Attributes of a Good Sheliach Tzibbur

1. Pronounces all Hebrew words correctly, with proper accents
2. Knows the correct nusach of the particular service and is familiar with special melody and word changes which occur within the service.
3. Is thoroughly familiar with the order of the service so as not to hesitate or seem confused.
4. Introduces and concludes each prayer with a strong voice to keep everyone together.
5. Leads congregations singing with a dominant voice, setting the key and the pace.
6. Takes the role of Sheliach Tzibbur seriously and seeks to pray with full intent.

Kavannah

Imagine you are Don Larsen, the pitcher for the New York Yankees in the 1956 World Series. It is the ninth inning, and you have already struck two batters out. If you strike this next batter out, you will win the game and pitch the first-ever perfect game in the World Series. As you peer in at Yogi Berra, your catcher, you do not hear the crowd or even the rapid beating of your own heart. You are concentrating intensely. Your entire being is focused on getting that ball into Yogi's mitt. The ability to direct one's whole being intensely, like this, is called kavannah.
