❖ From Our President's Desk

Chris Spellman

Dear Friends and Fellow Congregants,

It was nice to see so many people socializing at our last function at Appetito on July 25th. There were new faces as well as familiar ones, making for a very nice mixer of friends. The atmosphere is what I noticed most. Everyone looked more relaxed. There were more smiles offered in forms of hellos. It seemed everyone was enjoying just... talking. I for one enjoyed myself. We will make sure there will be more food regarding the tray passing. But, please do remember that these businesses hope we return or recommend them and thus far the food (quality) has always been very good.

On to more good news and that is the Board has been tirelessly meeting and have now formed exciting committees to help with the Temple's ongoing future. Exciting you ask? The membership committee, for now, holds the lead as far as being the Brooklyn Dodgers of outstanding play. The group uses a tiered and tireless approach to new ideas with keeping our members informed. If anyone would like to sit in on one of their meetings, please contact the office and see where that group continues to take things. Executive Board Member Adam Gilbert with the newly formed facilities committee has designated each of the groups' members into two groups having them soon collect necessary information and data to continue to present updated facts to the congregation regarding our building's continued state and ongoing affairs. I sit in on this committee and though this is no over-night task, they are moving diligently. One of our newer Board Members, Peter Gordon, has ideas he has presented from the fund-raising committee. Everyone on the Board likes the ideas and have requested more information before pursuing the next step. I know Peter can use a hand with regards to Marketing and PR contacts, perhaps a person who might work in trade or for a reduced rate. This is a great time for any congregant that may have knowledge or a relationship to help, if so please contact the office or get in touch with Peter.

Anyone take to social media as of late? Local media consultant Madalina Garza has been helping Rabbi Lazar take things into the 25th Century (for those of you that remember Buck Rogers) with a 360 look into the Temple and Judaism on our Temple Isaiah Facebook page. You can always catch the Rabbi at the bima, but now you can catch him on your computer and cell phone speaking about Temple Isaiah so many more people may hear about our very own Temple Isaiah. This was a wonderful step in the right direction to help grow our visibility and awareness. Not to mention yet another way now to always stay in touch with our congregational family. Please make sure after watching to SHARE the post with your own friends.

The goal is set and that is to do more than survive. It is to thrive. Please attend services as much as you can, and if you need assistance in arriving always reach out to the office. Our strength comes from our family and friends. The more we see each other, the more we become family and friends. In my next letter I would like to discuss how we all should let people around us, in our city and community, know that you are a member of Temple Isaiah, our beloved synagogue and congregation. The more people hear the name "Temple Isaiah" the stronger we will become.

Sincerely,

Chris Spellman

❖ From the Rabbi's Study

Rabbi David Lazar

*Pray for the well-being of Jerusalem;
May those who love you be at peace.
May there be well-being within your ramparts,
Peace in your citadels. (Psalms 122:6-7)*

Out here in our desert it's easy to forget just how central Jerusalem is, and has been, for many people. For more than 4,000 years, Jerusalem, or Ursalim, was an important town documented in texts from Babylonia to Egypt. Roughly 3,000 years ago, King David established the already ancient city as the capital of the tribes of Israel and in the time since it has featured prominently in our own Jewish tradition. Of course, not only Jews but also Christians and Muslims worldwide maintain vigorous relationships with the City of Peace and care deeply about what happens in that small piece of real estate.

Two events of this summer have again thrust Jerusalem into the center of our attention.

In late June, Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu's government decided to freeze an agreement that had been worked out in January, 2016, that would have provided an official egalitarian prayer area – where women and men can pray together in gender equality – at the Western Wall. While an unofficial place off to the side in a nearby archeological garden does exist, the rules at the official Western Wall site prohibit women from wearing a prayer shawl, reading from the Torah or leading services even in the women's section. This agreement was the result of years of supreme court cases, protests and finally negotiations with the non-Orthodox streams, the Jewish Agency and the Jewish Federations of North America. This issue remains unresolved and threatens to weaken support for the State of Israel among especially younger Diaspora Jews. (For more on this: <http://www.timesofisrael.com/when-men-and-women-prayed-together-at-the-western-wall/>).

Just a couple of weeks later, three terrorists attacked Israeli police officers who were on duty at the entrance of the Temple Mount. We know that a fourth man had successfully smuggled weapons left for them in the mosque. All three attackers were killed and their accomplice is in police custody. In the meantime, the Israeli government reacted by setting up metal detectors, which in turn led to protests and rioting, not only in East Jerusalem, but around the Arab and Muslim world. Violence has rapidly spread since then, with three murdered Israelis in the community of Halamish and the attempted murder of an Israeli in Amman, Jordan. I unequivocally condemn these acts of violence, but do want to point out that they have happened in the context of protesting security measures that were put in place by Israel. This brings to light the deep disagreement that many have over who essentially sets the rules on the Temple Mount.

I certainly understand the importance that holy sites have for many, but I am one of those rabbis who feel that Judaism has developed beyond overemphasizing any given place or space. While I respect those for whom Tisha B'Av – the 9th of the Hebrew month of Av – is a day of mourning over the destruction of the 1st and 2nd Temples in 586 BCE and 70 CE, which occurs this week, I personally feel no sadness at the lack of the Temple in Jerusalem. Neither the animal sacrifices nor any aspect of the priestly rituals and ceremonies speak to me as a 21st-century Jew.

But I do see this season on the Jewish calendar as an appropriate time to focus, learn more about and ponder the importance of Jerusalem for us today.

The rabbis of the Talmud, looking back many generations to the destruction, had this insight:

Why was the First Temple destroyed? Because of three evils in it: idolatry, sexual immorality and bloodshed . . .

But why was the Second Temple destroyed, seeing that during the time it stood people occupied themselves with Torah, with observance of precepts, and with the practice of charity? Because during the time it stood, hatred without rightful cause prevailed.

This is to teach you that hatred without rightful cause is deemed as grave as all the three sins of idolatry, sexual immorality and bloodshed together.

(Bab. Talmud, Yoma 9b)

I am in no way saying that Jerusalem today is rife with senseless hatred. It's not. Many fine people live, work and care deeply about the social fabric of Jerusalem – both West and East. But I continue to be concerned about how the Kotel – the Western Wall and the Holy Muslim sites on the Temple Mount -- remain a potential powder keg endangering our relationships with each other in the Jewish world, as well as our interaction with Muslims in Israel, Palestine and across the globe.

In his well-known poem, Tourist, Israeli poet Yehuda Amichai gives voice to the overemphasis many put on the stones and ruins of Jerusalem:

*Once I sat on the steps by agate at David's Tower,
I placed my two heavy baskets at my side. A group of tourists was standing around their guide and I*

*Itinerarium Sacrae Scripturae
(Guide to the Bible), Heinrich
Bunting (Hannover, 1545-1606)*

became their target marker. "You see that man with the baskets? Just right of his head there's an arch from the Roman period. Just right of his head." "But he's moving, he's moving!"

I said to myself: redemption will come only if their guide tells them,

"You see that arch from the Roman period? It's not important: but next to it, left and down a bit, there sits a man who's bought fruit and vegetables for his family."

We all have our own religious, social and political views about Jerusalem, and I don't aim to endorse one outlook or another. But I do ask that we all consider the people themselves, on all sides of each of the conflicts, and in doing so, concentrate more on the holiness of humanity than upon that of stones.

For the sake of my kin and friends,
I pray for your well-being... (ibid. vs.8)

Yizkor Memorial Book and Yizkor Scroll

The memory of the righteous shall be for a blessing

Each year we prepare a Memorial Book with the names of our departed for our Yom Kippur Yizkor (Memorial) Service. The YIZKOR MEMORIAL BOOK has become a noble tradition and provides us with a fitting occasion to make a contribution (a Nedavah) to the Temple in memory of our departed. Additionally, these names are inscribed on our YIZKOR SCROLL and placed in the Ark next to the Torah at the Yom Kippur Service.

Call the Temple Office (760-325-2281) to give the names you wish remembered, or (preferably) print the names on a piece of paper plus the name(s) who they are remembered by, and mail with your check to Temple Isaiah, 332 West Alejo Road, Palm Springs, CA 92262.

1-3 names are $20 each. 4 or more names are $15 each.

Deadline: August 24, 2017

New Temple Isaiah Book Discussion Group Begins in October!

Join the new Temple Isaiah Book Discussion Group. We will read and discuss both fiction and non-fiction books by Jewish authors on a variety of themes. In our first session, we will discuss NOT IN GOD'S NAME: Confronting Religious Violence by Jonathan Sacks.

In this fascinating book, Rabbi Sacks combines history, psychology, and anthropology with a Jewish perspective for confronting religious violence in the middle east and throughout the world. He explores the causes and conditions of violence committed in the name of God both in modern and biblical times.

Please join us even if you haven't read the entire book. Feel free to share ideas for making this book group a lively and ongoing activity at Temple Isaiah.

First Session: Tuesday, October 10 at 3:00 pm

For more information, contact Marc Becker at: mbecker4985@gmail.com.

❖ From the Executive Director Douglas Morton

Hello everyone,

Most of us who stay through the summer are keeping busy swimming, staying cool, attending services and joining us at our Summer Socials. Last week we got together at Appetito where everyone had a wonderful time. I hope to see everyone once again at Eight4Nine on August 29 at 5 to 7 p.m. where we will have our final social before we move our attention towards High Holidays. Speaking of High Holidays I am pleased to say that we have again made arrangements with Sherman's for their fabulous Break the Fast, which we've loved these past few years. It's been wonderful ending our Yom Kippur services by going downstairs to break the fast together. We will confirm the price and start taking reservations in late August.

Please join me in welcoming three new members to our Board of Trustees: Larry Fechter, Mitchel Karp and Ron Martinez. They are adding new ideas, direction and focus to our Temple leadership.

I know that everyone is concerned about the direction that our congregation is taking as we move into the future. Under the direction of Adam Gilbert, three committees have been formed to study how we might remain in the building while we develop a long range plan. Serving on these committees are:

- REMAIN GROUP:

Bob Fey, Johannes Rheinheimer, Mitchell Karp and Chuck Steinman;

- RELOCATION GROUP:

Ron Martinez, David Freedman, Steve Gorosh and Larry Spellman.

- MAINTENANCE GROUP:

Soo Borson, Richard Jeffery and Steve Gorosh;

It is the intention of all three committees to seek input, share findings and move forward in a way that will be inclusive and transparent. More information will be coming soon. Please make sure to read the Chai Light, stay up to date with our weekly bulletins - we will be posting invitations to special congregational meeting so we can all work together to move forward. Plan to attend and participate .. this is your Temple Isaiah.

I also want to take a minute and repeat our thanks to the following individuals who contributed towards the new paint job on our building, Bob Fey, Carol Fragen, Harold Matzner and Bob Weinstein. The building looks great!

This year many of you took advantage of our Early Bird dues discount. Thank you to over half of our members for already renewing your membership. And a huge THANK YOU to the many members who increased their membership this year to the Menorah or Megillah levels.

Our Membership committee has been busy making calls to those who have not yet had a chance to renew. Their efforts are producing great results. Thank you Billy Dixon, Gail Kanter, Johannes Rheinheimer, Jackie Smason, Larry Stahl and the chair of the committee, Larry Fechter, for all your hard work.

If you haven't yet done so, invoices will go out next week, well in time to renew before the High Holidays. You can call 760-325-2281 or drop by the office to renew.

Above is a photo of the Jewish Federation presenting a check of $19,000 to our Temple to help underwrite our Film Festival, Judaism in the 21st Century series and LGBTQ Twice Blessed programming. We are grateful for their ongoing support of our programs. (L-R) Jewish Federation CEO Bruce Landgarten, Board Co-Chairs Allan Lehmann & Celia Norian, me (!) your Executive Director, Temple President Chris Spellman, Temple VP Soo Borson & Rabbi David Lazar.

See you at the next social, Shabbat services, Explora Torah and - soon - the High Holidays!

Shalom,

Douglas
