How did I get here? Where are we going?

If you asked me ten years ago, if I would ever be the president of our synagogue, I would have definitely responded with a very emphatic “No!”. While I am proud to be Jewish and glad to be a member of Temple Beth Hillel – Beth El, I always imagined the president of our congregation to be more observant, more comfortable with Hebrew, someone who sent their children to Jewish day school and a regular minyan attendee. Since I cannot check any of those boxes, I felt confident that I would never be asked! But here we are, as I wind down my two years as the lay leader of our shul. So, how did I get here?

Over my life I have come to realize that being part of the Jewish community is not something that can be measured by metrics such as synagogue attendance and religious observance. There are Jews of so many kinds, it is hard to pinpoint the common thread that binds us all together, except for the fact that we all desire to have a place to freely express our love of Judaism in our own way with our friends and neighbors.

For me, the synagogue represents the modern hub of the Jewish community – a place where our children receive their first lessons on what it means to be Jewish, a place to pray, a place to learn, a place to mourn and a place to celebrate together. Togetherness is the key for me, because all activities are enhanced by the people that we share them with. I hope that we continue to expand our programming to give our members, our potential members and our community at-large more reasons to come into our building and build relationships; at the same time, we must continue to offer all the services and programming that we all so fond of and proud to provide.

These are the highlighted reasons I have happily served as president for the past two years, and even with the COVID-19 crisis, I have enjoyed being a part of this wonderful congregation. I know we will come out of this a stronger community because of the way we have worked so hard together and have supported each other while we have been forced to remain socially distant.

We are now at the beginning of our search for our next Senior Rabbi – our most significant task in a generation. It is one of our community’s proudest accomplishments that we have only had two Senior Rabbis in our over 60-year history. This is a testament to the strength of our membership, as well as the leadership we have received from both Rabbi Maltzman and Rabbi Cooper.

During this process, I ask you all of you to keep an open mind as we move through the search process. After being on many Zoom parlor meetings, we have learned that our membership is going to be asking a lot of the new Rabbi, and our goal is to find an experienced pulpit leader who will be able to provide for all the needs of our extremely diverse congregation. I am looking forward to January 2022, when we will hopefully have 2-4 possible candidates visit us for a weekend. Please participate in as many parts of those weekends as you are able to, and let the committee, led by Holly Nelson and Ranita Thomas, know your opinions and ideas, so that we may find the best possible candidate.

As we move forward as a congregation, we must continue to welcome all Jews who want to join with us at our synagogue. Our “melting pot” must be a comfortable place for those who have varying degrees of Jewish knowledge, different comfort levels in our services, come from all racial backgrounds, sexual orientations and gender identities.

I look forward to working with all of you in the future to continue to make Temple Beth Hillel – Beth El a warm and welcoming shul for all Jews who are looking to join us.

Money Cannot Buy the Crown of a Good Name

On the surface, it is an incredible story of a family, whose hard work, and success personified the American Dream. Isaac and Sophie Sackler were Jewish immigrants, arriving at Ellis Island from the Ukraine (formerly "Galicia"). In this land of opportunity, with initiative, hard work and desire, everyone, even Jews, could succeed. Isaac opened a grocery store in Brooklyn. Sophie and Isaac were blessed with three sons, born respectively in 1913, 1916 and 1920. All three went to Medical School. All three became psychiatrists.

In 1952, two brothers bought a small pharmaceutical company. The other brother continued to practice medicine. But as the pharmaceutical business flourished and new possibilities for medications emerged, Arthur left his medical practice and joined Raymond and Frederick in a company which would become Purdue Pharma. Their good fortune, their understanding of psychopharmacology and their business savvy elevated the Sackler Family to the highest levels of wealth in this country. The Sackler name appeared on Forbes' list of the wealthiest families in the United States.

And they were generous. The Sackler name also appears on buildings and in institutions from the great art museums in the world (the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Guggenheim, the National History Museum, and the British Museum, to name a few), to the most elite universities (Harvard, Yale, Colombia, Oxford, and many more) as well as the Sackler Faculty of Medicine at Tel Aviv University.

The wealth of the Sacklers, it appears, came less from a legitimate pharmaceutical business' profits, and more from a business which created the medicine commonly known as OxyContin, a drug they knew was addictive. The most recent book by Patrick Radden Keefe, Empire of Pain: The Secret History of the Sackler Dynasty, released just a few weeks ago, in mid-April, details the Sackler family's implosion and fall from the heights of prosperity and notoriety to the depths of disdain and disgrace.

The Sackler Family secret had two parts. The first part of the secret was the uncomfortable truth they kept from others, and which they continue to deny. It was their knowledge of the drug's addictive qualities. The second part of the secret was the Sacklers' insatiable desire for profits. That desire was so great, that they decided to encourage people to use their drug, at times providing free samples for a 30-day trial, knowing that those who used it would likely become addicted. That desire was greater than their concern for human life. By creating addicts, they could create business. There are currently more than 2600 lawsuits, most by states and insurance companies against the corporation and the members of the family, who have become billionaires.

The fraud was exposed and ultimately the truth came out. But what if the truth was never revealed? Could they have gotten away with this? Had they been more discreet or vigilant, might they have walked away admitting no responsibility? And what does it mean, to get away with it, anyway?

Their nefarious plan enabled the family members' to take billions from the company and hide it in off-shore accounts while their company, Perdue Pharma, went into bankruptcy. Incredible as it may be, the family may retain their fortunes and never be held accountable by the justice system of this country. If so, have they gotten away with one of the greatest corporate crimes ever perpetrated. But if they are not convicted, which will not be determined for years, have they already gotten away with it? I say no for three reasons.

First, I believe, that no matter how loudly they insist they are innocent, no matter how many universities they support and how generous they may be, no matter their claim that they knew nothing, they know they are guilty, and they will always live with that guilt. In the quiet moments and places in their lives, they will remember those they helped to become addicts. In times of their joy, I believe that their souls will not be at ease. They will recall how many died, how many families were torn apart. As they celebrate life, I believe that God makes certain that they live in perpetual, self-inflicted pain with torn and broken souls. At least I hope that will be the case. They have not "gotten away with it".

Second, they must live, knowing that the world in general shall look upon them and their family members with scorn. And, speaking personally, they must know that, regardless of their support of the Jewish Community, we are outraged at the nature and magnitude of the crime.

But my particular outrage is magnified by the fact that the family is Jewish. To be a Jew, as I understand it, means that those who possess the ability to help, help.

Those with the capacity to give and the strength to lift, lift and give; not to use their gifts, instead, to hurt those already in pain, to harm those already vulnerable and to manipulate a system of justice created to protect those who are guilty, while innocent victims languish.

And third, whether or not they are convicted, the Sackler name shall be, for some time, one of infamy. Their name shall be associated with the opioid crisis, it will be linked to a family who, for 25 years, became the largest state sanctioned manufacturer of a drug whose ingredients include some of the most powerful and addictive drugs, all for a few dollars.

We read in the name of Rabbi Shimon:

There are three crowns: the crown of Torah, the crown of the Priesthood and the crown of Kingship. But the crown of a good name exceeds them all.
(Pirke Avot:4:17)

Unlike the other crowns, the crown of a good name is ours to earn or to squander. Although the justice system may find them not guilty, the Sackler Family knows, that for the rest of their lives, the crown of a good name will never be theirs. That is a crown which money cannot buy. And that may be the most painful lesson they learn.

On Torah, On Service and On Acts of Lovingkindness

In Pirkei Avot 1:2, it is written:

הוא היה אומר, על שלשה דברים:
העולם עומד, על התורה ועל העבודה
ועל גמילות חסדים:

This quote, attributed to Shimon HaTzadik, is usually translated as: On three things the world stands, on Torah, on Service and on acts of lovingkindness. This past year in our Religious School, every parent, child and teacher can attest to how challenging it was to strive to achieve each in a meaningful way. First, as a stool needs all three legs on which to stand solidly, our Religious School population is comprised of parents, children and staff without any of whom we would topple.

Torah

Very soon, our fifth graders will be reading Torah for the very first time, having learned how to chant under the auspices of Hazzan Rosner who met weekly with our students via zoom. Our seventh graders have been studying Torah diligently in preparation for their bar/bat mitzvah service. Many of our bnei mitzvah return on a regular basis to read as well, serving as role models for younger students and siblings. All of our students study the weekly Torah portions and become familiar with the various personalities through text study, bibliodrama and other creative means.

Avodah

Avodah is translated as worship or service. Our classes were able to maintain a sense of community while engaging in services on Shabbat school as well as the weekdays. As always, our week began with havdala, the ceremony separating Shabbat from the rest of the week. This year, however, the only group able to chant the blessings were those who remained on zoom for the year. A highlight for our seventh graders this year was being able to actually go into the sanctuary to support their friends and participate in bar/bat mitzvah services.

Gemilut Chasadim

Gemilut chasadim, or acts of lovingkindness, are so much easier to perform when there is no need for physical distancing. We found ways. Whether it was writing and decorating cards for seniors, giving tzedaka, preparing mishloach manot, being kind to classmates, demonstrating good sportsmanship in escape rooms and games during 'sleep unders', we don't wait to pay it forward. We jump on opportunities to initiate acts of lovingkindness.

Hopefully, we will take all of this forward into school year 5782!

From our ECC Director

Judith Scarani

As I write this the cherry blossoms are in bloom on our Temple campus! Spring, and the rebirth it brings, feels so much more meaningful this year. Along with the better weather, the creation of the State of Israel takes center stage in the ECC each spring. On Yom Ha' Atzmaut we celebrated with a variety of outdoor activities that included a "trip to the Dead Sea" complete with spa music and Dead Sea mud facials (or hand treatments), Israeli dancing, an exercise obstacle course at an "army base", and hummus and pita for snack. We even helped take care of the Bahai Gardens of Haifa by planting beautiful annuals in the school playground! While we couldn't take a real trip to Israel, this was a close second!

As the school year begins to wind down, there is still much to look forward to!

Friday evening, June 4th, we will hold our Annual Oneg Shabbat Service to honor our teaching staff via Zoom with some pre-recorded prayers and musical interludes led by our Pre-K and Kindergarten classes. This service will begin at 6:00 PM. Zoom invitations will be sent out as we get closer to the date.

Thursday, June 10th at 6:00 PM we will hold our Kindergarten graduation in the large parking lot. Families are invited to bring lawn chairs or picnic blankets to claim a family 'parking spot' in the large parking lot. Graduation promises to be a tear-jerker no matter what the location or the plan!

Writing about graduation is very moving to me for a variety of reasons. Families who have been here for years are also "graduating" out of the ECC. Our young children, many of whom started here in the infant room, are going off to elementary school. This is our second "COVID" graduation. I am grateful for our amazing staff who have put the health and safety of the children at the center of their work like in unprecedented ways. I am grateful for the children and their unprecedented resiliency during a pandemic that has taken up a huge portion of their lives – just think, one year out of a 5-year-olds life is 20% of their lifetime. I am grateful to our parents for the trust they have instilled in our school and in our ECC Community during a time when sending children back-to-school seemed a frightening prospect.

Kol haKavod to our entire ECC Community!

Judith

From the President of Men's Club

The first Tuesday of each month we continue to have our Men's Club planning meeting via Zoom. It's a chance to check up and check in. I have repeatedly wondered what are we going to discuss this month? Will our time together be productive?

Being present with each other is enough of a reason to get together. I have been impressed as to how productive our meetings have actually been.

Who do we honor as to Silver Circle (Paul Shandelman) and our Man of the Year (Ken Krivitzky)? How best to honor the memory of those who are no longer with us? What feels appropriate as to the recognition of simchas (Lester Shapiro will be installed at Beth Hillel as the President of the MARFJMC (bonus points if you know what MARFJMC stand for))? Where to put the bike rack?

What can we do to stay connected? We will be helping grill at our Lag B'Omer celebration. We are hoping to have Rabbi Cooper speak with us in the near future, likely via Zoom. We are planning for eventual in person events. What does a closing or a re-opening program look like? It is clear that we cannot wait as to planning for future programming, in that time goes by and we run the risk of such not becoming a reality. There is still "work" to do.

A challenge is how to create Men's Club programming that would engage those who are currently not active with us. What program(s) would you like to see? Other Men's Clubs have had a Father-Daughter dance. Would that be something that is appealing? I am open to creating a program(s) that engages us as a community. Feel free to email me as to any ideas. All are welcome to come to a monthly Men's Club meeting.

So another monthly Men's Club meeting passed and another is coming up. Last month's meeting was productive. It always is.

Be seeing you.
Sam

A Special Thank you From Ken Krivitzky:

Thank you for the outpouring of support for my honor as Men's Club Man of the Year.
It is my privilege to be a part of this great community.

Thank you so much for your support and love!

From the President of Sisterhood

Debbie Greenberg

It was my greatest pleasure to be able to be a part of the Torah Fund brunch that was held on April 18th. To be honest, in all of my years at TBH-BE, I have never attended a Torah Fund event, mostly due to the fact that I am generally unavailable because of my conflict with teaching religious school on Sundays. This year, being as unprecedented as it was and the fact that as Sisterhood president I was “obligated” to attend, I was thrilled to be a part of such a terrific event and cause.

I feel so honored to be included along with such great role models in Kelly Dash and Ellen Spector, both of whom I met when our children attended the ECC together more than 20 years ago. When Rabbi Cooper spoke at the event he mentioned that Sisterhood is the embodiment of community among the women of the synagogue. I couldn't have agreed more. From learning together, volunteering together, fundraising together and, supporting each other and the synagogue, we are Sisterhood.

I have always known that the Jewish Theological Seminary is the Conservative movement's backbone of Jewish education, teaching and preparing the Rabbis that grace our synagogues. We are blessed to be able to say that our shul has been lucky to have esteemed Rabbis with longevity in guiding our synagogue community. I encourage everyone to participate in a parlor meeting to help secure the best candidate for our community moving forward. We have the voice and everyone's input is important and considered.

As I have always said in each of my board meetings and Pharisee articles, together we can accomplish whatever we set out to do. For example, the gift shop is starting to have an online presence, Sisterhood has a FB group, and we have had many amazing events including painting online for Tu B'shvat, a Tu B'shvat seder, a couple of movie discussion nights and trivia fun for all - just to name a few. We have not let this social distancing keep us from maintaining a deep connection to the many facets of our synagogue community.

Please continue to support sisterhood, recommend our gift shop to your friends outside of TBH-BE, and support our current fundraiser Nothing Bundt Mom, (Nothing Bundt Cakes) just in time for Mother's Day. Lastly, please put June 8th on your calendar for closing dinner. It will be another wonderful hybrid event, not to be missed. We will end this difficult year with fun, laughter and together as a community of women. Please join us.
