❖ From Our President's Desk

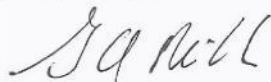

Gary Miller

Dear Fellow Congregants,

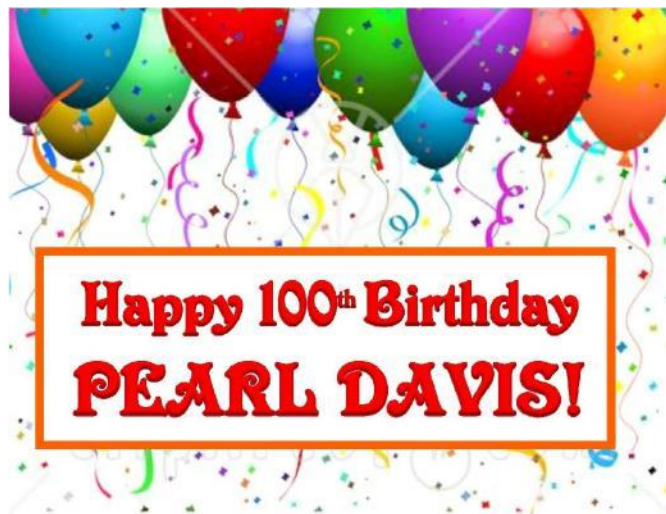

The High Holidays are upon us, the most significant time in the Jewish calendar. We enter this period of time with significant introspection: an appraisal of the year past and an assessment of our current status in life. We are called upon to honestly evaluate how we have met our responsibilities to ourselves, our families, our community and our synagogue. We do this not to define what we didn't do right, but rather how we can do better in the coming year. We need to understand whether we are meeting our own self defined goals and objectives and also those objectives that circumstance in life put upon us. This is not like a New Year's resolution, but rather a conscious attempt for us to understand how we live up to our own standards and obligations.

I look upon this time not as a burden, but an opportunity for me to learn more about myself, grow and become a more fulfilled human being. I hope that you too find that this time to be personally enlightening and will lead to a better and more fulfilling year ahead

My wife, Vicki, and I wish you all Shana Tova,

Gary Miller, President

❖ From the Rabbi's Study

Rabbi David Lazar

One of the many names in the Jewish literary tradition for Rosh Hashanah is Yom Hazikaron, Day of Remembrance. According to Talmudic thought, it is on this holiday, more than all other days of the year, that God remembers what we have done, and not done, over the last 12 months (Mishnah Rosh Hashana 1:2).

Indeed, a major part of the Rosh Hashanah liturgy, known as zichronot, from the Hebrew "to remember," recounts an assortment of memories based upon biblical and rabbinic tradition about God's dealings with the human race. God, according to this tradition, does not forget a thing - neither the conduct of a single individual, nor the deeds and behaviors of an entire nation. In the past, God remembered Noah and the other refugees from the great Deluge and continues to remember to keep the promise never to flood the world again. God assures the ancestors Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob (most of our tradition until the late 1960's remains relatively silent about our ancestral mothers) to foster the growth of their progeny and turn them into a great nation. God keeps that pledge and delivers their offspring from bondage in Egypt. And according to the liturgy, God can be counted upon in the future to bring salvation to Jerusalem and the people of Israel (and one might add, to all humanity). In short, the Rosh Hashanah prayer book wants us to know that while God remembers all, God can also choose to ignore some of those memories while, at the same time, pay attention to others.

Perhaps we human beings should take our cue from the Creator in this matter of memory and remembering. We surely want to remember the misdeeds of others and steer clear of those who have wronged us in the past. If we were to forget these individuals, or what they've done to us, we'd end up falling into similar situations in the future. But if we insist on neither forgetting nor forgiving, we run the risk of never improving our relationship with those same people, not to mention allowing for the possibility of their own teshuvah - repentance.

We base our religious observance upon a never-ending spiral of annual remembering. Even if some of us dispute the historicity of events, such as the Exodus from Egypt or Haman's plot to kill the Jews of Persia, these are the building blocks of our spiritual practice. They are part of our story as a nation. Yet we must also remember that slavery led to our becoming a nation with the realization that God - and not another human being - is our Master. We should also recollect that as Jews — regardless of the threats against the Modern State of Israel — we do not at this time experience the volume and intensity of existential dangers we faced in the past.

As we are aware that memory and remembering are central to each of us in building our identities and improving ourselves as people, we also know that memory is a precious gift, not to be taken for granted. One of our members, Dr. Soo Borson, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, University of Washington School of Medicine, tells me that 1 in 9 older adults is living with Alzheimer's or a related dementia, and twice that number have milder degrees of cognitive change. Clearly, all of us know not one, but many people, around us who live with memory loss. It's not always pleasant to talk about it and in many cases is seen as a source of embarrassment. But it most certainly shouldn't be! Memory loss is part of life, every life, even if for some more than for others. It is up to us, both as individuals and as a community, to accept this and help create a respectful and welcoming environment for all who are affected.

It is with that in mind that we will soon begin a monthly event that will help create a respectful and welcoming space for those living with memory loss, their loved ones and care givers. On Oct. 25, 3:00-5:00, you are all invited to the Memory Cafe' for coffee, tea and home-baked cookies accompanied by live music. Stay tuned for future dates! I want to thank Soo for suggesting this program and I look forward to it's success!

May we celebrate the coming year with a renewed appreciation for the gift of memory and remembering and with a growing awareness of how memory loss affects those all around us.

Shanah tovah!

❖ From the Executive Director Doug Morton

Dear Friends,

As we enter the new year 5777, I realize that, since I've been here, there have never been more reasons to be part of Temple Isaiah: A dynamic, engaging Rabbi, an incredibly wonderful membership community, inspiring spiritual services and classes, fascinating lectures, fabulous concerts, a superb movie festival, and the list goes on!

This year we are offering two lecture series: our wonderful Philip & Eleanor Short Lectures (PES), held in collaboration with the University of California, Riverside Maimonides Chair of Jewish Studies, and Judaism for the 21st Century Series (J21), in collaboration with the Jewish Federation.

In a nutshell, here is what is coming up following the High Holidays:

- October 25 – Memory Café At Temple Isaiah (a program for those living with memory loss, their families and caregivers)
- November 6 – (PES) Dr. Ted Merwin Lecture: “Pastrami On Rye,” “Homeland for the Jewish Soul: the History of the Jewish Deli in America”
- November 20 – Temple Isaiah “Rummage Sale in memory of Dottie Fields”
- November 20 – (PES) Ayelet Tsabari, “Stories about Mizrahi Jews in Israel: Children, Soldiers & Bohemian Lovers,” a free lecture held at UC Riverside/Palm Desert Campus
- November 27 – Rabbi Lazar presents “Jews Do the Blues” Concert / Rabbi Lazar’s Installation
- December 10 – Temple fundraiser: Linda Lavin and Billy Stritch at the Annenberg
- December 11 – (J21) Rabbi Mark Borovitz, “A Jewish approach to addiction treatment and criminal rehabilitation”
- February 5 – (J21) Rabbi Elie Spitz “Becoming your Best: Insights and techniques for moving toward greater wholeness, ease, and effectiveness”
- February 26 – (PES) Dr. Alyssa Sepinwall – “Jewish-Muslim Relations in France: A Historical & Cinematic Perspective”
- March 5 – (J21) Laurie Gross Schaefer – “Text and Texture, An Artist’s Journey Through Visual Midrash”
- March 19-22 – Fourth Annual Palm Springs Temple Isaiah Jewish Film Festival
- April 2 – (J21) Professor Shaul Magid – “Why Should We Progressive Jews be Interested in Hasidism?”

And there is more! Watch for the grand opening of our new “Jewel of the Desert” Gift Shop, the project of Shoshana Barer and the ladies of our Women’s Auxiliary.

Our Twice Blessed Committee has several programs in the planning, to nurture and build community and presence for our LGBTQ members.

There are so many people who are giving so much of their time. Kudos to our Board of Trustees for all their hard work: Shoshana Barer, Leo Cohen, Bob Fey, Carol Fragen, Adam Gilbert, Ira Helf, Ed Kroll, Gary Miller, Sandie Ovesen, Jeff Rosenberg, Avi Showalter and Christopher Spellman. What would we do without our fabulous weekly office volunteers Lynn Burden, Gail Kanter, Sandie Ovesen, Irwin Sacks, Richard Jeffery, Linda Sinclair and Luba Sackley. Kudos to Soo Borson for spearheading Memory Café. Eileen Stern and her amazing committee are hard at work on the fourth Jewish Film Festival, which will be one day longer this year, with extraordinary films selected. Thank you to everyone for all that you do.

Many individuals go way above and beyond in helping our Temple financially. Simply put, we cannot exist without funding. To all who have joined our Temple, thank you. To all who were able and upgraded your membership to the Menorah or Megillah level, an enormous thank you! To the event sponsors, special fund contributors, general donations ... you truly make a difference. THANK YOU!

During Kol Nidre services we hold our annual Yom Kippur appeal. The success of this appeal makes a difference in what we can achieve in the year ahead, so I hope you will be as generous as you are able. Everyone’s participation matters.

I am looking forward to a year that will bring even more new members to our Temple family, and that together we will be enriched and energized by the special experience of being a part of Temple Isaiah.

Shana tova,

Doug Morton

We welcome donations to our High Holiday “Temple Angel” Fund, which helps cover the incidentals that enhance our holiday worship experience. Additional contributions will be listed in next month’s Chai Lights.

Fundraiser, Temple Isaiah Rummage Sale Sunday, November 20, 2016

On Sunday, November 20, 2016 at 8 AM we are having a rummage sale in the parking lot of Temple Isaiah. To be successful in this endeavor (raise funds, execute successful sales, and have fun) will require some organization and execution, particularly on November 19 and November 20.

If you are interested in helping with this fund raising event, please fill out this form and indicate how you will participate. We need cashiers, sorters, pricers, and cleanup.

Your donations will be tax-deductible. We can only accept sellable items.

We want good items that you have no use for any longer: household items, decorator items, or clothes. Please no books. If you can't carry it in your arms don't donate it. We will be providing you with a form that can be used to identify what goods you're willing to contribute to rummage sale.

We will notify all of you when we will be accepting items for storage at the Temple. We will not be able to accept goods until those dates are identified. If you're not able to deliver your items to Temple Isaiah, please call Ron at 323-251-5250 and we will find someone to pick up your items from you. Thank you.
