We are those children, and his legacy is the Jewish nation.

Indeed, those scholars asked, "How can Ya'akov still be thought of as alive? Did he not die? Was he not put into a coffin? Was he not buried?" And in reply, the famous Rabbi Yochanan answered, "But we are still alive, aren't we ...?"

So too, remember today that your loved ones are alive. They live not only in your actions but also in your heart and soul. Truly, this is as close as anyone can ever be to you.

What is Yahrzeit?

Yahrzeit is the anniversary of the death of a dear one. It is observed each year on the Hebrew anniversary of the day of death.

The following observances are the traditional way to mark a Yahrzeit. A special 24-hour Yahrzeit candle should be kindled in the home on the eve of the anniversary of death and allowed to burn throughout the next day. Every effort should be made to say Kaddish in the synagogue on the evening and day of the Yahrzeit. Jewish tradition also encourages the performance of mitzvot on the day, such as studying a portion of the Torah; leading the davening at a service; and giving a donation in memory of the departed to a religious, educational, or philanthropic cause. This way we fulfill the traditional hope: "The memory of the righteous should serve as a blessing."

What is Yizkor?

Yizkor is without a doubt, one of Judaism's most emotional rituals. In this moment we recall the memories of all the people we loved, those who gave us life and nurtured us, those with whom we shared time and love, and all of those who were family.

The word Yizkor is derived from the Hebrew word zachor, which means simply "to remember." On this day we remember all those who gave our lives the meaning and depth that make our lives what they are.

The history of Yizkor is fascinating. Many authorities are of the opinion that Yizkor began in earnest in the Middle Ages. As the Christian states of Europe expanded and grew, they looked to conquer Jerusalem and have it under Christian control. This became the foundation and reason behind the Crusades, which led many armies through Europe to wage battle for control of Israel and Jerusalem. Sadly, as the Crusaders made their way out of Europe to Israel they ran through many Jewish towns and villages. Countless numbers of Jews were raped, maimed, and murdered at the hands of these armies.

The Holocaust saw to that. His final book wasn't a book per se, but a collection he had put together of sermons he had given in the Warsaw Ghetto. Many of his writings are not unlike the kinds of things that you would read from rabbis: it is the call to study, to be faithful, to commit to observance, and to believe. But what is unlike the writings of other rabbis is that he wrote many of these words while in the ghetto. And so I closed my eyes, and I imagined standing in a shul in the midst of that ghetto, looking at faces drawn, tired, hungry, and frightened, and saying to them what Rabbi Shapira said to them on Rosh HaShanah 1941:

“It is best that people pray for spirit and soul on this great and holy day. But, in truth, at times like this who cannot pray for the simple – food, water, even just life?...”

Elsewhere he writes,

“I cannot say anymore, only that I pray that G-d will have mercy and spare this remnant of the people Israel....”

We only know what he wrote because when it became apparent to Rabbi Shapira that the end of the ghetto was near, he buried the book in a canister. This canister was found by a construction worker after the end of the war and was then published in Israel in 1960.

As for his life, he was shot dead by the Nazis in 1943, after having refused the chance to escape from a camp. He had chosen to stay with his people till the very end. But what is also most remarkable about Rabbi Shapira is this: he never spoke to the people about miracles that might save them. He never spoke about notable people surviving and keeping their faith under the most horrific of circumstances. He didn't look to speak for G-d, and in this the Rabbi was honest about their moment in time, and in that respect he showed respect to his people – he wasn't afraid to be human even in the most inhuman of circumstances.

While I sat and read his writing, I wondered: although he isn't alive, does he not exist? Might it be said that to exist is not about being tangible or intangible – it's simply about those things that still have an effect on

A Note from Rabbi Aaron

We use such clean words to describe the break between this and that. Between here and there. From now and then. But I have to wonder if that's the way it really is – meaning, are things really that clear and stark? Does something that ends here, really cease to be here? Or does it simply change – move – from one thing to another?

We say we believe in a soul, and that we believe in life – but do we really know what that means?

This might sound like the ponderings of a late night theology school debate – it's also the cutting edge of neuroscience, and physics. What is a hole? Is it matter, or the absence of it? What is a symphony?

Where in time and space does “O' Canada” exist? Is it only ink and paper on a sheet of music? Well, not really. If you would burn every copy of the sheet music to O Canada, the anthem would still exist. Latin still exists, even though it is no longer a living language. But the language of cave people no longer exists at all.

Might it be said that to exist is not about being tangible or intangible; about being real or unreal – that it's simply about those things that still have an effect on us. This came to me in a few ways, first with the passing of my own father, and then with the reading of some writings from a European rabbi. A dear friend suggested I read his works – the closest I had ever come to reading him before was many years ago when a teacher quoted some of his ideas. But I never had an idea of the man who had written such words until this year.

The rabbi's name was Kalonymus Kalman Shapira who was the Rabbi of Piaseczno, Poland. He was awarded this position at the age of 24. Rabbi Shapira was born more than 100 years ago, and was the author of seven books. But for me, and maybe for you, the one that interested me the most was his last book titled, “Aish Kodesh – Sacred Fire”.

Rabbi Shapira's writing career came to a halt not because he had run out of ideas to write about, but because he had run out of time.

ONE MORE CANDLE

The One More Candle initiative is an opportunity to adopt the name of a child murdered during the Holocaust. Many children have no one to say Kaddish for them.

This ensures someone remembers that they lived by saying his or her name out loud every year. Add light to the darkness. Light one more candle.

For more details on how to adopt the name of a perished child, visit www.onemorecandle.org

Members are encouraged to attend our daily minyan services, as it builds community by ensuring there is a minyan for those in our Beth Sholom family who need to say Kaddish.

us? And if that is true, and I believe it is, then Rabbi Shapira does exist. Because his words and courage touched me.

If it is true for Rabbi Shapira, then it is certainly true for you as well, isn't it? As the words of Yizkor are recited, tears draw up because your loved-one still exists. You visit their monument, you say Kaddish, you think of their lives, and the loss of your togetherness, but you know they still exist. Now, you can't point to a street address or an office and say that's where they are. But you can point to your heart and say "they are here".

That is how you know our loved ones still exist.

And why do I say this now? Why on the 8th and final day of Passover? Because of a great idea that comes from this great holiday. The Jewish people are said to have left Egypt by a divine hand. And in Jewish tradition we are told that not only did the Jews leave "Mitzrayim – Egypt" on this holiday, but that they also left "Mitzar – their boundaries" on this holiday (Sefat Emet – 3:120).

Saying that Egypt is also just a metaphor, an example to life. Not only were they taken out of slavery, but their souls were freed so they could live. They were shown what we see this morning – that things live beyond life. Contained in me are memories, and love that are the surest proof of a life beyond the material boundaries of this world. Stories that live nowhere but in my heart, faith that dwells nowhere but in my soul, and a G-d who is everywhere but no one place at any one time are the other proofs we use to remind us that life is lived best when lived beyond the boundaries we can see and touch.

And the older I get, the more I see how true this really is. Passover is not just about freedom, it's a lesson about life. A real life that is not prosperity alone but one lived with meaning.

The Yizkor Service

Eternal G-d, in whose eyes a thousand years are but a yesterday, in whose hands are the souls of the living and the dead, in Your sight every soul is precious.

O L-rd, from whom we come, to whom we belong, and to whom we shall return, strengthen us as we now remember our loved ones who have been reunited with You. Be with us as we consecrate the hour to the memory of our departed.

שְׁוִיִּתִּי י-הוה לְנֶגְדֵי תְּמִידָה, כִּי מִיְמִינִי בֵּל-אֲמוּט:
לְכֹן שְׂמַח לְבִי וַיִּגַּל כְּבוֹדִי, אָף-בְּשָׂרֵי יִשְׁכֹּן לְבָטָח:

I have set the Eternal before me always,
G-d is at my right hand; I shall not fail.
Therefore my heart rejoices, my whole being exults,
And my body rests secure.
(Psalm 16:8,9)

Eternal G-d, we have come to sanctify our fleeting lives by linking them with Yours, O Life of all Ages. In You, O L-rd, generations past, present, and future are united in one bond of life.

At this sacred hour, we are keenly aware of those individuals through whom we have come to know of Your grace and love. Much of this wisdom, beauty, and affection that have enriched our lives are the garnered fruits of our communion with others.

Many of those to whom we owe so much are alive and with us today. We pray that we may be able to reward their goodness and their devotion to us through acts of love and loyalty.

But others have passed forever from our midst, leaving us a heritage of tender memories which now fill our minds and hearts.

Beth Sholom Synagogue supports the One More Candle project. The project's aim is to remember each of the 1.5 million children who perished in the Shoah; to remember that these children lived and laughed and were loved. Many have no one to remember they existed. The Beth Sholom community has, to date, adopted the memory of 47 children who perished in the Shoah, one for each day of the Hebrew calendar year (starting with Jan. 1, 1942 - corresponding to 12 Tevet), including both Adar I and II. These children were all 8 or 9 years old when they perished and are listed by their Hebrew date of death.

A Prayer of Thanksgiving for the Health and Well-being of One's Family

For those remaining in the Sanctuary but not reciting Yizkor

Father in Heaven, I stand amid the congregation of Israel who pour out their hearts before You, and who are remembering their parents and family who have gone to their eternal rest.

As for me, I offer You my most profound gratitude, for, in Your great loving-kindness, there is no grief in my heart or tear on my cheek. For my father, mother, (brother / sister / husband / wife / children) and my family are all with me; none is missing. They ask life of You. You give it to them.

Therefore, my heart rejoices in the knowledge that my near family has been spared anxiety. May the L-rd preserve them from evil. May He watch over their every movement.

May the L-rd prolong their days in happiness that they behold children and grandchildren occupying themselves with religious practice and the study of the Torah.

I have entreated Your favour with my whole heart. Be gracious unto me according to Your promise.

A Reading from Kohelet

To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under heaven:

A time to be born, and a time to die;
A time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted;
A time to kill, and a time to heal;
A time to break down, and a time to build up;
A time to weep, and a time to laugh;
A time to mourn, and a time to dance;
A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones together;
A time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing;
A time to seek, and a time to lose;
A time to keep, and a time to cast away;
A time to tear, and a time to sew;
A time to keep silence, and a time to speak;
A time to love, and a time to hate;
A time for war, and a time for peace.

What profit has he who works in that in which he labours? ... G-d has made everything beautiful in its time. He has also set eternity in their hearts, yet so that man cannot find out the work that G-d has done from the beginning even to the end. I know that there is nothing better for them than to rejoice, and to do good as long as they live. Also that every man should eat and drink, and enjoy good in all his labour, is the gift of G-d.

(Ecclesiastes 3:1-13)

As I stand here, dear mother, I feel the closeness of your spirit. You gave me life, guided my first steps, and nursed me through all the illnesses of childhood and youth. From your lips I heard the word of G-d and learned to keep His commandments. Many were your sacrifices through kindly deeds and love so freely given for my well-being. What I have achieved is due to your influence; what I am, I have become through you.

O Heavenly Father, may I ever keep in mind that my highest tribute to the memory of my mother is to emulate her virtues and remain faithful to the teachings she imparted to me. May the soul of my dear mother be bound up in the bond of life together with the souls of all the righteous that are in Your keeping. Amen.

I recall your friendship and understanding and the common interests we shared. Precious indeed are the bonds which held us together. Though I shall nevermore see your smile or hear your voice or delight in your companionship, yet your ennobling and profound influence shall ever remain with me.

O G-d, grant that the soul of my friend be bound up in the bond of life together with all the souls that are united in You. Amen.

Yizkor - In memory of a departed brother or sister.

I recall the many hours we spent together in devoted comradeship sharing the love and traditions of our home and family. Deep is my sorrow at your departure. Death has deprived us of many joys together. Your years were too few for those who loved you, but your kindness and understanding will never be forgotten. Love does not perish even in death.

O Heavenly Father, grant that the soul of my dear one be bound up in the bond of life together with the souls of all the righteous that are in Your keeping. Amen.

Though death has separated us, the memories of your life on earth remain people and the Land of Israel. They fell, all like the mighty, in the War of Independence, in the Sinai War, the Six Day War, the Yom Kippur War, the War of Attrition, and in the campaign Shalom HaGalil.

At this time we also recall the lives of not only the soldiers, but the citizens of the State of Israel who have fallen victim to terrorism — men, women, and children — and were murdered.

Because we all gather and pray for their souls, remembering their awesome sacrifices, we ask that You remember their great and loving deeds.

May their souls be bound up in the bonds of our nation's life — theirs, along with the many other brave, sacrificed lives who have found true peace in the shadow of Your eternal love. Amen.

א— ל מלא רחמים שוכן במרומים, המצא מנוחה נכונה תחת כנפי השכינה, במעלות קדושים וטהורים כזהר הרקיע מאירים ומזהירים לנשמות כל הנפטרים בקהילתנו בית שלום, ואת אחינו בני ישראל שנהרגו, שנשחטו, שנשרפו, שנחנקו, או שנקברו חיים בידי הנאצים ועוזריהם ימד שמים, ומסרו נפשם על קדוש השם. בעבור שפלנו מתפללים לעלוי נשמותיהם. בגן עדן תהא מנוחתם. אנא בעל הרחמים יסתירם בסתר כנפיך לעולמים, ויצרור בצרור החיים את נשמותיהם, יי הוא נחלתם, וינוחו בשלום על משפכם, ונאמר אמן.

Our G-d, exalted and full of compassion, grant perfect peace in Your sheltering presence amongst the holy and the pure to the souls of our loved ones, and the lost millions of the people of Israel who were killed with violence and hate at the hand of the Nazis.

As we gather here today as a nation to pray and remember the souls of those we have loved and lost, we ask that they should find eternal rest in Your presence. We implore You, our G-d, to shelter them in the shadow of Your eternal love, giving them their true and perfect peace. Amen.

Yizkor - In memory of the deceased of our community:

יזכר א— להים נשמות חברי הקהל הקדוש הזה שהלכו לעולמם. אנא תהינה נפשותיהם צרורות בצרור החיים ותהי מנוחתם כבוד שבע שמחות את־פניך, נעימות בימינך נצח. אמן.

Yizkor — Soldiers of Israel

יזכר א— להים נשמות בגיו ובנותיו, הקדושים וטהורים, הנאמנים והאמיצים, חילי צבא ההגנה לישראל בחילות היבשה, האויר, והים, ולוחמי המחתרות ועולי הגרדום וחטיבות הלוחמים במערכות העם, אשר חרפו נפשם על קדשת השם, העם והארץ, ונפלו כגבורים במלחמת השחרור, במערכת סיני, במלחמת ששת הימים, במלחמת ההתשה, בפעלות הגנה, תגמול, ובטחון, ואת קדושי מלחמת יום הכפורים העקבה מדם, ומאות הקרבנות הקדושים שנפלו במלחמת שלום הגליל, וחילי ישראל, חילים ואזרחים, אנשים ונשים וטף שנפלו בידי מרצחים, מארגוני הטרור בארץ ובחוץ לארץ.

בעבור שכל קהל ישראל מתפללים לעלוי נשמתם. זכר עקדתם ומעשי גבורתם לא יסופו מאתנו לעולמים, ונפשותיהם תהינה צרורות בצרור החיים, עם נשמות אברהם, יצחק, ויעקב, ועם שאר צדיקים וגבורי ישראל הקדושים שבגן עדן, ונאמר אמן.

Please remember, O L-rd, the souls of our brave and beloved sons and daughters who have served in the armed forces of the State of Israel— on land, air, and sea. They who have served and died in the many defensive operations, all for the sake of Your name and the lives of Your וּבְנוּ מִמֶּנּוּ חֲרֻבוֹת עוֹלָם מוֹסְדֵי דוֹר־וְדוֹר תִּקְוִים,

וְקָרָא לָהּ גִּידֵר פֶּרֶץ מְשֻׁבָּב נְתִיבוֹת לְשֶׁבֶת:

The Eternal will guide you always; G-d will slake your thirst in parched places and give strength to your bones. And you shall be like a watered garden, and like a never-failing spring of water. From you, the ancient ruins will be rebuilt; you will re-establish the structures of the generations. They will call you “the one who repairs the breach and resettles the ways of civilization.”

Then one says:

For a female:

תִּשְׁכַּב בְּשָׁלוֹם וְתִישָׁן בְּשָׁלוֹם עַד בֹּא מְנַחֵם
מִשְׁמִיעַ שָׁלוֹם.

For a male:

תִּשְׁכַּב בְּשָׁלוֹם וְתִישָׁן בְּשָׁלוֹם עַד בֹּא מְנַחֵם
מִשְׁמִיעַ שָׁלוֹם.

Lie in peace and rest in peace until the coming of the Consoler Who will announce peace.

When placing one's hand on the monument, one should think of the verse “From you, the ancient ruins will be rebuilt,” quoted above (Isa. 58:12), which contains fifteen Hebrew words, like the number of joints in the hand.

At One's Mother's Grave

Here is buried the body of my mother who sustained and nurtured me, and who endured much pain all her days to raise me, and all my needs were upon her. She led me in the path of Torah and fear of G-d. Alas, she has gone the way of all mortals. The mother of the children has fallen, she has left her children. For me, none like unto her is left, a compassionate leader always prepared to do good for me. Behold now that I am in difficult straits, I have come here. I went to the vale of tears, to the house of my mother, to the chamber of my parent. Behold she is garbed in a shroud, and her spirit has ascended above. Peace be unto her, and peace be unto her soul and spirit. “From amongst all the women in the tent is she blessed,” and the glory of G-d should shine upon her. May Your mercy be aroused for me, G-d, my Rock, that You should hear the voice of my supplication.

Prayers upon Entering a Cemetery

One who has not seen a Jewish person's grave within the last thirty days recites the following:

בְּרוּךְ אַתָּה יי אֱלֹהֵינוּ מֶלֶךְ הָעוֹלָם אֲשֶׁר יֵצֵר אֶתְכֶם בְּדִין, וְזָן
וְכִלְכַּל אֶתְכֶם בְּדִין, וְהֵמִית אֶתְכֶם בְּדִין, וְיוֹדֵעַ מִסְפָּר כָּלְכֶם בְּדִין,
וְהוּא עֹתִיד לְהַחְיֹתְכֶם וּלְקַיֵּם אֶתְכֶם בְּדִין. בְּרוּךְ אַתָּה יי מַחְיֵה
הַמֵּתִים.

Blessed are You, Eternal, our G-d, Ruler of the universe, Who fashioned you with justice, nourished and sustained you with justice, took your lives with justice, knows the sum total of all of you with justice, and will restore and resuscitate you with judgment. Blessed are You, Eternal, Who resuscitates the dead.

אַתָּה גְבוּר לְעוֹלָם אֲדֹנָי. מַחְיֵה מֵתִים אַתָּה, רַב לְהוֹשִׁיעַ: מְכַלְכֵּל
חַיִּים בְּחֶסֶד. מַחְיֵה מֵתִים בְּרַחֲמִים רַבִּים. סוֹמֵךְ נוֹפְלִים, וְרוֹפֵא
חוֹלִים וּמַתִּיר אֲסוּרִים. וּמְקַיֵּם אֲמוּנָתוֹ לִישְׁנֵי עֶפְרָה. מִי כִמוֹךָ בְּעַל
גְבוּרוֹת וּמִי דוֹמָה לָךְ. מֶלֶךְ מַמְיֵת וּמַחְיֵה וּמַצְמִיחַ יְשׁוּעָה: וְנֶאֱמָן
אַתָּה לְהַחְיֹת מֵתִים:

You are eternally mighty, my Lord, the Resuscitator of the dead are You; abundantly able to save. He sustains the living with kindness, resuscitates the dead with abundant mercy, supports the fallen, heals the sick, releases the confined, and maintains His faith to those asleep in the dust. Who is like You, O Master of mighty deeds, and who is comparable to You, O Ruler, Who causes death and restores life and makes salvation sprout. And You are faithful to resuscitate the dead.

Upon reaching the grave, it is customary to place one's left hand on the monument and recite the following verses (from Isaiah 58:11,12):

וְהִיִּיתָ כְּגֹן רֹוּה וּכְמוֹצָא מִים אֲשֶׁר לֹא יִכָּזְבוּ מִימֵיו:

lamentations and all the limbs in my body have crumbled. Perchance G-d will hear and will say, "I have forgiven."

Behold, lift up my hands to G-d in prayer and supplication to "the Eternal, merciful and gracious, slow to anger, Who preserves kindness for thousands of generations," and Who foresees the end from the beginning. Perhaps He will turn His countenance toward me, to grant me a remnant in the world and to bring me forth in freedom from my judgment. "For I cannot escape to the mountain, lest evil will cling to me and I will die."

Please, O merciful G-d, remove from me any hindrance so that I may serve You with a full heart. Your eyes, G-d, can see through the innermost heart of Your servant; in the hidden depths of my conscience can they see. Though Your eyes look upon the highest, they also see the humble and the meek of the depths of the earth. I pray, be with Your servant.

Do not take me away in the midst of my days, and let my healing speedily flower. Save me from all suffering and need, sin and guilt, from all who rise against me to do me harm and from all evil hours that surge upon the world. Open my heart in the study of Your Torah. Place within me love and reverence for You, and grant me grace, favour, and mercy in Your eyes and in the eyes of all who see me. Strengthen and fortify my hand to serve You and to become engrossed in Your Torah. Grant me my livelihood and the livelihood of the members of my household with ease and abundance. May my Torah be my vocation. Fulfill also the yearnings of this sublime soul to be uplifted higher and higher that it may find tranquillity and attain its destiny at the end of days.

Master of the universe, He who sits above the cherubs, the glorified G-d, the Eternal, Lord of Hosts. May it be Your will to grant me a good legacy and a good heart, a humble soul and lowly spirit. Do not let Your name be desecrated through me, and do not make me the object of talk in the mouths of Your creatures. Let not my end come prematurely nor let my hope turn into disappointment.

May I never need to depend upon the gifts of mortal beings, but only on Your full, open, holy, and ample hand. Grant me my portion in Your Torah with those who fulfill Your will with a full heart. Allow me the Please, O Awesome and Holy One, forgive all of my sins and sustain me from Your heavens with produce, bread, and sustenance. Be not deaf to my tears. Redeem me from descending to the pit, and may I not lack my bread. Grant me the privilege to see children and grandchildren engaged in Torah, mitzvot, and fear of G-d. Upon my knees may three and four generations be born, people of valour who fear the L-rd.

At One's Father's Grave

In the darkness of this grave rests the body of my father. All the treasures which were mine from days of yore are sunk here. The holy spirit of my dear father, who walked with integrity and uprightness before You, has soared into the eternal world. You shelter him under Your protective wings. Selah.

Fortunate is he now. This life was not the repose and the portion of mortals human. "Precious in the eyes of G-d is the death of his devoted ones." "And he walked with G-d and is no longer, for G-d took him."

But as for me, my heart grieves all day long. My treasure was taken, my glory and my splendour, and the treasure of my eyes and heart is missing from me. I am bent and crushed to the utmost, all day long I walk in gloom. Alas! I have lost all that is dear. As long as he was with us, I did not realize the fullness of his worth, to appreciate him and honour him, as a child should do to a father. I did not want to hearken to the sound of his rebuke. In truth, I sinned — and here upon this hallowed ground, I will confess the evilness of my deeds.

It was my obligation to honour him during his lifetime and after his death, for I am flesh of his flesh, bones of his bones, and he was a partner in my creation. And, as for myself, not only have I wronged my own soul, but also against him have I sinned. Instead of providing merit for him, to elevate him higher and higher to the great good reserved for the righteous, as I should have done, I perverted my actions and did such and such....

But now, "I regret and I repent," and I have taken my deeds to heart. Upon my realization, I was conscience-stricken and said, "Let me go up to the mountain of the L-rd and here pour out my heart and my soul." I beg mercy from the Highest of the High for very great are my

Placing a Pebble

Upon leaving the grave, it is customary to place a pebble on the grave as an expression of respect and honour for the deceased, showing that his or her grave was visited.

SYNAGOGUE

merit of seeing the rebuilding of Your house soon, in its glory and splendour, and to raise children and grandchildren, alert in the fulfillment of mitzvot and Torah, wealthy and honourable, without lacking anything. Redeem and guard me from all difficult and evil decrees. Save me with Your great mercy and abundant kindness from any distress and anguish. May Your providence constantly extend to me for good, as a source of aid and support wherever I will go. May my words be pleasing to You and be acceptable in the eyes of Your people, now and forever.

O good and forgiving G-d, forgive all my sins and transgressions, heal me and save me. Enlighten my eyes in Your Torah and mitzvot. Subdue my enemies and opponents under me. Crush and rout all who stand up against me and who plan to harm me. Seal the mouths of those who speak ill of me. Deliver me from a harsh judgment, from captivity, from the sword, from exile and serious illnesses, from an evil person, an evil friend, or an evil neighbour, and from a destructive adversary. Grant me grace and favour, and complete the number of my days in peace. And when my time to leave the world will arrive, may the day of my death be similar to the day of my birth, that there shall not be found in me any sin, transgression, guilt, or wrongdoing. May my death serve as atonement for all my sins. Save me from the torment of the grave. May my soul rest in the bonds of eternal life, and justify me on the Day of Judgment.

I pray, hearken unto the voice of my prayer and turn to good all the dreams that I dreamt for myself and those that my friends dreamt for me. Bestow upon me the priestly blessings. Fulfill all the desires of my heart for good in the merit of all the righteous, pious, and holy men and women who are buried here and who died to sanctify Your name, and in the merit of all righteous and pious people of the world. "May the expressions of my mouth and the thoughts of my heart find favour before You, Eternal, my Rock, and my Redeemer."
