❖ From the President's Desk Soo Borson, M.D.

I hope you had a chance to see at least some of the films shown in this year's Jewish Film Festival – the richest yet, thanks to Eileen Stern and her incredibly dedicated committee that made it happen for us and all of the Coachella Valley.

If you saw "Germans and Jews," you might have been surprised, and perhaps pleased (or a bit unnerved) by the extent of Jewish return to Berlin, which is helping to restore that city's vibrant cultural core that always had a bit of Jewish heart. If you saw "Be Happy Tonight," about an Orthodox couple trying out secular life in secret, you could have felt how intense the conflict can be between religious commitment and desire for another kind of freedom, and the intimate cruelty this can create. And if you were there for "1945," you would have witnessed the awesome power of dignity, and how acts of honoring our deepest commitments will sow seeds of good in a world so much in need of repair.

Passover is here – a season of simplifying, clearing, and celebrating renewal: of spirit, body, and mind. It's a time for reflection on what we want to seed now – what shall we plant that will grow into the future we create for ourselves?

I've been thinking about us lately – and what it means to be a member of a faith community: what the community means to people, and what people mean to the community. Naturally, I've been doing some listening and some reading, and here's what it is for me: the most meaningful aspect of synagogue membership is the opportunity it affords to build the kind of community we want to live in – one that supports each of us in the ways we need it to.

No wonder people have so many different reasons for being members – and no wonder so many people feel unsure about what being a member can do for them and whether to invest in the future of our Temple Isaiah community. Getting clear about this takes some introspection, sharpened by conversation.

Becoming a member in order to follow our tradition isn't enough, by itself, for most people in these times. Many are busy building their own new traditions that seem far away from anything that happens in a synagogue. Membership has to bring a dimension that would otherwise be missing from our lives. What does it bring to yours?

Soo

MEMORY CAFÉ

Join us at the Palms Springs Memory Café
A COMMUNITY OUTREACH PROGRAM

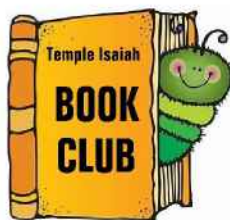

A social event for anyone with Cognitive Impairment or Memory Loss, their caregivers, families and friends.

A chance to meet new friends, spend easy time together, enjoy a light refreshment, familiar music and sometimes an educational program. There is no charge.

We meet the first Thursday of the month from 3-5 pm. NOTE: This April only, we will meet on April 12 (the second Thursday). We meet at Temple Isaiah, 332 W. Alejo Road, Palm Springs. Free parking, entry level. Enter through the foyer and a friendly greeter will show you to our room.

To find out more about our program and to RSVP, please call Charle at 818 399 1081 or email her at colors4shalom@gmail.com.

WE LOOK FORWARD TO MEETING YOU SOON!

The Temple Isaiah BOOK CLUB

Join the Temple Isaiah Book Club. Self led, we will read and discuss both fiction and non-fiction books on a variety of Jewish themes.

April Meeting: Tuesday, April 24 - 3 pm

Our April selection will be The Red Tent by Anita Diamant. This best selling biblical novel is a fictional account of the life of Dinah, Jacob's daughter. Dinah appears in Genesis as a rape victim, but the novel tells a more complex story. It recreates her life in the context of ancient Israelite customs regarding women and their place in society. It offers a fascinating exploration of biblical life from a women's perspective and an intriguing plot.

Minding Our Business

Soo Borson, President

Let's talk about pride. No – not the annual parade, or the LGBTQ community's amazing liberation movement. Pride in ourselves and pride in the place where we share our Jewish traditions and our future hopes with each other. You've probably noticed that (thanks to the generosity of one of our members, Nancy Cobb) the three dead palm trees between the main and parking lot entrances have disappeared. And thanks to our indefatigable Membership Committee Chair and Vice President, Larry Fechter, and our new Volunteer Coordinator, Tom Stansbury, and his crew of volunteers, our raised gardens along Alejo have been newly cleaned and planted with mature desert plants.

Volunteers Eric Ortner and Dawna Wheeler are managing the watering schedule for the next month. Our sanctuary flags no longer droop. And our building staff, Jason Brown, George Tyler and Clarence Smelcer, worked extra hard, supported by more volunteers, to ready the inside of our building for Passover. Thanks to Larea Pettersen and her crew of volunteers, the arrangements for the Seder ran smoothly and our Seder was lively, educational, and lots of fun.

Our effort to inspire more people to commit to volunteer on a regular basis has started to pay off. We've increased our office volunteer hours from about 12 to about 22 per week in just a month, and we're shooting for a goal of 32 hours per week over the long term. If you'd like to lend your head, hands, and heart, please call the office and get on the list!

Thank you! That kind of pride.

Membership renewal notices will be going out, as always, in May. I want to give you a 'heads up' that we are raising the dues by 5%. We need to raise dues far more than 5%, but the Board respects the fact that, for some, a larger increase would pose a hardship. We will continue to offer Megillah and Menorah memberships for those who are able to give more, and we are truly grateful for all who choose to give at these increased levels.

This month, we did something really new: we launched our very first Temple Isaiah crowdfunding campaign. What is "crowdfunding"? It's a way to leverage the power of connection – through relationships and the internet – to raise money for worthy causes. It's a way to encourage lots of people to give something to support an effort they care about, without depending on big donors to pay the bill. We are using CrowdRise – a crowdfunding website for non-profit organizations like ours.

If we raise at least $3000 by May 1, we are eligible to compete for special grant funding. But our goal is to raise $50,000 – about a quarter of what we will ultimately need – so that we can begin the renovation of our two Temple ballroom. Our objective is to bring them back to life so that they can meet requirements for county health certification and become more useful and attractive rental spaces. By the way, our kitchens used to have commercial certification, before 2007, and we know what's needed to get it back – we've met with Riverside County health department representatives and have a list of what we need to do. We have received a preliminary bid from a highly recommended builder, and other experts in the food business are offering their advice on putting our plans into action.

You might wonder why we need commercial kitchens – good question! Here's why: our kitchens and event spaces are a potential resource for doing good things for others in our community, while helping to sustain our synagogue and Jewish community center. Commercial kitchens for shared use and affordable event spaces are in very short supply in the Coachella Valley. We need a place for teachers to train people wanting to learn the culinary arts and the business skills to sustain them, for others who want to develop marketable skills in a food-related business, and for small entrepreneurs – especially those from under-resourced local communities – who need a hand up to build a successful small food business. We have begun discussions with small-business developers, accredited post-secondary education providers, culinary arts educators, local restaurants and chefs and other businesses and non-profits in the local hospitality industry. But we need to succeed in our fundraising campaigns to bring this dream to fruition.

Remember: crowdfunding depends on reaching many people who will give something. You don't have to bet the farm to participate! Everything makes a difference. Here's how to do it.

Visit our CROWDRISE page and support this project! Just as important, please share this campaign with at least 10 family members and friends! That's what crowdfunding is all about.

Visit <https://www.crowdrise.com/caring-kitchen>

- 1 Click the orange "Donate" button
- 2 Selected an amount you wish to donate, enter your name. & if you wish, add that the money is a tribute or in memory.
- 3 Click the "Donate with" button
- 4 Enter your billing information and click "Donate"
- 5 Share with friends and family with the Facebook button on the campaign page <https://www.crowdrise.com/caring-kitchen>

Two Things We Need Right Now

$272 more on CrowdRise

to meet the $3000 minimum need to qualify to apply for a grant in May.

$12,000 to repair the entry system and install security cameras at all access points. This is important for our kitchen project too! Send your checks – or go to templeisiahps.com to make a donation.

BOOK SALE!

Sunday, April 29 from 1:00-3:30 PM Temple Isaiah will hold a book share & sale. Come browse our extensive collection of children's books, novels, books about Israel & non-fiction (history, philosophy & sociology). $5 a bag. Cash only. Bring your own bag, any size!
